Hearings Coming on School Aid

To Talk Increase Of $96.5 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Diefendorf Committee will seek the opinion of taxpayers, educators and others on a plan for a $96.5-million annual increase in state aid to education and a complete change in methods of distributing the funds.

The preliminary recommendations were drafted by the committee staff. The committee itself has yet to act before submitting its proposals to the 1962 Legislature.

Wouldn't Pass

Committee recommendations for permitting districts to levy sales taxes or property surtaxes on a regional basis would have little chance of passage if sent to the Legislature.

Charles H. Diefendorf of Buffalo, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on (Public) School Financing, said in releasing the staff report Thursday night that the committee planned "at least one public hearing where public reaction to the proposal may be aired."

He set no date.

It is most likely that the committee will be deluged with complaints that the recommendations are woefully inadequate and extravagantly wasteful.

To Weight Report

The official report submitted by the committee to the Legislature will be weighed for its political effects in the home areas of lawmakers, and, probably, revised upward before finally adopted.

The staff recommended a new formula under which state aid to districts would range from $200 to $450 per pupil depending on how that district's ratio of taxable real estate per pupil compared with the state average of $26,600 of full valuation per pupil.

Would Help Build

The state also would help pay, the cost of building schools.

The staff proposed that school districts be authorized to unite on a county-wide basis or in larger, multi-county units to levy 1 per cent sales taxes for schools or to set a surtax of $2.50 per $1,000 of valuation on top of existing school taxes.

The funds would be distributed to districts according to their enrollments. In this way, richer districts would help poorer ones in their areas.

Laid on Real Estate

At present, school taxes levied on real estate provide almost all of the $1 billion local share of the $1.8 billion now spent annually in the state on public education through high school. The state pays the $800 million with revenues from personal income and other taxes.

Under the present, foundation formula established more than 25 years ago, the state and local districts share a fixed cost of $389 a year per pupil in grades 1 through 6. The amount is higher for those in grades 7 through 12, lower for kindergarten.

The plan would take effect next September and, for the transition, each district would be guaranteed at least 5 per cent more aid than it now is receiving.

Laos Talks Collapse, New Try Is Indicated

VINTIANE, Laos (AP) — Another attempt to convene a meeting of Laos' three political princes to form a coalition government collapsed today.

Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, left Vientiane for his rebel stronghold in the Plaine des Jarres, but a spokesman said new attempts would be made to hold a princely conference at a later date.

Talks Held Vital

"It has to be done," the Pathet Lao spokesman told newsmen.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, designated to head the proposed unity government, gave no indication whether he would also leave or whether he would remain and try to negotiate with Prince Boun Oum, the head of the conservative, pro-Western royal government in Vientiane.

Souphanouvong decided to return to the Plaine des Jarres after Boun Oum for the third day refused to sit down with the other two princes for joint talks on allocation of the posts in a neutralist coalition government.

The three Laotian princes dined amicably together Thursday night. Souvanna said then the atmosphere was "excellent" at the party but he reported no progress toward opening of negotiations.

Communists Favor Geneva

Soviet and Polish diplomats suggested privately that the next meeting be held in Geneva, where the rival princes would be under the direct influence of the 14 nations which are negotiating to prevent resumption of open warfare in Laos between Boun Oum's Western-backed army and the Communist-supported forces of Souphanouvong and of Souvanna Phouma.

Souvanna and Souphanouvong arrived in Vientiane Wednesday for their first meeting in two months with Boun Oum to discuss allocation of the posts in the coalition government all had agreed Souvanna would head. But Boun Oum gave the two other princes the brush-off, accused Souvanna of not being truly neutral and demanded government posts for his faction which the other two were certain to refuse.

West Envoys Appealed

Western diplomats were appaled by the unexpected turn, but Souvanna took a conciliatory tone Thursday. And Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, a staunch anti-Communist who is considered the backbone of Boun Oum's government, arranged Thursday night's dinner party.

The U.S. Embassy was believed to have brought considerable pressure on Boun Oum to get him to the dinner. But afterward Souvanna would only say that the rancor was "subsiding" and that "at least there is more hope than on the first day."

Wilson Widow Dies at 89 in Washington, D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the President who shaped the League of Nations, has died at the stately brick town house where she cared for her stricken husband until his death in 1924. She was 89.

The former First Lady, in failing health for more than a month, died Thursday night on the 105th anniversary of her husband's birth.

Stricken Thanksgiving Night

She was stricken with a respiratory ailment Thanksgiving night, and never regained her strength, her physician said. He said she also had suffered from a heart ailment for years.

Her condition worsened Thursday, then became critical during the afternoon. She died of "hypertensive heart disease with congestive failure," the doctor said.

Two nieces, Mrs. James Powell of New York and Mrs. John Moeling of Chicago, were at her bedside when death came at 10:45 p.m.

Mrs. Wilson married the President Dec. 18, 1915, when he was serving his first term. She was with him constantly after that, screened his callers and studied his papers after he suffered a stroke in 1919, and nursed him during his last years at the S Street house. The home was a gift from the President to Mrs. Wilson.

She was to have dedicated the new Woodrow Wilson bridge that crosses the Potomac River south of Washington, at ceremonies Thursday. Instead, Francis B. Sayre Jr., son-in-law of Wilson, unveiled the dedication plaque.

President Kennedy hailed Wilson on the anniversary of his birth as "shaper of the first working plan for international cooperation among all peoples of the world."

Po'keepsie Man Leaps Off Bridge, Body Is Missing

A man identified as Charles P. Guastella, 36, of 697 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, a cab driver, committed suicide about 7:30 a. m. today by leaping off the Mid-Hudson Bridge, according to the Dutchess County Sheriff's office.

Several witnesses saw the man place his coat on the railing and then leap into the icy waters of the Hudson River. No trace of his body has been found.

Had Pistol in Coat

In the pocket of the coat were a .32 calibre pistol, the man's wallet and several rambling notes, one of which said he had planned to use the pistol but didn't know how so he jumped off the bridge.

Area Storm, Icy Roads Tie Travel

No One Is Hurt In Minor Mishaps

Wet snow and freezing rain through most of Thursday and a temperature drop to the teens early today created hazardous driving conditions in Ulster County and the Hudson Valley.

Area law enforcement agencies reported several minor traffic mishaps, mainly due to skidding on slippery pavement. Of those reported only one person was injured.

Readings Dip

Thursday's precipitation tapered off to snow flurries in the early evening and temperature readings dropped into the teens.

The official Kingston reading at the City Engineer's Office early this morning was 13 above.

Lowest unofficial readings during the morning at other check points were: Woodstock 6; Tillson 7; Saugerties and Blue Mountain Reservoir 12.

An official low at Poughkeepsie was 2 above.

Treated and Released

In local highway mishaps, Robert Houst, 16, of Woodstock was treated and released at Kingston Hospital following an accident Thursday afternoon on Boice Road near Route 28.

Kingston state police reported Houst proceeding south on Boice Road in the Town of Hurley, about three-fourths of a mile off Route 28, rounded a left turn, skidded on the wet pavement and struck a tree head-on along the shoulder of the highway.

Troopers Thomas J. Crowley and W. E. Wiedemann reported Houst suffered contusions and abrasions of the nose and complained of chest pains. The mishap occurred at 3:30 p. m.

In an earlier mishap reported by Troopers Crowley and Wiedemann, no one was injured when a van truck of Greco Brothers, Glasco was in collision with a garbage truck in the Town of Ulster.

Car-Truck Collide

Troopers said the Greco vehicle operated by Watson Hall, 25, of Mt. Marion Park, was following an Edgar Elliott garbage truck operated by Pierce Barley, 51, of Lincoln Park Place, along Route 9W. The garbage truck proceeding north attempted to make a left turn into Katrine Lane. Hall attempting to pass was in collision with the left rear of the garbage truck, troopers reported.

No one was reported injured Thursday in two minor mishaps in the Village of Saugerties reported by Police Chief Arthur W. Richter and Patrolman John Washburn.

Marilyn Ruth Nickerson, 17, of Katsbaan, driving her father's 1958 sedan was proceeding south on West Bridge Street, near the intersection of Partition Street. She applied her brakes when she noticed an approaching truck and the car skidded into the left rear fender, bumper and body of a parked car owned by Louis Hoyt Weeks of Quarryville, forc- (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

Farm Program Geared For 60s JFK's Goal; Would Boost Income

Abundance Of Nation Vital Part

Proposals to Be In Union Message

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy is reported ready to launch a new farm program, "modernized for the 1960s" and aimed at increasing farm income.

He went over the details in a three-hour session late Thursday with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and key advisers at the vacation White House.

Has JFK'S Approval

Freeman said the program now has the "general approval" of the President, who will announce it in a special agriculture message to Congress.

And, he added, it also will be included in Kennedy's State of the Union Message, which is being ironed out in daily sessions with White House advisers.

Freeman made a flying visit from snowy Washington to Palm Beach to tackle farm problems with Kennedy.

As he boarded an Air Force jet plane to return home Thursday night, the secretary of agriculture reported the new farm program "will make use of our abundance and will strengthen farm incomes."

It will seek "an over-all balance to make use of our abundance," he told reporters.

Keep Advisers Busy

Kennedy was keeping his advisers busy here as he mixed work on a variety of reports to Congress with relaxation and visits to his ailing father in the hospital.

The chairman of Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, Dr. Walter W. Heller, sat in on the conferences. Heller came to Palm Beach Tuesday with the President's special counsel Theodore Sorensen and other advisers.

Additional work on the State of the Union Message remains to be completed. Kennedy will deliver his review of the nation's condition—foreign and domestic—at a joint session sometime after Congress reconvenes on Jan. 10. The timetable for his various reports, however, is undecided.

Progress in CR Field

The President was conducting other routine business as well and getting daily intelligence briefings.

He also received a year-end report from his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, that said "important progress" had been made in the field of civil rights since the Kennedy administration took office last Jan. 20.

To Aid Youths, Unskilled

Vocational Training Expansion Proposed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Board of Regents hopes to expand vocational education in the state during the next 10 years to train youths and unskilled adults for jobs in industry.

Prospects appeared good for approval by the State Legislature of the $120 million program. Gov. Rockefeller announced recently that the state planned job-training for unskilled persons on relief rolls.

286,000 for Enrollment

Approximately 286,000 high school pupils, youths who have left school and unskilled adults would be enrolled in the program, the Regents said. The money would be spent for equipment, new buildings and the overhauling of existing facilities.

The plan was one of several in the Regents' 1962 program, submitted Thursday for consideration by the Legislature, which convenes Jan. 3.

The Requests

The Regents, governing body of all education in the state, also asked the Legislature for:

1. More freedom for the State University from regulations that hamper its expansion program.

2. A budget allotment to the State University, of $260 million which has requested for new buildings and operation of facilities in the fiscal year beginning April 1.

3. An increase in the top annual payments under Regents' scholarships from $750 to $1,200 to help students meet higher tuition costs at colleges. The minimum award, given students from higher-income families, would be cut from $250 to $150.

4. Inclusion of student nurses in the scholar - incentive program, which provides grants of up to $300 a year for college students.

Contract Averts Transit Strike In N.Y. Jan. 1

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transport Workers Union and the Transit Authority agreed Thursday night on a new two-year contract, averting a strike against city-owned subway and bus lines.

The pact, which will cost the city about $36 million, does not include a main TWU demand—a four-day, 32-hour work week.

Talks between the TWU and seven privately owned bus lines continued today. Their contracts also expire New Year's Eve.

The settlement was announced by Mayor Robert F. Wagner. TWU negotiators accepted the terms outright, eliminating any need for the contract to be ratified by the membership.

Under the pact, 38,900 city bus and subway employes will receive 22 cents an hour in wage increases—12 cents this January and 10 cents starting Jan. 1, 1963. Present wages average $2.70 an hour. The agreement continues the five-day, 40-hour work week.

11 Are Injured As Bus Hits Span To Avoid Skidder

Eleven persons were injured, two seriously, Thursday afternoon when a Short Line bus rammed into a bridge abutment on Route 17M in Middletown trying to avoid hitting a skidding automobile.

According to troopers from the Middletown state police barracks, an automobile driven by Adolph Cozeno, 68, of Pine Bush skidded in slush and wound up sideways on the bridge, about 2,000 feet north of Route 302. The Short Line bus operated by Robert Hurd, 35, of Congers, N. Y., with 16 passengers aboard came along and in an effort to avoid the car, the bus struck it a glancing blow and hit the abutment, state police reported.

Hurd was taken to Horton Memorial Hospital, Middletown, with a possible concussion of the brain. Mary White, 44, of Jamaica, was removed to the hospital with a possible fracture of the spine, suffered when the impact hurled her from the rear seat, down the bus aisle.

Hurd was discharged from the hospital this morning. The White woman's condition was reported as good.

Three of the passengers received first aid treatment at the hospital and were released, the remainder said they would see their own physicians.

Investigating the accident were Troopers Albert Dorer and Lee Thomas.

Fire Victims Are Supplied, Coming To City Residence

The Duffy family of ten, burned out of their Riffon home Wednesday afternoon have a place to live in Kingston, thanks to an offer by a Kingston attorney, Robert M. Ortale.

Mrs. John Duffy told the Freeman this morning that she, her husband and eight children, ranging in age from one year to 16, will move shortly into a house at 22 East Chestnut Street. She said she and her husband had accepted the Ortale offer after conferring with him Thursday night.

She commented today "Everybody has been just wonderful," when queried about donations. She said gifts of food, clothing and money had been received in sufficient quantities to tide the family over. However, she did say they have a furniture problem since practically all theirs was ruined in the blaze.

The Duffys, father, mother, Eileen 16, Ralph 14, Kathleen 12, Michael 11, Mary Anne 7, John 5, Maureen 4 and Susan, aged one have been keeping temporary quarters at the Rifton Firehouse since the fire which wrecked their 11-room home. They plan to move to their new home as soon as they can obtain furnishings.

Duffy is employed as a truck driver for Forst Packing Company, Inc., 113 Abeel Street.

Stratton Assails Rocky's 'Papa Knows Best' Record

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller has "a persistent record of contempt and disdain for the views and the feelings of plain, down-to-earth, ordinary people," says Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Speaking Thursday night at a Monroe County Democratic committee dinner, Stratton said that "on issue after issue—tax boosts, home fallout shelters, New York City schools and Congressional reapportionment — Mr. Rockefeller has repeatedly taken the position that he knows better what the people of New York State should have than they do themselves."

Stratton, making his first major address since announcing his candidacy Tuesday, said important legislation had been handled on a "papa knows best basis" during Rockefeller's three years as governor.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, the unofficial Democratic party head in the state, was scheduled to attend the dinner, but a statewide snowstorm and negotiations to prevent a transit strike kept him in New York City.

Reading his prepared speech to the dinner by telephone, Wagner said:

"In 1962, Gov. Rockefeller is not going to be able to run against Carmine DeSapio and the Tammany tiger. We have eliminated that convenient opponent for him. As far as New York City is concerned, Gov. Rockefeller will have to run on his record..."

Wagner did not mention Stratton in his speech.

Also attending the dinner were Postmaster General Edward Day and the two men most prominently mentioned as possible successors to Michael Prendergast as state party chairman, former Monroe County Chairman William N. Posner and Nassau County party chief John F. English.

Prendergast, DeSapio and other members of the old party leadership were not present.

Schwenk Names Klein Executive Assistant

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk today announced the appointment of William C. Klein as his executive assistant. Schwenk noted that this will be a newly created post resulting from the elimination of the position of executive secretary to the mayor.

"There is a tremendous range between the duties of a secretary and the varied responsibilities of an executive assistant," Schwenk pointed out, "that cannot be handled effectively by an executive secretary. This gap in the efficiency of the mayor's office," he explained, "will be bridged through the employment of a regular, full-time secretary at lower cost, and the part-time services of a qualified executive assistant."

"I am confident," Schwenk declared, "that Bill Klein, who has been a valued aide in recent months, will be of considerable assistance to me in achieving the goals for Kingston which I set forth during the election campaign."

Klein is a former New York newspaperman and public relations executive who established his own public relations firm here in June of 1960. A financial news reporter with the New York Journal of Commerce, and editor with General Features Corporation, he entered the public relations field in 1954, and served as account executive for major national corporate and governmental organizations such as Chesebrough-Pond's, Johnson & Johnson, American Fidelity & Casualty Co., and the New Jersey Turnpike Au- (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Outlook Bright for 1962, Chamber Manager Predicts

The future of the Hudson Valley, especially the Kingston area, looks very bright according to Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. "In general the outlook for 1962 is bright," Kurdt said, "but adjustments to new situations will create some new problems and will cause some individual hardships. The extent, degree and location of growth and development, as well as the hardships and deterioration, will depend upon how aggressively citizens and governing bodies of individual cities, towns and villages plan and cooperate to provide the requirements of the motor car age."

Kurdt pointed out that the gradual completion of an excellent network of area highways and bridges, as well as the navigation improvements made in the Hudson River and the Rondout Creek, make Kingston the hub of a growing and expanding region. "These developments," he said, "make it imperative to consider many of the basic problems, such as water supply, transportation facilities, and recreational facilities on a regional basis."

In this brief statement made as 1961 draws to a close, Kurdt also stated that industry expands and new industries are attracted to communities where the people are proud of their industries (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Progress Noted In Rights Field

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Kennedy administration said today that "important progress" was made in the field of civil rights in its year of office.

But it didn't claim all the credit for itself.

In public school desegregation in particular, the administration said, "credit for lack of violence and disorder which has marked these kind of events in the past, rests primarily with local and state officials."

Year-End Review

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in a year-end review of Justice Department activities in civil rights, stressed the department's policy of seeking effective guarantees and action from local officials and civic leaders without court action.

The report, released for publication today, said this had been done without publicity.

The attorney general's report, filed with President Kennedy, said "informal conversations have been conducted wherever our investigations have disclosed evidences of civil rights violations."

The attorney general reviewed developments in the fields of voting, education, transportation and public school desegregation.

Voting: When the Kennedy administration took office legal action had been taken in six Southern counties against denial of the right to register and vote without distinction on account of race.

One of these cases has been settled and two others have been processed to judgments.

In three other cases successful trials have been completed.

14 New Cases Filed

Additionally, he said, 14 new cases charging discrimination in the registration processes have been filed this year, and active investigation or negotiation with local officials are being made in connection with registration processes in 61 other counties.

Employment: The Presidential Commission on Equal Job Opportunity headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has met with "tremendous success."

The commission's goal, he said, is to end discrimination in plants holding government contracts and in federal employment.

Transportation: The department has made substantial progress toward eliminating discrimination in all three major modes of public interstate transportation—bus, air and rail.

The sending of more than 600 U.S. marshals to Montgomery, Ala., when "Freedom Rides" resulted in disorders last spring, "averted major bloodshed," he said, and made it unnecessary to take further action when a similar tense situation developed in Mississippi a few days later.

Schools: An increasing number of children went to school under desegregated — and peaceful — conditions in the South. He called this "evidence of responsive affirmative action taken by an increasing number of officials and civic leaders." He commented that department officials had worked informally with officials in cities involved in desegregation cases to bring about peaceful school desegregation.

"I can report to you," the attorney general concluded, "that the law enforcement officials and civic leaders in the vast majority of the communities have met their obligations. I am confident, therefore, that this year's progress will continue, and that it will be carried forward with the effort and approval of the vast majority of the American people."

Denies Aid Charges

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The Union Miniere du Haut Katanga denied today allegations by U.S. and U.N. officials that it gave military assistance to the Katanga secession and challenged anyone to give evidence to support the accusations.

A communique released by headquarters of the vast African mining complex in Brussels said: "Mahmoud Khiari, director of the U.N. civil operations in the Congo, has charged Union Miniere with serious accusations in an interview with the Jeune Afrique magazine in Tunis.

"The U.S. State Department, through G. Mennen Williams and Carl T. Rowan, has also made statements concerning the political and military activities of the Union Miniere.

"The Union Miniere, which has already denied similar accusations made previously, faced with continuous attacks, once more denies in the strongest way that it indulged in political, military or propaganda activities, and namely that it supplied arms or made bombs or any other war equipment."

Barten Still Serious

Raymond Barten, 40, of Dogwood Lane, Lake Katrine, who according to state police stabbed himself several times in the diaphram Thursday morning, was reported still in serious condition today at Kingston Hospital. BCI Senior Investigator Edward Shannon said Barten, according to his wife was despondent over personal matters. Barten stabbed himself several times with a bread knife while he sat in the kitchen of his home.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

Captain Jeremiah Relyea, one of many Town of Esopus residents who rendered valuable service to the Union cause during the Civil War, was born July 8, 1837, one of seven children of James and Liddie Ann Freer. He first worked on sailing vessels, and in 1864 was employed on the Steamer Delaware which was in use as a general flagship by the Federal Government and captured the Von Shea, a blockade runner. He also served as master on the General Hunter. Both boats operated between St. Augustine and Fortress Monroe. Captain Relyea later was employed on steamers for the Knickerbocker Ice Co. He was married on his 21st birthday to Martha Van Keuren and he and his family were members of the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

Just before Christmas in 1880, J. J. Krom who served in the Union Army with an Ulster County regiment, wrote local friends that he was planning to leave the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers for St. Augustine, Florida, where he expected to take a position at the Magnolia Hotel as assistant steward. Krom further says: "We buried one of the veterans of the Old Twentieth on the 14th of November,—Frank Bridger of Captain Snyder's Company C. Most everyone knew him as 'Frank Butcher.' I find we have one man who belonged to the Harris Light Cavalry, Alexander Highland."

Two printed items from Kingston under date of May 31, 1883: The Colored Veterans Corps, led by Messrs Harley and Kiersted, presented a fine appearance on Sunday night when they attended in a body the Zion Church to listen to the sermon of the Rev. J. R. Smith on Why We Love Our Patriot Dead. (Veteran Kiersted presumably was the same man who was custodian of the Kingston Academy building at Albany and Clinton Avenues, half a century and more ago.)

Also: "Through the exertions of the officers of Pratt Post No. 127, Grand Army of the Republic, headstones have been procured for nearly every soldier interred in the colored burying ground. On May 15, the post made up a detail of ten comrades to assist the pupils of Schools Nos. 1 and 15 in strewing flowers over the graves of these veterans." (Who among O. T.'s readers can furnish more information about Harley and Kiersted?)

Marriages in Ulster County were fairly frequent during the year 1864. Among the bridegrooms were many veterans who had received their discharge from the service, as well a the great number of still active soldiers who came home on furlough from time to time and took unto themselves a wife, the while. Any of the Readers find an ancestor among the following:

April 20—At Second Reformed Church, Village of Kingston, William T. Van Buren to Mary A. Souser, both of Kingston.

April 7—At the parsonage in Hurley, by the Rev. B. C. Lippincott, Festus Stokes to Hannah M. Sheeley, both of Marbletown.

April 13—George E. Barnes to Catherine Stedinger, both of Ellenville.

April 13—At home of bride's father, by the Rev. Mr. Van Vleck, L. R. Fowler, principal of Ellenville High School, to Lamira Whitaker of Kerhonkson.

Interesting to many residents of the county, Rondout people especially, was the following news item of January 24, 1864: The Veteran 102nd New York State Volunteers has arrived at New York City. A part of this fighting regiment was recruited from the 'Von Beck Rifles' of Rondout whose Captain Arthur Cavanaugh died of wounds received at the Battle of Cedar Mountain. The 102nd has been in nine important battles. The local Boys in Blue will be heartily welcomed by their many friends."

January 28, 1864: the following soldiers of local regiments have died in the enemy hospital at Richmond, Va. — S. C. Rosencrans, Co. C, 120th; Thomas Doyle and Thomas Crooks, both Co. F, Twentieth Regiment.

April, 1864 — A news dispatch reveals that the 'Sword Contest' at the great Metropolitan Fair which closed the 21st Inst., resulted in a lead of 14,782 votes for Gen. U. S. Grant over Gen. George B. McClellan. Receipts from the fair totalled over $1 million. No feature of the fair was more attractive than the 'Knickerbocker Kitchen' which was largely fitted up with antiques by Kingston residents. There was a painting of the grandmother of Mrs. Henry Sharpe, mother of our Col. George H. Sharpe, done at the age of 12 years. Mrs. A. Bruyn Hasbrouck plied the needle to the old-style calico be quilt, while Mrs. H. Sharpe did the honors at the small spinning wheel. — C. A. W.

recommended regional research libraries.

6. An appropriation of $1.35 million for educational television in schools during the next fiscal year.

7. A total of $250,000 for school programs to improve the reading ability and $50,000 to improve physical-fitness programs.

Details of Proposals

Details of the two major proposals:

Vocational training—New equipment and new curricula would be provided for industrial and technical education in New York City, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Yonkers, the state's largest cities. Existing facilities would be modernized to provide training for an estimated enrollment of 60,000 high school pupils and 75,000 school drop-outs and adults.

Vocational schools in smaller cities would be expanded and, in some areas, new ones would be built. The estimated enrollment would include 31,000 high school pupils and 40,000 who have left school.

Such programs probably would be justified, the State Education Department said, at places including Niagara Falls, Poughkeepsie, Rome, Schenectady, Troy, Utica, Watertown, Albany, Binghamton, Dunkirk, Elmira, Jamestown, Kingston, Olean, Batavia, Corning and Lockport.

In rural areas, training centers would be established to serve students within a radius of approximately 20 miles.

Counties designated tentatively for such centers were Schoharie, Cattaraugus, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Lewis, Livingston, Sullivan, Yates, Schuyler, Madison, Chenango, Columbia, Rensselaer, Greene, Oswego, Orleans and Wyoming.

State University — The Regents said that the State University's expansion program was being slowed by procedural requirements. The aim of the program is to double facilities by 1970.

The board did not give details, but apparently referred to controls exercised over the State University by the Budget Department, Public Works Department and Division of Standards.

The Regents' basic request appeared to be that the University be given more freedom to do its own building and buying.

LARGE FANS: This word got its popular meaning from the custom of women carrying large fans with them to social events. To attract the attention of the opposite sex the fan was "flirtted" rapidly . . . soon the popular meaning of the word arose.

Pomeroy Let Go By Garcia, Told To Leave Manila

MANILA (AP) — William Pomeroy of Rochester, N.Y., convicted of leading Communist Huk rebels and sentenced to life imprisonment, has been pardoned by President Carlos P. Garcia and ordered deported, a source in the president's office said today.

Pomeroy was sent to prison in 1952 on charges of rebellion compounded with murder, arson, robbery and kidnaping.

The Board of Pardons recommended a conditional pardon with deportation provided Pomeroy shouldered the expense of his transportation to the United States and never returned to the Philippines.

Pomeroy fought in U.S. forces in the liberation of the Philippines from Japan in World War II. He returned after the war as a student and, island authorities charged, became a Communist propagandist and Huk leader.

He married a Filipino woman, the former Celia Mariano. She was imprisoned on similar charges.

Manila newspapers said both the Pomeroys were being pardoned, but a spokesman for the legal division of the presidential office said he had received nothing from Garcia concerning Mrs. Pomeroy.

and which have well balanced community development. The necessary facilities for growth and development must be provided. There is great need for additional facilities, but basically, Kurdt said, "We can be extremely proud of such assets as fine educational facilities, including the coming establishment of a Community College; excellent health and hospital service and facilities, a wide variety of year-round recreational and cultural opportunities, strong religious institutions, excellent highways, excellent water supplies, fine shopping facilities and many others."

Better highways and the trend toward suburban living, during the past decade, intensify the problems facing cities, but "fortunately," Kurdt concluded, "We now have a comprehensive development plan for Kingston, prepared by professionals, to guide the decisions made during 1962 and for years to come."

THE DRESS PAID OFF—Mrs. Mary Bell Turner wore a black dress, black coat and white jewelry to sign for her jobless benefits at the State Employment Security office in Nashville, Tenn. She was dropped from the jobless benefit rolls because she was dressed in blue jeans when she appeared to collect her unemployment check. Capital Building Evacuated Again By Bomb Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second day in a row, a bomb threat caused evacuation today of the Immigration and Naturalization Service building in downtown Washington.

An anonymous caller telephoned police that a bomb would be set off in the building at 10 a.m. Thirty-five minutes after this deadline, police were still searching the building without finding any trace of explosives.

The 350 employes were dismissed from the building, but officials said they would be recalled at 12:30 p.m. if no bomb was found.

A similar telephone call, by a man with a Spanish accent, was received by police Thursday, causing immigration officials to dismiss employes for the day at 11:15 a.m.

That caller told police he planned to blow up the building because "You will not admit my brother."

Police said today's threat apparently came from the same caller, who said he was going to try again because he failed Thursday.

Wilson Widow

a vain attempt to beat down Senate opposition to U.S. participation in the League of Nations, undertook a whistle-stop campaign across the nation.

But he had to give up because of nervous exhaustion. He suffered the stroke on his return to the White House.

Thus began what critics called "Mrs. Wilson's regency. She called it "my stewardship."

"I studied every paper sent from the different secretaries or senators and tried to digest and present in tabloid form the things that, despite my vigilance, had to go to the President," she wrote in a book entitled "My Memoir."

Explains About Decisions

But she added: "I, myself, never made a single decision regarding the disposition of public affairs. The only decision that was mine was what was important and what was not, and the very important decision of when to present matters to my husband."

Wilson was a widower—his first wife died in 1914—and Mrs. Wilson a widow when they met in 1915. Her first husband was Norman Galt, proprietor of a famous Washington jewelry store. Galt died in 1908.

Linked to Pocahontas

She was born Edith Bolling, Oct. 15, 1872, in Wytheville, Va., of one of the South's old families. One of her ancestors was said to have been Pocahontas, the Indian princess who married John Rolfe.

After Wilson's death, she lived surrounded by mementoes, including a grandfather clock he prized and a special elevator installed for his use after Wilson was crippled by the stroke.

But she continued to live an active life. She sought to carry on the Wilsonian peace ideals, attended Democratic conventions, and other party meetings and had interests from charitable work to sewing.

She had no children, but Wilson's grandchildren by his first wife called her "Granny Edith."

Mrs. Wilson's sister, Gertrude Galt, who had lived with her for 10 years, died earlier this year.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—This, the last working day of the year for most persons, finds the majority of Americans ending a topsy-turvy year on the upbeat.

You can celebrate the passing of this often trying and crisis-ridden year with thankfulness that, as a whole, it ended a lot better than it began.

Business Brisker

Business was brisker in most lines, although not in all. Personal pocketbooks collectively were fatter, thanks in the main to more persons at work, some at higher wage scales and many at longer work weeks.

Stock prices indexes end the year near record highs, although the markets saw some dizzy speculative whirls followed by some hard falls. And Wall Street ends 1961 with its practices under probe both of government agencies and of the exchanges themselves.

It was a big year for the securities market—in trading volume, in personnel shakeups, in meteoric rise and fall of newcomers, in threats of more regulations to come.

Best Yule Eever

This was the biggest Christmas ever. A record number of presents, and more expensive ones, were given—to be enjoyed or exchanged. The record consumer outlay makes a lot of merchants and manufacturers happy. And your bills won't arrive till next week.

Business has some headaches to nurse—along with any the individual businessmen may have New Year's morning.

This was the year of the big price-fixing suits. The biggest antitrust penalties were the $2 million in fines against 29 electrical equipment makers and the jail sentences against some of their executives. The headache lingers on in a host of damage suits filed by their customers.

There were other clashes of business and government in 1961. And many businessmen aren't too sure they believe the administration's assurances that it most certainly isn't antibusiness.

Tariff Battle Looms

As 1961 ends Americans are choosing up sides for one of the biggest tariff battles in years. The President wants more power to cut tariffs as a way to bargain in America's contest with trading blocs around the world, especially the fast growing one in Western Europe. Many U.S. businessmen want more tariff protection, not less, in warding off the flow of foreign goods.

And many industries have their own domestic problems. Examples, the airlines and railroads, which are sharing very little in the general prosperity at year end.

But for most the 1961 New Year's Eve is a lot happier than was the 1961 New Year's day.

Industrial production climbed to a record in the final months of the year. Steel mills report an influx of orders that keeps them a lot busier than in the first half of the year.

A sharp rise in new car sales puts both the dealers and the makers squarely in the ranks of the optimists again. It's also good news for a lot of auto workers, who will be working longer weeks at higher wage scales.

Construction workers, as a whole, should be happy, along with building firms and the many companies that turn out building materials and furnishings.

The Commerce Department estimates the value of new construction put in place in 1961 at a new record of $57.5 billion. This would be 3 per cent above last year, and would top the previous record in 1959 by 2 per cent.

The biggest gainer was public construction, up 7 per cent over 1960. Home building was declining at year's end, but not as much as usual in the bad weather season.

And the average factor worker, whoever he may be, should be in a mood to celebrate. The Labor Department says his takehome pay was the highest in history in November, while the cost of living was slipping a trifle.

So—and in spite of all the exceptions to the generally more prosperous times—

Blames Thruway Interests For Expressway Slowdown

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Works Department has slowed construction of Route 81, the North-South Expressway, because of pressure from financial interests connected with the Thruway, Sen. Janet Hill Gordon, R-Chenango, charges.

Mrs. Gordon said Thursday the prospect that the Expressway, which will extend from Binghamton to Alexandria Bay, would drain traffic from the Thruway apparently was "at the heart of (the)...slowdown."

"I feel that outside pressures, particularly the financial interest behind the Thruway, have been brought to bear on the (Public Works) department to slow down ...construction of this vital artery," the senator said.

Mrs. Gordon, who commented in a speech at a meeting of the Penn-Can committee, did not elaborate on what she referred to as "the financial interest behind the Thruway." The highway originally was called the "Penn-Can" because it was designed to stretch from the Pennsylvania line to the Canadian border.

Persons traveling from New York City to Central New York would be able to leave the Thruway at Harriman, Orange County, and drive toll-free over Route 17 to Route 81, when the latter was completed, Mrs. Gordon said.

Less than 20 miles of the 85-mile stretch of Route 81 between Syracuse and Binghamton is either completed or under contract, she said.

X-RAY ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Next month a reconvening Congress plans to take up a major Kennedy proposal providing new training for the nation's sizable cluster of lingering jobless.

The measure is founded on the assumption, widely but not universally held by economists in and out of government, that "structural dislocations" afflict a big part of the 6 per cent of the U.S. labor force which is unemployed.

These dislocations include evidently permanent declines in use of manpower in farming, mining, transportation and many kinds of industrial output. Frequently they involve sweeping introduction of automated machinery.

The process outmodes the specialized skills of many, and further depreciates the employment prospects of the less skilled, including large numbers of young people and Negroes.

Ewan Clague, head of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, now adds his voice to those who say wide-scale job training programs are the only way to make a dent in persistent high "structural" unemployment.

He agrees with others who think two economic recessions in the 1956-61 period reflect big cyclical swings in general demand. But he argues that evidence in the 15 years from World War II's end supports the notion that lasting dislocations play a key role in the unemployment picture.

Over that long span, an average of 200,000 workers a year have left farming, some to join the unemployed. Between 1948 and 1956, through boom and recession, joblessness in goods-making industries rose from 4.1 to 5 per cent. For manual workers, the unemployment rate climbed from 3.5 to 4.4 per cent.

While this was going on, the rate in the growing service trades actually dropped. Among white collar workers it held steady.

Clague finds further proof in the marked upward trend in long-term unemployment, usually thought of as linked more with dislocation than short-range sags in demand. Nearly all the rise in unemployment from 1948 to 1956 came among those out of work five weeks or more—and much of it among those idle more than 15 weeks.

All these trends have continued in accelerated style since 1956, though the recessions of 1957-58 and 1960-61 have interlaced cyclical factors with the structural elements.

Many can agree with Clague that measures to spur the economy generally are likely to affect the hard-core jobless "only if workers are in the right place with the right skills to fill the job being created."

But this is a tremendous order. And it is yet to be demonstrated, either in existing area redevelopment effort or through the proposed general retraining plan, that the hurdles, of custom, inertia, psychological resistance to change, and home and family burdens can be cleared as they must be to aid the economically displaced.

Several cases of injury are reported as a result of over-indulgence in the Twist. Too much of a good swing, no doubt.

A PUSH FOR SAFETY

The people are ahead of the lawmakers in advocating, and wanting to implement, traffic safety. Proof of this appears in a recent poll, the results of which should encourage legislatures to act.

Among other things, the public favors making safety belts mandatory, not merely optional, equipment. Safety belts reduce highway fatalities by preventing the occupants of the car from being thrown to the pavement during an accident. The public also thinks that a person should pass a physical examination before being issued a driver's license, and that subsequent examinations should be given at regular times.

With more and more cars on the road, safety promotion is mandatory. It is the solemn obligation of legislatures not to procrastinate further. These survey findings should push them into action.

THE ACQUISITIONS

American industry was built by individuals investing their savings in enterprises, nurturing them, occasionally combining with other enterprises, expanding out of earnings, taking our limited profits and putting savings and reserves back into the business. It was a private enterprise, designed to provide a profit but conducted prudently to guard against a risk turning into a failure.

This is the capitalist system. It is often called the profit and loss system. Its essential is that the enterprise is privately-owned and originally was owned by those who managed it; latterly widely owned by individuals unrelated to management. Its growth depended upon the character, sincerity and ability of those who owned the enterprise. Ownership and management were identical. The final responsibility rested in ownership. However, as the corporation developed and as management began to assume the responsibility of ownership, the nature of industrial management changed.

Ownership became diverse and diffuse. Paid employes, assumed increasing authority, sometimes in disregard of the law, weakening initiative and absorbing parts of the profits by excessive wages, expenses, and other devices to entrench themselves in power.

In recent years, management has often neglected the principal function of the business which is to earn a profit for the owners, by burying earnings and other increments in what are called acquisitions which is the increase of an enterprise's value by purchasing other enterprises by the exchange of stock. It is often difficult to ascertain why Company B, obviously profitable, sells itself to another company, sometimes less profitable than Company B.

Often an acquisition is really an exchange of power within an enterprise without disclosing the shift of control. Sometimes the acquisition includes prosperous and unprofitable enterprises, the expectation being that by the acquisition the unprofitable enterprise will be buried. Sometimes, all these combinations are managed for a tax advantage, the management of the two companies taking advantage of the ownership which only reads of the astonishinng rise of prospective annual income.

The emphasis on management is unsound and gives strength to those who should be subordinate employes. The emphasis on management has grown beyond reason and tolerance. Management only is legally responsible for the affairs of a company to the extent that it serves on the Board of Directors which represents ownership.

The trick devised here is the appointment of an Executive Committee which usually consists of senior officers of management who meet between Directors' meetings and act for them. The Executive Committee often usurps the authority of the Board of Directors but none of its responsibilities. Theoretically, the Executive Committee meets because it is smaller and more mobile than the Board of Directors and can put over devices which the Board would resist, but which a Board can never ratify because steps have been taken and commitments undertaken from which withdrawal would be costly and, in fact, inappropriate. Thus management uses the Executive Committee to turn a Board of Directors into drones or into a crony Board.

Thus, the Executive Committee hurls a report on the table which should take many hours to study. Somebody moves that the report be approved as read; the fact however is that the report is approved unread, unstudied, unscrutinized. The result is hurried and unjustified action.

The cause for much of this is bigness—the lust for bigness, the show-offness of bigness. The worthiness of an enterprie is to be measured by its profits not by its so-called size or growth. Profits prove competent management and prudent operations.

When management absorbs too great a share of the earnings in disregard of the interests of ownership and the reserves of the enterprise, the business is badly managed. Those engaged in acquisitions have to be watched closely because this word, acquisitions, is a blanket for all sorts of queer practices, including the shifting of the control-power of an enterprise without regard to the protection of ownership. In fact, ownership may find itself out of control without knowing what has happened for some time. The reason for this is that in a company with a large and diffuse ownership, management can move swiftly to concentrate power through small devices and when the Board wakes up to what has been done, it dares not disclose the trick lest it embarrass itself by admitting inefficiency and neglect.

All this is to be watched closely if business is not to be hamstrung in the United States.

Healthy Skin Will Repay Attention You Give It

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There are, you'll recall three skin layers: the epidermis or bloodless, nerveless bark or rind of the dermis or true skin and the subcutaneous tissue on which the dermis rests and into which it descends in places.

This covering is a very efficient organ if given half a chance. It is constantly shedding worn parts and replacing them with new. It furnishes its own cooling system, moistens and lubricates itself and regulates itself to suit outside conditions such as wintry weather, hot spells, rainy seasons or periods of drought.

Despite its great efficiency, there are ways you can assist with skin care. And many things you can do to protect your skin from injuries sometimes caused by outside conditions but sometimes self-inflicted.

Bathe or shower daily to help get rid of shed epidermis. Use a simple, nonmedicated, nonscented soap. If you are soap-sensitive, use a sudsing detergent. With a rough towel or a stiff brush, scrub hairy and hard-to-get-at places (between fingers and toes, under arms and in crotch). If you shower, exercise the blood vessels of dermis and epidermis by taking a cold wash-off. And, whether you do or don't take that wash-off, give your vessels a good work-out by a vigorous toweling.

If you become perspired during the course of your daily activities, repeat bath or shower. On hygienic grounds, I favor the latter.

Be sure to dry thoroughly between fingers and toes, under arms, and in the crotch area and the ear canals. The growth of fungi (ringworm) and other invading micro-organisms (staphylococci, streptococci etc.) is favored by a diet of moisture and macerated cells. In addition, any collection of macerated cells may be productive of itching and offensive odor.

If you tend to sweat excessively in these critical areas, prevent accumulations with a nonmedicated, nonscented talcum powder, or a dress shield. Or a nonmedicated, nonscented lubricant such as a cream of albolene or a preparation of dimethicone (one whose label says its main ingredient is oil of silicon).

Do not interfere with the normal functions of your skin. When you use an antiperspirant, for example, you are depriving the skin area of a required secretion. And, if you use the antiperspirant because you've been persuaded that sweat has an offensive odor, you've allowed yourself to be grievously misled. For the offensive odor, if it exists, is due to the mixture of nonoffensive sweat with dirt or grime or a collection of macerated hairs and shed cells that might have been eliminated with a bit of soap and water.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Just before Christmas, Uncle Sugar played Santa Claus and dished out over $300 million to several international bad boys in an apparent effort to make them be good:

To President Tito's Yugoslavia, 500,000 tons of wheat and 50,000 tons of edible oils valued at over $50 million.

To Chairman Wladyslaw Gomulka's Poland, $44 million worth of agricultural commodities, including transportation.

THESE LATEST DEALS with Yugoslavia and Poland give them only half of what they asked for. So to that extent, Uncle Santa Claus held back a little and didn't empty the bag.

But to President Kwame Nkrumah's Ghana will go U. S. loans totaling $133 million for half the cost of the Volta River water power and aluminum plant project.

Tito and Nkrumah claim to be neutralists, or "unaligned," as they prefer to be called. Gomulka will never be anything but an all-out captive Communist in a Russian satellite state.

But the thought seems to be that all three of these countries can be wooed if not wowed away from their leaders by United States surpluses in their bad years.

Last April the United States led Yugoslavia have $64 million worth of surplus crops. In July 1960, the U. S. let Poland have $130 million these "purchases" in local currency, but 75 per cent is loaned back for investment.

The Ghana loans will be repayable in 30 years.

Total United States aid to the three countries from July 1, 1945 through June 30, 1961 has been $2.8 billion to Yugoslavia. $514 million to Poland and $6.6 million to Ghana.

THE QUESTION RAISED is whether this is good business and good diplomacy to boot. To the extent that food loans keep people from going hungry, they are humanitarian and in keeping with the Food for Peace Program, intended to build good will.

To the extent that the food loans help the United States get rid of surplus unmarketable crop surpluses, storage costs in this country are reduced. But there is unquestionably an element of subsidy here for which the U. S. taxpayer foots the bill.

As for winning political allies, these three latest deals are of questionable value. Neither Yugoslavia nor Poland nor Ghana has given any support to the United States at the U. N. or in any other international dealings. Tito and Nkrumah were of no help at the conference of unaligned countries in Belgrade earlier this year.

And yet, officials of the State Department, Agency for International Development, World bank, Export-Import bank and International Development Assn. argue that sound loans and grants to these neutral countries can do good.

THOUGH DISSENTS WILL be loud at mention of the names, Nasser of United Arab Republic and Nehru of India are pointed to as prime examples, in spite of all the headaches they have caused. The U. S. has given over $3 billion in aid to India and $486 million to the UAR since the end of World War 2.

The argument seems to be that if no help had been given them, they would have fallen completely into the hands of the Communists and things would be a lot worst than they are.

Nasser started out that way after the late John Foster Dulles turned down Egypt's request for financing the Aswan dam. Russia picked up the tab for that with a $100 million credit. Nasser subsequently took $788 million in Red bloc arms aid.

But in the three years since then Nasser has learned how difficult it is to do business with the Communists. Food shortages, a disastrous cotton crop this year and withdrawal of Syria from the UAR have made Nasser much more interested in getting help from the United States and western Europe.

What India's take-over of Goa and other Portuguese colonies in India will do to Nehru's unpopularity in the West is increase it. But westerners working in India now consider it the hope of the future for South and Southeast Asia. Let India go down the drain and the whole continent would be lost.

A Hitler-Nehru Parallel Seen—Excuse for Grab

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Nehru is puzzled—he still professes not to understand why Premier Khrushchev applauds him for his grab of Goa while the United States and Great Britain denounce what he did. Yet he tells a press conference in New Delhi:

"Nothing in the 14 years of independence has excited and thrilled the people in India as the liberation of Goa. There is no doubt in my mind of the full justification for use of force against Portugal."

But the Indian leader admits that he doesn't like the fact that most of the Afro-Asian nations "rejoice" while many western nations are critical of the Indian conquest of Goa. He added: "I don't like this division of opinion between white and black."

But the Indian Prime Minister shouldn't be surprised. He may go on wondering about world reaction, but he doesn't explain why he himself "rejoices" that his policy has had the warm approval of Nikita Khrushchev. For the Indian leader telegraphed the Soviet Premier as follows:

"The government of India is glad to note that the Soviet government has understood the motives and ideas determing our actions and is deeply moved by its sympathy and support."

The Soviet Premier is the leading exponent of the doctrine that might makes right and has been telling the world that agreements about allied rights in Berlin are obsolete even though signed only a decade and a half ago. It is precisely this doctrine —that history can be changed at will and past understandings can be arbitrarily erased—which is basic in Communist philosophy.

A Parrellel

Indeed, the same attitude was characteristic of the Nazi era in Europe as Adolf Hitler cried out that the Sudetenland was German and that Austria was German and that both areas must therefore be included in the Nazi empire.

It seems strange to be equating a mild-mannered man like Nehru with the fanatical Hitler, but the reasoning each offered in defense of the conquest of neighboring territory happens to be almost identical. The Indian government argues its right to annex what is next door. This misguided doctrine has brought on many a conflict in world history. The idea that a powerful government may annex neighboring territory by force of arms is old-fashioned and obsolete. Today the free world extols the principle of the right of peoples to determine their own destiny.

It would not, for example, have caused a ripple in the stream of world happenings if the people of Goa had decided, by vote in a pleciscite, to set up their own government or to join India. But for the government of India, which has inveighed against imperialism a long time, suddenly to use the tactics of the imperialists is a shock to the peoples of the world who in recent years have been sympathizing with the efforts of colonies to break away from their rulers.

It is reassuring to find that the government of the United States didn't keep aloof from what was about to happen in Goa. American Ambassador Galbraith at New Delhi pleaded with the Indian government to agree to a six-month moratorium rather than permit an invasion.

The Timing

Prime Minister Nehru, however, said it was almost physically impossible to reverse the process and argued that the invasion had been twice postponed already. The fact is that this conversation with the ambassador took place on the evening of Dec. 17, and yet at midnight of the same day the Prime Minister himself ordered the invasion of Goa. It hasn't been explained why he couldn't have held up that final order if he had really wished to postpone the whole action.

But the Indian Prime Minister evidently wanted in advance a complete submission by Portugal as the price even of an informal negotiation with that country. This is reminiscent of what some dictatorships have usually demanded. Great Britain tried desperately to avert World War II by urging Hitler to wait while parleys over Poland could be held, but the Nazi dictator said he couldn't wait and ordered the attack anyway.

It seems tragic that with all the machinery of mediation being utilized from time to time—as, for instance, in the Congo by the UN—no means was found by other nations to save India from the stigma of aggression, and particularly to save Prime Minister Nehru from the doubtful distinction now being accorded him as the unmoral "man of the year."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The controversy over the patriotic John Birch Society has now taken the line of all previous ventures in patriotism by dogged modern loyalists. The society will be defeated and forgotten in about one more year. The opposition relies on clamor against patriotism as a hypocritical and fraudulent sentiment used as a mask for Fascism and Hitlerian ruthlessness against "minorities." Conspicuous "intellectual" lieutenants of the anti-Birch propaganda subscribe to the clearly expressed views of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes. Only recently, in the Harvard Law Review, Felix Frankfurter tried to rub off some nobility onto his own robes by referring to Holmes as "the great man." In that almost hysterical endorsement, Frankfurter clearly approved the most brutal and cynical American of the era of the Democratic Party.

Holmes held that no "minority" had any right even to life itself. He rejected all authority over men but physical power. Human life was no more sacred than the life of a sheep or pig or fish. This is the implication of the expressed adulation of Oliver Wendell Holmes, whose writings on these subjects excelled the same thoughts expressed by others only in the detail of a colloquial vulgarity.

Henry Mencken, the Baltimore livery-stable atheist, was better than Holmes. His flippancy was equally superficial, the only merit Holmes possessed on this basic subject. And Mencken turned it out year after year, almost unfailingly with a new smirk of impudence. Holmes had an advantage in that such expressions from an exalted mountebank enjoying the title of "mister justice," instead of "judge," imparted a pleasant shock to petty educators and simian writers. He had the further advantage of the ominous black robe which, by his own reasoning, gave him the power to keep men in awe and fear of him. Mencken went in mufti and hung around speakeasies.

The House of Representatives maintains a less imposing imposture than do the judges in referring, one member to another, as "the gentleman." There is no authorized definition of the term "gentleman" and if there were it would have to be fixed at about the ethical level of a television savant to accommodate the majority of any quorum of members of Congress.

Unfortunately for the patriotic movement, personified in this case by Major General Edwin A. Walker, a soldier of heroic renown and spotless honor, an obscure but resptable Boston citizen, Robert Welch, somehow took the leadership of the John Birch Society, named for a forgotten war hero who was put to death by Chinese Communists. As in other such mishaps, the leadership tended to embarrass and discredit the horde of individual patriots who wanted to enlist for political unity in civil affairs. Mr. Welch and some associates proposed the impeachment of Earl Warren and impugned President Eisenhower's patriotism. The worst objection to these drastic ideas was not that they were wrongful but grotesquely impractical. Warren can't be impeached, even if he deserves it. And any novice at public relations knows that Ike cannot be convicted of disloyalty. But this is politics and anyone so stupid as to try to impeach Warren and stick Eisenhower for treason disqualifies himself.

Welch made it easy for the current extension of the New Deal to try to sneer the Birch Society out of existence. General Walker himself is not thus easily drummed out, but he is marching in one place. However, a comparison between his career and, say, Frankfurter's, must redound to the advantage of patriotism.

Major Arch E. Roberts, the press relations officer for General Walker's late command in Germany, is now resigned to the same punishment that was visited on General Walker for teaching patriotism to his troops. Major Roberts clearly expects to be kicked out of active service. But he has gathered a mass of information about a repulsive "GI" publication which has been circulating as private enterprise in the Seventh Army in Germany. This dirty thing ventured to impugn General Walker's sanity because he taught patriotism in the 24th Division. In the end, Walker, not the Overseas Weekly, was punished.

Major Roberts, knowing he is expendable, has resumed the expose of an apparatus in New York called "The Society for the Prevention of World War III." This is the organ of the Morgenthau Plan. It has been dormant for a few years, but it has never expunged its true character. This society was instigated, finanaced and propagated in the city of New York.

But a new generation of Americans have grown up, ignorant of old disclosures. Such information was not easily digested even then. With a mighty force of guilty hypocrisy sniping every patriotic volunteer, the prospects of General Walker are darker than he ever faced in battle.

Fashion Trends Stitch An Economic Picture

BY FAYE HENLE

Beware! Milady's hemline is descending!

Are you aware that a fashion-economic theory exists? It was plotted some years ago by the H. W. Gossard Co., makers of foundation garments. With figures aplenty to substantiate the theory, the company showed that when business falters and the national income descends, skirts go down and waistlines tighten. When business is good and national income is up, skirts rise, waistlines loosen.

TAKING THEIR fahsion-economic theory back to 1900, the company reports that business was good and toe tips peeked out from under skirts. The 1907 business panic was accompanied by the "fishtail" skirt and long trains.

By 1915 business was good, legs began to appear. Down went skirts to the ankle in the post World War I recession of 1921 and up again in 1926 when boom days appeared.

Remember mama's long skirt and belt that banded her waistline in 1933, the deepest year of the depression? Skirts were raised as much as 15 inches in 1940, as prosperity returned. Harbinger of the 1949 recession was the "new look," which made its debut in 1947 with cinched waists and longer skirts. From 1958 to the present, hemlines crept up and waists were looser and sometimes nondescript.

And now there is the forecast of "slightly lower" hemlines for springtime '62.

HOW RELIABLE is the Gossard index of business conditions? On the basis of hindsight —and who doesn't' have 20-20 vision looking backwards?—excellent. Will newer predictions hold true? The Gossard people haven't made any forecast for 1962, but more conventional economists, students of the economy, have.

William F. Butler, vice president of New York's Chase Manhattan Bank, forecasts:

"1962 promises to be a year of good business and general prosperity."

He believes that business investment in new plants and equipment could be "substantially greater" than indicated by surveys of present plans for such investment. He believes government spending will spur the economy. Add to these a 6 per cent rise in consumer spending, and Butler sees a gross national product for next year of around $565 billion.

On the gloomier side Butler says: "Unemployment will be a bit higher than most people would like to see." And, in true economist fashion, he hedges that this forecast holds good only providing the international situation doesn't worsen.

MORE OPTIMISTIC (perhaps this will yank hemlines up by fall) is the University of Michigan's professor of business conditions, Paul W. McCracken.

He predicts a 9 per cent increase next year in our national output, aided by increased spending by business and government.

McCracken also spots current evidence that "consumers may let go of their income dollars at more traditional rates." He feels that your hesitancy in parting with your dollars has been one of the forces that has "stalemated the economic situation."

Polish Immigrant Can Stay, Ruling of U. S. Judge

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Jozef Gazdowicz, a 35-year-old immigrant who the Polish government sought to have extradited to Poland to face trial for several alleged crimes, including murder, can stay in the United States.

Federal District Judge Harold P. Burke ruled Thursday that the Polish government's extradition application did not meet two requirements of the extradition treaty between the United States and Poland and was based merely on suspicion.

No evidence of the crimes Gazdowicz allegedly committed was contained in the application, Burke said, and it was not rendered by a court, but by the public prosecutor in the Polish town where the crimes allegedly occurred.

The Polish government said Gazdowicz' brother, Jan, who is serving a 15-year prison term in Poland, testified at his trial that he and Jozef committed crimes of murder, attempted murder, burglary, robbery and assault in Poland between 1947 and 1952.

Jozef, who has been employed in a local basket factory since 1957 and said he fled Poland in 1953, denied the charges contained in the extradition application and said his brother's testimony was extracted under torture.

Jozef claimed he was the victim of political scheming. He said he worked as a marauder against the Polish communists for six years and also worked briefly with the anti-communist underground.

Congo Is Biding Time Until 3rd, Tension Is High

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo government and the U.N. Congo mission appeared today to be biding their time until Jan. 3 when President Moise Tshombe's Katanga Assembly is to meet to discuss future relations with the Leopoldville regime.

Military and political tension remained high in the Katanga secessionist capital of Elisabethville and was likely to remain so until Tshombe's politicians decide whether they will adhere to the agreement he made at Kitona on Dec. 21 to end secession.

Tshombe, whose authority as president of Katanga has seldom seemed in doubt, contends the agreement has to be ratified by his provincial Assembly.

The central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula regards the agreement as ironclad, but has made no move to press matters.

Six Katanga deputies, who took seats Thursday in the national Parliament in partial fulfillment of the compact, made no significant contribution to the debates. The nine remaining Katanga representatives had not reached Leopoldville.

The policy of waiting on the Katangans extended even to the Congo army unit the United Nations agreed to accept as part of its force. The Congolese appear to be having second thoughts about it. A 90-man advance unit was to have left for Kamina in north Katanga three days ago but has not moved.

Reports from Elisabethville said feelings between Katangans and U.N. personnel again were reaching the high pitch that preceded the outbreak of fighting on Dec. 5. Katangans were beginning to react against U.N. patrols, roadblocks and arrests.

A Swedish patrol killed two Katangan soldiers and took 14 prisoners Thursday when it was fired on unexpectedly, the U.N. spokesman said.

Say Plumbing Violation

Two men were booked Thursday for an alleged violation of a section of the General City Law pertaining to work normally done by licensed plumbers. They are Charles Butcher, 55, and Nathan Hoffman, 51, both of 154 Fair Street. It is charged that repair work invloved was on a "waste pipe line" at 73 and 75 Abruyn Street. City court hearing today was put over to Jan. 9 at 8 p. m. Attorney Hubert A. Richter appeared for Butcher and Thomas J. Plunket for Hoffman. Police said they were booked after an investigation by Plumbing Inspector Charles J. Kelly.

Masciarelli Dropped

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner of Public Markets Anthony Masciarelli, who had held his post longer than any other present city department head, is the first to be dropped in Mayor Robert F. Wagner's "resignation" program.

The Democratic mayor, who starts a third four-year term Jan. 1, appointed Deputy Fire Commissioner Albert S. Pacetta to the $20,000 - a - year markets post Thursday.

Ex-Convict Admits Torch Death of Retired Minister

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—A paroled convict, faced with results of a lie detector test, admitted tying up a 72-year-old retired minister and leaving him to die in a burning farm home, state police said today.

Lynn E. Houck, 28, acknowledged his part in the human-torch death of the Rev. Roy R. Decker because "he apparently knows how he fared on the lie detector test and just decided to tell us," said State Police Capt. James MacDonald.

Macwdonald said Houck claimed the fire in which the Methodist clergyman died Dec. 26 started accidentally when Houck plugged in an electric heater to keep Decker warm.

Houck denied the police theory that the killer set the fire after the victim had been doused with inflammable liquid.

Houck was quoted as saying he ran from the house when the fire started, leaving Decker unconscious with his hands tied behind his back, under a blanket on a bedroom floor.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Mixed prices prevailed as stock market trading drew near its end for 1961 early this afternoon. Trading was very heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .30 to 262.60 with industrials down .70, rails off .10 and utilities up .10.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule for most key stocks.

The market will be closed Monday for New Year's.

Disappointment with the failure of a strong yearend rally to materialize mingled with hopes and fears for market prospects in early 1962.

Saturday Rites To Be Held for 2 Killed Thursday

Funeral services for two Kingston High School boys killed in a automobile-tractor-trailer crash on the Thruway early Thursday morning will be held in St. Mary's Church on Saturday morning.

A high Mass of Requiem will be celebrated for Charles Edward Senor, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob J. Senor of 35 Grove Street at St. Mary's Church at 9:30 a. m.

A Solemn High Mass of Requiem will be held at 11 a. m. for Peter Fiore Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fiore Sr. of 71 Lindsley Avenue.

Both boys will be buried in St. Mary's Cemetery. Calling hours will be held tonight after 7 o'clock in the Frank H. Simpson Home, 411 Albany Avenue.

Meanwhile, the condition of Francis DiDona, 36, of Seneca Falls, operator of the tractor-trailer, involved in the collision, is reported as fair at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill. He was critical during Thursday, but hospital authorities said today his condition had improved to fair. He suffered a compound fracture of the arm, lacerations and abrasions, severe shock and severe scalp injuries.

According to state police of the Kingston Thruway Barracks, an automobile in which the two boys were returning to Kingston after attending a basketball game in Schenectady, had apparently run out of gas at the 106-mile mark on the southbound Thruway lane in Greene County. Sgt. W. E. Ebel reported that the tractor trailer rammed into the disabled vehicle, killing both boys. Both suffered skull fractures and Senor had a fractured neck. It took workers several hours to remove his body from the trunk of the wrecked vehicle where he had been found wedged, along with a smashed empty gasoline can. The Fiore boy's body was found lying in front of the automobile.

Other Bridge Fatality

It was just about one year ago, on Dec. 21, 1960 that the last bridge fatality occurred. On that date Rachel C. Perry, 18, of Poughkeepsie died in a plung into the river. David Amesse, 20, also of Poughkeepsie was held in connection with her death and on July 7, 1960 was sentenced to 7½-15 years in state prison on a first degree manslaughter charge.

Arab League to Withdraw If Britons Go to Kuwait

CAIRO (AP)—The Arab League warned Thursday night that it will withdraw its security forces from Kuwait if British troops return. But Britain's fears of an Iraqi move against the tiny oil sheikdom subsided after the British show of strength in the Middle East.

Sayed Nofal, deputy secretary-general of the Arab League, declared that the Arab nations would not permit their forces to carry out joint action with British forces in Kuwait under any circumstances. The league sent 2,500 troops to Kuwait last August to replace British units rushed there after Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem threatened to annex the sheikdom.

Nofal asserted that the dispatch this week by Britain of seven warships and air and troop reinforcements to the Middle East — where Britain feared new threats on Kuwait—had caused concern in Arab League circles.

He said the tiny sheikdom, that adjoins Iraq on the northern end of the Persian Gulf, did not ask the British to return and that Britain "does not have any territories in this area (which) allow her to order her troops to head to the Mideast and protect these territories."

Nofal contended that "the responsibility of the Arab states and the presence of the Arab security force in Kuwait is an expression of the league membership's solidarity with Kuwait and their obligation to defend its independence."

"It may all have been a false alarm," one British official in London conceded. "But governments, like fire brigades, find it better to be safe than sorry." The defense ministry ordered the alert on the basis of intelligence reports from the Middle East.

The British alert was prompted by urgent reports from intelligence agents and diplomats over the Christmas holiday that Kassem — emboldened by the U.N. failure to act against India's invasion of Goa—might soon try to make good his claim to Kuwait.

Traffic Deaths Decline 1 PC in First 11 Months

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths in the first 11 months this year totaled 34,370 compared to 34,700 for the similar period in 1960, a decrease of 1 per cent.

The National Safety Council, in announcing the death toll, said the accident death rate for every 100 million miles traveled during the 11 month period was 5.1, the lowest on record for any similar period. The 11-month rate for both 1960 and 1959 was 5.3.

Bank Stocks Show Fine '61 Record

Q) "How have the various stock groups acted in relation to each other this year? I have four bank stocks held in trust for me. Has this group done better than most of the others?" N. E.

A) Yes, bank stocks have been splendid performers this year. My staff has just completed a study of the relative action of 57 stock groups for the 11 months to December 1, and during this period banks were the seventh best performers, up nearly 50 per cent.

Topping the list was radio and television, as Zenith and Magnavox led their group to a 77 per cent gain. Food packing was second best and tobacco, finance, department stores and hosiery followed in that order.

After banks came office equipment, food chains, food packaging, proprietary drugs, cotton apparels and mail-order houses. Groups turning in relatively poor performances included aluminum, cement, farm equipment, air transport and printing and publishing.

Of the popular market averages, the Dow Utilities rose 33 per cent the Dow Industrials advanced 17 per cent, but the Dow Rails could manage only an 8 per cent showing. Of course, what has happened this year won't necessarily recur in 1962 .

Nevertheless,, I've found that the best share gains are made by investors who hold stocks of groups which are acting better than the market as a whole.

Q) "I have about $6,000 saved for my children's education. Their ages are 5, 4 and 1. I was thinking of buying them El Paso Natural Gas and Standard Oil of Ohio. Please advise." T. C.

A) El Paso Natural Gas and Standard Oil of Ohio are both sound stocks, but I believe they are rather slow for the purpose you have in mind. Instead, I suggest that you choose more aggressive situations like Gerber Products (NYSE) and Northern Indiana Public Service (MSE), which should tend to grow with your children in the years ahead.

Area Storm . . .

ing the car into a utility pole, Chief Richter said.

Later in the morning, a Grand Union trailer truck was in collison with a car at the intersection of Malden Avenue (Route 9W) and Main Street. S. F. Crasnopolski, 47, of Cohoes was the driver of the truck.

Skids on Ice

Chief Richter reported W. F. Wettingfeld, 14, of Coxsackie, was proceeding south on Malden Avenue, applied his brakes at the intersection and skidded on the icy pavement into the tractor trailer which was proceeding north. The Wettingfeld car hit the front left fender and bumper of the truck, Richter said.

In a report of conditions throughout the state, the Associated Press said icy air and treacherous roads faced many New Yorkers setting out today to spend the New Year's weekend elsewhere, in the wake of a storm that plopped as much as a foot of snow on the state.

In Buffalo and its northern suburbs this morning, side streets were sealed by more than 6 inches of snow after overnight squalls off Lake Erie, and further squalls were forecast. Thruway traffic in the area was slowed, along with city traffic.

A foot of new snow was reported in the Boonville area of the western Adirondack foothills, and 8 inches at Sandy Creek in Oswego County and at Morrisville in Madison County. Rome had 6 inches, Albany and Troy 5, Oneonta and Utica 4. New snow elsewhere ranged mostly between 1 and 3 inches.

Cold Continues

The Weather Bureau predicted continued cold over the weekend in the eastern half of the state. Overnight low temperatures Thursday night ranged from 2 above at Poughkeepsie to 25 in New York City.

A slight warming Saturday was forecast for the western half.

Other overnight lows included: Glens Falls 5; Binghamton 6; Olean and Utica 7; Oneonta and Plattsburgh 9; Buffalo, Massena and Rome 10; Watertown and Rochester 13; Albany 14; Newburgh 16; Syracuse and Westhampton Beach 17.

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph R. Weiss has resigned from his $26,000-a-year job as deputy superintendent of schools in charge of construction and maintenance.

The Board of Education, which had given him the choice of resignation or dismissal, announced his decision Thursday. The resignation will protect his pension rights after almost 25 years of service.

Weiss, 57, was not charged with dishonesty. After a departmental trial he was found guilty of improper conduct.

In Used Cars

Lefkowitz Would Prohibit Mileage Chart Set Back

NEW YORK (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said today he will recommend to the Legislature that it enact a bill barring used car dealers from setting back speedometer mileage.

The measure, he said, will be one of the major items in the program he will recommend to the 1962 Legislature.

The bill, he said, would make the alteration of speedometer readings on a motorcycle or automobile "so as to mislead buyers both as to mileage and the fair value," a misdemeanor.

Other bills would:

Tighten the provisions of the penal law dealing with false advertising.

Require marking pre-packaged food with net weight, selling price per pound or unit and total selling price.

Prohibit life-time contracts, particularly those used by dance studios, health gymnasiums and other businesses offering services and training in physical and social skills;

Require the licensing of television repairmen.

Require that home appliances carry a label or other marking that shows the year of manufacture.

Persistent Deer

ILION, N.Y. (AP) — Where would a wild deer be most unlikely to go after the close of the hunting season? A firearms plant?

A deer walked through the open gate of the Remington Arms Co. plant here this week.

Among the men who chased the deer out to freedom was fireman Edward Snedeker. But while Snedeker was driving home, apparently the same deer, pursued by dogs, darted in front of his vehicle and was killed.

Very Helpful Clerks

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Police questioning two boys about a typewriter the pair stole asked whether removing the machine from the store had not been difficult.

Workers Come to Rescue

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—After burglars stole $60 from a cash box at a newstand operated by a blind woman in the County Courthouse, other workers in the courthouse collected $100 to more than reimburse the woman, Miss Anne O'Neil.

What's behind the 4% headlines?

All of a sudden, many banks in town are advertising four percent on savings and time deposits held for one year or more.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT?

Interest rates at commercial banks are regulated by state and federal authorities. They put a top limit on the amount of interest that the banks may pay. Recently, they raised that limit, effective January 1, 1962.

So some of the banks are increasing the interest they pay on savings and time deposits.

AND SO ARE WE.

In three ways.

One: We'll pay 4% a year at the end of each quarter on savings deposits up to $25,000 that have been in your account one year or more.

Two: We'll pay 3½% a year at the end of each quarter on savings deposits that remain in your account less than one year. Interest will be paid on a savings deposit received during the first 10 calendar days of any calendar month from the first day of such calendar month.

Three: We'll pay 4% per annum on any time deposit having a maturity date 12 months or more after the date of deposit, and 3½% per annum on any time deposit having a maturity date less than 12 months and not less than 6 months after the date of deposit, without limitation on the amount of the deposit.

It's always our policy to give our customers the latest and the best.

The lady of the house had asked the new cook to dice some carrots for dinner. Some time later, the cook came to her with the following complaint.

I don't mind cutting up them carrots into little squares, she said, but putting those black dots on them drives me nearly out of my mind.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Received a nice season's greeting card from Cornelius E. Keyser of 100 Grand Street. His card shows a covered bridge, which looks like our local one. He writes that this is the anniversary of the Mary Powell and he will send me some items about her.

Another nice card came from Mrs. Wilcox of New Paltz, who calls herself a "Senior Citizen." I think she once wrote me she is 90. Her cards and letters are always full of fun. She sends me items on the Dayline and other things. This time she sent an item from the Highland Mid-Hudson Post, in which Lorin E. Osterhoudt mentioned this column.

Tom Walsh brought one book, published in 1958 by the Stephen Daye Press. Book is called History of American Steam Navigation by Morrison, and has some 150 of its 600 pages just on the Hudson River with illustrations. Will tell more about this remarkabe book after I have a chance to look through it. Mr. Walsh also brought me two interesting framed prints, both by Vanderlyn, one of the Landing of Columbus and the other of a portrait of Washington. Also a collection of 11 booklets of "Souvenir of War with Spain" which also will take a little time to look through.

Met O. A. Goodsell doing his shopping in Rondout and we talked about the little 1858 Kingston-Rondout and Wiltwyck Directory he loaned me. It contains a complete coverage of the military departments such as the National Greys, Kingston, organized October, 1854. The Kingston Guards 40 Rank and File. Headquarters, Military Hall. In Rondout, the 20th Regiment New York State Militia, 8th Brigade, The Company F Infantry, 8th Brigade, 20th Regiment 58 Rank and File, Headquarters, Clinton Hall.

While I have the loan of this book, I will gladly give any information from it, after that the readers may contact Mr. Goodsell, who lives at 43 Crane Street.

I had better mention the other military companies in the 1858 book, in case the readers may wish to know.

There was Company H, 8th Brigade, 20th Regiment 25 Rank and File, with headquarters at the Clinton Hotel. G. F. Von Beck was the captain, Adam Metzger was his first lieutenant and John Henkel, the second. Then there was the Company E, 8th Brigade, 20th Regiment. 50 rank and file. Headquarters were at Washington Hall. John F. Derrenbacher was the captain, John Kline was the first lieutenant and J. Clear, second lieutenant.

Then they had the Independent Jefferson Dragoons, 20 rank and file. Headquarters were at Metzger's Hotel. Adam Metzger was the captain, Joseph Lachlinskee was the first lieutenant; John Weber, second lieutenant. Adam Metzger was also secretary and A. Breitenbacher was the treasurer.

In 1858, James Buchanan of Pennsylvania was president of the U. S. A. receiving a salary of $25,000. John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky was his vice president at $8,000. The following officials also received $8,000 salary in 1858. The secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of war, secretary of the navy and secretary of the interior, postmaster general and attorney general.

So few of the names remain before the public eye, as the years go by. John. A. King was governor of New York State at the time. I think that now with moving pictures, TV and photography so advanced we know our officials far better and are acquainted moreso with their voice and personality through TV and many newspaper and magazine pictures.

Strike Threatens Williamsport Bus Line January 1st

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Drivers and mechanics of the Edwards Lakes-to-Sea bus line moved today with preparations to strike at 12:01 a.m. New Year's day in a wage dispute.

William H. Edwards, president of the Edwards Motor Transit Co. which operates the line, said Thursday the firm's 71 drivers and 37 mechanics voted almost unanimously in favor of the walkout.

The workers are members of Local 1154 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, headed by Brian S. Peterman.

Edwards said the union is seeking a 17 per cent wage boost and increased fringe benefits 'for its drivers and a 12 per cent pay hike, a 10 per cent work hour reduction and added fringe benefits for the mechanics.

The company said its last offer called for a six per cent pay hike for both drivers and mechanics over a two-year period. Under present base pay scales, Edwards drivers earn an average of $5,800 a year while mechanics make about $4,800 a year, a company spokesnan said.

No new negotiation sessions have been scheduled.

Edwards buses haul passengers between New York City and Cleveland, Williamsport and Philadelphia, Elmira, N.Y., and Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Washington and Elmira and Sunbury. Company headquarters are in Williamsport.

Boy Is Cerebral Palsy Victim

Firemen Honor 13-Year-old With Full Life Membership

A 13-year-old Lyndhurst, Ohio boy, afflicted with cerebral palsy was recently honored with honorary life membership in an Ulster County volunteer fire company for his intensive interest in firemanics.

Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 at a recent meeting unanimously elected Gregory Gardner honorary life membership in the company. The boy's hobby is collecting insignia and badges of fire departments throughout the country.

Featured in Article

The hobby of young Gardner was brought to the attention of the local fire company by a feature article in the NFPA Firemen. The boy resides with his parents at 5030 South Barton Road, Lyndhurst, 24, Ohio.

The boy's father, Charles E. Gardner is assistant chief of the fire department at South Euclid, Ohio. The boy wears a brace on his right leg and only has the use of his left arm and hand. He didn't walk until he was six years old.

For a long time the boy has been interested in fire protection and law enforcement, and some time ago began collecting shoulder patches and badges of fire departments. Young Gardner reads the Firemen magazine and corresponds with various fire companies and departments, telling them of his hobby.

His mother, who helps him with correspondence said, "Words of thanks could never begin to compensate for the many, many hours of enjoyment he has received from the letters and patches, he gets through the mail.

In the magazine article she appealed to fire companies to help the boy with his collection.

Hurley Vols Respond

Hurley Vols sent the boy one of its shoulder patches and a department badge.

Mrs. Gardner in her letter of thanks for the gift said the items will be displayed in a glass case with others the boy has collected.

Paul E. McGuire, secretary of the Hurley company also notified Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association of the company's action and said that perhaps other companies in the county would be willing to correspond with Gregory.

FAILING TO RECOGNIZE SOMEONE

Q: What does one do when someone who apparently knows me but whose face I can't place, comes up to me and speaks to me? This happened to me the other day and for the life of me I could not think of who the person was and not until the next day did it dawn on me who she was. It was very embarrassing.

A: So many of us have bad memories for faces and have difficulty in recognizing all who speak to us, that a really thoughtful person will say, "I am Mary Smith" whenever she speaks to anyone she thinks may not recognize her. If however, the unknown fails to do this all you can do is to keep your part of the conversation non-commital and hope that she will say something that will give you some hint of who she is.

Bride Dislikes Her Stepmother

Q: My parents are divorced and my father has remarried. I am very fond of my father and see him often but I have no use for his present wife. I am going to be married soon and would like my father to give me away. Must his wife be invited to the wedding and reception?

A: She must be invited to the church where she is seated in the third pew on your side of the church and a place is reserved beside her for your father to occupy after he has given you away. It is not necessary to invite her to the reception but then your father will not be able to come either as it would be an insult to his wife to appear at the reception without her.

Names on Place Cards

Q: My employer is giving a business dinner for 25 out-of-town salesmen, at his club. The men will be seated with place cards and I have been asked to make them out. Since the typewriter is used so generally today as a substitute for handwriting, may these cards be typewritten?

A: No, they must be written by hand.

Citrus Industry

The citrus industry has had many ups and downs since the turn of the century. So dependent is the industry's existence on the whims of winter weather and autumn hurricanes that the investment of money in enterprises connected with citrus fruits seem rather hazardous, according to Louise M. Kakargo, assistant Home Demonstration agent.

One area may build toward large expansion of production only to have its groves wiped out with one hard winter freeze, as in Texas a decade ago. This high risk and uncertainty tends to increase costs. The variation in production leads to fluctuation in prices. Fortunately for consumers, the citrus growing areas in the United States are situated in different parts of the continent, and it would be very unusual for all to be disastrously hit the same year.

Oranges — Though California and Texas expect to have fewer oranges this year, their reduced production is more than offset by the combined crops in Florida, Arizona and Louisiana.

Grapefruit—Supplies of grapefruit are expected to be greater. Florida is the largest producing state, and Texas is second.

Tangerines—They are on the market early this year, but the supply is short.

Tangelos — The tangelo crop, the baby among the citrus fruits, will be available from November to March.

Large stocks of frozen orange juice remain from the past season's heavy pack. With prospects for a large pack from the current crop, frozen orange juice concentrate will be abundant. Retail price may well decline.

We The Women

Beware! France Exports The Sloppy, Sleazy Look

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Now that the fad for wearing jeans low on the hips has about had its run with teen-age boys, fashion designers are trying to get the girls interested in a feminine version of the same sloppy style.

Called the "St. Tropez bikini pants" the feminine (if you can call it that) outfit has the pants cut low (not just worn low) and they depend on a skintight fit for anchorage. Unlike jeans, the St. Tropez pants are bell bottomed—giving them an even sloppier look if possible.

To be worn with the St. Tropez pants the designers have dreamed up a long-sleeved, high-necked shirt chopped off high enough to allow eight or ten inches of bare skin between shirt and pants.

Let's hope the St. Tropez pants don't catch on with our sweet young things—for if they do no telling what other crazy fads from St. Tropez will follow.

If you've ever sat at a sidewalk cafe in St. Tropez since Brigitte Bardot's crowd turned that little fishing village on the Riviera into a beatnik side show you know what an endless variety of weird costumes could come out of the place.

They are startling enough in a beatnik hangout—worn by girls who do nothing to their hair but let it grow and dye it strange colors, but just think how those Tropez outfits will look on high school girls and housewives, running around neighborhood shopping centers.

Paris has, from time to time, foisted some pretty unbecoming "new" looks on us. But heaven help us if we start following the "fashion" line as dreamed up by the stringy-haired beatniks of St. Tropez.

Insights into young people are in Ruth Millett's new booklet, "Tips on Teen-Agers." Mail 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y. (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sane Thought Tempers Anxiety Over Children

Whenever her son is late getting home from a date, Mrs. G. begins to worry. As she waits for the sound of his car in the drive, she feeds her anxiety with visions of all the possible disasters that could have befallen him — a holdup on a lonely road, sudden illness, a car crash.

When she seeks sympathy from Mr. G., she doesn't get it. Irritated by the fear he feels in her he mumbles, "Oh, for goodness sake, he's probably having a ham on rye somewhere." Then he turns over in bed to resume his interrupted sleep.

Nor when her tardy child makes his appearance half an hour later does the boy show her worry any sympathy. By this time it has increased to a point of such tearful reproach that it sparks resentment in him. Instead of saying, "I'm sorry, I should have phoned you," he says, "Oh, for crying out loud, Ma, let's wait till the morning.

The adolescent is impatient with excessive anxiety over his safety, suggesting as it does to him distrust of his ability to take care of himself. He will punish us for it by refusing us understanding and acceptance of our need for those relieving telephone calls.

Those of us who suffer from this kind of panic over absent children may be able to use these words from "May Man Prevail," a new book by psychoanalyst Erich Fromm: "Sane thinking means not only to think of possibilities which are easy to recognize but to think also of probabilities."

It is always POSSIBLE that a late child has been delayed by disaster. The son over whom we are so worried may indeed be lying broken under a wrecked car but in view of his driving skill and the relative infrequency of car accident compared with nonaccident, this disaster is not PROBABLE.

Constant worry over the unlimited POSSIBILITIES of danger to an absent child isolates us from others' sympathy. Though they are willing to comfort our fears of PROBABLE danger, they grow tired of trying to relieve fears of POSSIBLE ones.

Like Mr. G. and his son, they have learned that relieving us of fear of one possible danger will only result in our conjuring up another one. So they leave us alone with our unhealthy anxiety.

Our husband turns his back on it and our resentful child continues to somehow find himself always unable to make that sympathetic and reassuring telephone call.

As Dr. Fromm suggests, it is the obligation of sanity to register the difference between possible and probable dangers.

Vote Liz Taylor Box Office Champ

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Elizabeth Taylor will remember 1961 as a year of near tragedy and eventual triumph—a year in which she almost died, then won her first Academy Award, and finally was named box office champion of the movies.

Motion Picture Herald announced Thursday she was rated the No. 1 movie attraction in its 30th annual poll of exhibitors.

In order, here are the others in the top 10 for 1961: Rock Hudson, Doris Day, John Wayne, Cary Grant, Sandra Dee, Jerry Lewis, William Holden, Tony Curtis and Elvis Presley.

The film "Butterfield 8" brought Miss Taylor her Oscar and the box office honor.

Mrs. Kennedy May Not Go to India

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The illness of her father-in-law may cause Mrs. John F. Kennedy to postpone her January trip to India and Pakistan, the White House says.

Pierre Salinger, press secretary, said the President and the First Lady are to make a decision on her journey within the next few days.

Salinger sidestepped questions as to whether India's invasion of Portuguese Goa might be a factor in the decision, saying, "I'm not commenting."

He said, however, that the health of the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, 73, will definitely be a factor.

The elder Kennedy suffered a stroke Dec. 19 and then contracted a mild case of pneumonia.

Mrs. Kennedy planned to go to India and Pakistan sometime in January. No itinerary or specific plans had been announced, beyond a date to attend India's Republic Day celebration in New Delhi Jan. 26.

New Kingston Savings Directors

MRS. JOHN F. WADLIN

WALTER R. SEAMAN

The Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, at its last board of directors meeting, elected Walter R. Seamon, former president of the Highland Savings and Loan Association, and Mrs. John F. Wadlin, former treasurer of the Highland Savings and Loan Association, as directors to the board of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, as of January 1 at which time the merger of the two associations will become effective.

Active Civically

Mr. Seaman became president of the Highland Savings and Loan Association in 1954, having been a director of the association for the past 20 years. He has been active for a great number of years in Highland and throughout Ulster County. He started business in 1917 with electrical appliances and has been carrying on for the past 18 years in the hardware business in Highland on Vineyard Avenue. He is a director of the First National Bank of Marlboro, and a trustee of the Highland Cemetery Association at the present time. Mr. Seaman has participated actively in community affairs, having been first vice president of the Lions Club in Highland, past president of the Chamber of Commerce, former president of the Cancer Society of the County of Ulster, and former chairman of the Board of Child Welfare of the County of Ulster. Hopes Mania Ends in '62

Twist Is Obscene To Ginger Rogers

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Resist the twist, urges Ginger Rogers, who hopes the dance mania will ring out with the old year.

Such a prospect is not likely, but at least Ginger can raise her voice in dissent. And who is better qualified? Wasn't she the pretty half of the most successful dance team of all time?

Strong Protest

She puts her protest pretty strongly: "The twist is ungraceful, vulgar and exhibitionism personified. I think it's terrible."

There are those who agree with her, but they are in the minority. The rest of the nation has gone twist-nutty. Three feature films on the craze are flooding the theaters. The ailing night club industry has taken a twist for the better and is staging a comeback with the new dance.

"I think it's a scandal," Ginger reiterates. "It is the most obscene dance I've ever seen, worse than the shimmy ever was. If people realized how bad they looked while doing the twist, they would not do it."

Ginger said she was introduced to the twist on the golf course, of all places. She met a friend who said her 20-year-old son had been out until 6 a.m. doing the dance, which employs maximum movement of the hips and minimum of the feet.

With Dinah Tonight

"She demonstrated it for me and I was astonished!" Ginger said. "I was embarrassed for all of us — my husband (William Marshall), a girl friend and the three young caddies. And for the woman, too, because she didn't realize how obscene she looked."

Ginger will be dancing tonight, not the twist, but a soft shoe with Dinah Shore and George Burns on Dinah's NBC outing. She is often asked about a reunion with her famed partner Fred Astaire.

"I'd like nothing better," she said. "My husband was talking about it recently and said he was going to discuss it with Fred.

"But then I read an item that Fred Astaire would not discuss three things in interviews: His age, Ginger Rogers, Barrie Chase. So I told my husband that maybe it wasn't such a good idea."

Long Suit Is Not Established

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In this hand from the 1931 match, I have purposely omitted names. South played his two no-trump contract very well and made it, but really good defense would have beaten him.

East won the first trick with the queen of hearts and returned the suit. South held off till the third lead. Then he led a small diamond from dummy. This was won by his queen after East played low. A diamond return to the ace disclosed the bad break in that suit and South led dummy's ten of spades. East played the king. South won with the ace and led the jack which West took with the queen.

Now West cashed the last two hearts and shifted to the eight of clubs. Dummy played the nine, East the ten, and South the ace. South cashed the nine of spades and East was squeezed. He had to unguard the queen of clubs in order to retain a high diamond and South made the last two tricks with dummy's king and jack of clubs.

Where did the defense go wrong? The fault was West's. He should have let the jack of spades hold. Then when he did get the lead he would be able to take enough tricks to set the hand.

Quits Lottery Control

NEW YORK (AP)—David Rogers of Brooklyn has resigned from the State Lottery Control Commission, saying the amount of work involved is too great for the pay.

Members of the commission are paid $58.22 a day while on the job. The chairman, a full-time official, receives $19,500 a year.

Rogers' term would have run to March 1, 1965. Rogers, a member of the Liberal Party, was one of the original members appointed to the nine-member commission in 1958 by Democratic former Gov. W. Averell Harriman.

In parts of northern New England and eastern Canada the world's increasingly warmer weather has killed birch trees and spruce and balsam have suffered.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— We'll soon start on a brave new year. And what's in store for television viewers in 1962?

Probably not much that is very different from 1961, but this dreamer wishes it would be the year when:

The reporter-type heroes of "Follow the Sun" and "Target: the Corrupters" sit down at a typewriter and actually pound out a story.

Toody and Muldoon of "Car 54, Where Are You?" are taken out of their prowl car and returned to pounding a beat.

The housewife picks the pile of laundry washed by Brand X as the whitest.

Chet Huntley forgets to chuckle and say "Good night, David," at the end of the broadcast.

Perry Mason gets hailed before the bar association for suborning a witness.

Bob Hope and company do a sketch without breaking up at some inside joke.

A child who was one of the losers in the toothpaste test explains that, although he got a lot of cavities, the paste he used tasted great.

Well, one can dream, can't one?

Howard K. Smith has finally alighted, with mike and typewriter, at ABC as a member of vice president Jim Hagerty's expanding news staff. Smith, who quit CBS recently in a dispute over his freedom to comment, will soon start a weekly half-hour program of news and analysis on Wednesday nights, 7:30-8 (Eastern Standard Time).

Recommended week-end viewing: Tonight — "Dinah Shore Show," NBC, 9:30-10:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—with guests Ginger Rogers, Nat King Cole and George Burns.

Saturday—Blue and Gray All Star Football game, NBC, 1:40-conclusion — from Montgomery, Ala.

Sunday — National Football League championship, Green Bay Packers vs. New York Giants, NBC, 1:45-conclusion; "Meet the Press," NBC, 6-6:30—Allen Dulles former director of the CIA, guest; "Highways of Melody," NBC, 10-11—with Jane Morgan and Gordon MacRae; New Year's Eve shows, CBS and NBC, 11:15-12:15—with music by, respectively, Guy Lombardo and Xavier Cugat.

Monday—Tournament of Roses parade, CBS and NBC, 11:30 a.m.-1:45 p.m.; Orange Bowl football game, ABC, 12:40-conclusion; Cotton Bowl football game, CBS, 1:45-conclusion; Sugar Bowl football game, NBC, 1:45-conclusion; Rose Bowl football game, NBC, 1:45-conclusion.

Six College Cage Tourneys To Crown Champions Tonight

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Six major tournament champions will be crowned tonight, the forerunners of a solid score of kings who will have survived college basketball's 1961 edition of holiday madness by late Saturday night.

It's Temple vs. Miami (Fla.) in the Hurricane classic at Miami; Houston vs. Bowling Green in the All-College at Oklahoma City; Florida vs. Virginia Tech in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; Texas Western vs. New Mexico in the Sun Carnival at El Paso, Tex.; Santa Clara vs. St. Mary's (Calif.) in the West Coast Athletic Conference tourney at San Francisco.

A major college unbeaten list that hovered at 10 only four days ago has been chopped to five—with only Ohio State, Villanova, Mississippi State, DePaul and Seton Hall left. The first four all are involved in tough tournament action the next 36 hours and by Sunday Seton Hall, which didn't have a tournament commitment, could be the only one left.

Suffers First Loss

Third-ranked Duquesne and touted Dayton suffered the first losses of the season Thursday night—the Dukes falling before rugged Villanova by a whopping 75-53 in the semifinals of the Quaker City tournament at Philadelphia. Dayton was whipped by Wisconsin, 105-93 in a semifinal game of the Holiday Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Top-ranked Ohio State, the only other unbeaten in action, pushed its new winning streak to nine—turning back UCLA 105-84 in the semifinals of the Los Angeles classic. Southern California's fourth-ranked Trojans will challenge the mighty Bucks in the final Saturday night. The Trojans (9-1) advanced with an impressive 85-65 whipping of Utah in the other semifinal.

Mississippi State (7-0) risks its record in the Sugar Bowl tonight against Maryland in a doubleheader also matching Louisville and LSU. DePaul (6-0) goes against St. Bonaventure in part of a Motor City doubleheader that also pits Detroit against winless Syracuse.

In the Poinsetta, it's Arkansas vs. Clemson and Georgia Tech vs Furman; in the Evansville Holiday, it's host Evansville against Yale and Pitt against Tennessee; and in the Richmond Invitational, host Richmond against Georgetown (D.D.) and VMI against George Washington.

Other developments Thursday night:

Bearcats Advance

Holiday Festival at New York—Cincinnati, the favorite, beat LaSalle 64-56 and will play Wisconsin, upset winner over Dayton, in Saturday's final.

Gator at Jacksonville—Florida edged Navy 68-63 and Virginia Tech made up a 17-point deficit for a 79-78 upset of Vanderbilt. Final tonight.

Big Eight at Kansas City—Oklahoma edged Kansas 61-60 and Iowa State downed Colorado 62-52 to join Wednesday winners Kansas State and Missouri in tonight's semifinals.

Far West at Portland — Idaho whipped Portland 61-50 and Oregon toppled Michigan State 71-59; joining Wednesday winners Oregon State and Washington State in semis.

All-College at Oklahoma City—Bowling Green surprised Wichita, only team to beat Cincinnati so far, 69-68 to reach tonight's final against Houston. Houston beat Utah State 51-46.

Gulf South at Shreveport—Hamline beat Northwestern Louisiana 73-66 and defending champ South Carolina edged Memphis State 79-78; joining Mississippi Southern and Centenary in semis.

Sun Carnival at El Paso — New Mexico beat New Mexico State 80-76 in double overtime to reach tonight's final against Texas Western, 70-46 conqueror of Baylor.

Quaker City at Philadelphia — Viallanova, now 10-0 after upset of Duquesne, plays Iowa in Saturday final. Hawks beat Penn, 72-64.

Tourney Finals Set; KHS Hosts Pleasant

Kingston High cagers will seek revenge against a tough Mont Pleasant of Schenectady team at the Kate Walton Field House and finals of two tournaments are slated at various sites tonight.

Saugerties will aim for a third straight championship in its own invitation tourney when the Sawyers host Albany Academy at the SHS gym. The feature tilt will begin at 8:30 after a consolation contest between Middletown and Cairo.

Roosevelt of Hyde Park and Valley Central will lock horns for the New Paltz Central School champinship after a preliminary tilt between New Paltz and Red Hook for third place.

Kingston, which was beaten, 67-44, by Mont Pleasant on Wednesday night, should find it equally difficult to beat the upstaters here. The Raiders have a formidable starting five and showed good height and great speed in their first meeting. John Falvey will not see action for the Maroon but he's expected to suit up next week against Our Lady of Lourdes. The jayvee tilt is slated to begin at 6:30 and the Pleasant junior varsity is favored to take its seventh straight verdict.

Upstate Roundup

Bonnies to Play DePaul In Motor City Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A clash tonight between St. Bonaventure and unbeaten DePaul in the Motor City basketball tournament in Detroit tops a heavy holiday schedule for Upstate teams.

Sixteen teams are competing in nine tournaments.

Cornell will meet Drake in the finals of the Queen City invitational Saturday night at Buffalo. St. Joseph's of Philadelphia faces Canisius in the consolation game.

The Big Red downed host Canisius, 75-62, and Drake whipped St. Joseph's, 78-55, in opening round games Thursday night.

Niagara lost to Wyoming, 69-59, in the Quaker City tournament at Philadelphia.

Rochester edged Colby, 88-86, in the Down-East Classic at Bangor, Maine.

Colgate was walloped by Loyola, 93-54, in the Illinois Holiday Tournament at Chicago.

The University of Buffalo bowed to Assumption, 59-42, in the Springfield, Mass., Invitational.

Siena Scores

Siena downed Rensselaer Poly, 36-29, and Alfred edged Albany State, 61-60, in the Capital City Round-Robin at Albany.

St. Lawrence rallied to defeat Kenyon, 65-62, and Union whipped Hamilton, 83-67, in the Union College Holiday tournament at Schenectady.

In the Rochester Invitational Tech Tournament, Illinois Tech ripped Rochester Tech, 101-68.

Broome Tech, the host, shaded St. Leo of Florida, 55-53, and Erie Tech edged Okolona of Mississippi, 68-66, in overtime, in the Broome Tech Christmas tournament at Binghamton.

Cornell, which lost its first game of the season this week to Bradley, went ahead in the first half and staved off a late drive by Canisius.

Gerry Szachara of Cornell and Tom Chester of Canisius were high-scorers with 16 each.

Niagara pulled to within two points of Wyoming early in the second half at Philadelphia but the winners pulled away to a 16-point spread midway in the half.

Tonight's schedule includes:

Motor City—St. Bonaventure vs DePaul, Syracuse vs Detroit.

Union Holiday Tourney — Union vs Kenyon, St. Lawrence vs Hamilton.

Broome Tech Christmas Tournament — Broome Tech vs Erie Tech (final).

Pine Bush Wins 1st Tilt, 57-42, Over M-W Club

Pine Bush cagers won their first game of the season, 57-42, in the consolation game of the Monroe-Woodbury cage tournament last night. The host school was the victim.

Cornwall won the title with a victory over Wallkill but the score wasn't called in to this newspaper.

The Bushmen, who were held to 18 points in the first round losing effort, had the edge all the way as juniors Dan Biedermann and John Padden contributed 18 points each.

Syracuse Bows Without Schayes

Dolph Schayes is sitting on the sidelines, but he is still proving his value to the Syracuse Nationals of the National Basketball Association, because without him, the Nats are in bad shape.

Schayes suffered fractures on cheekbone and nose in a game against Philadelphia and will be out a week.

He didn't play Sunday night and the Los Angeles Lakers whipped the Nats, 119-111. Thursday night in Syracuse, the same Lakers polished off the Nats again, 121-114.

THE JACKPOT

Starts Tonight

Weekend of Top Grid Activity Seen With Many Bowl Contests

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The annual post-season college football hoopla resumes tonight with the Tangerine Bowl, picks up momentum Saturday in a card featuring the Gator Bowl and East-West games and will be climaxed on New Year's Day with the big four — The Rose, Cotton, Sugar and Orange Bowls.

The Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., will pit Middle Tennessee (7-3) of the Ohio Valley Conference against Lamar Tech (7-2-1) of the Lone Star Conference.

The Gator Bowl, sending Georgia Tech (7-3) against Penn State (7-3) at Jacksonville, Fla., headlines Saturday's games. Also on tap are the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco, the Blue-Gray contest in Montgomery, Ala., and the Sun Bowl, in El Paso, Texas pitting Wichita (8-2) against Villanova (7-2).

Minnesota (7-2) will take on UCLA (7-3) in the Rose Bowl. The Cotton Bowl will present Mississippi (9-1) against Texas (9-1). The Sugar Bowl will have Alabama (10-0) and Arkansas (8-2) while the Orange Bowl will send Louisiana State (9-1) against Colorado (9-1).

Engineers Favored

The Gator Bowl lists Georgia Tech as a 3-point favorite, the Engineers are a defense-minded outfit and their big problem will be stop Penn State's Galen Hall.

Nittany Lions' Coach Rip Engle hinted that Hall would be doing a lot of throwing against the Engineers. Georgia Tech Coach Bobby Dodd admitted that he was mighty impressed with Hall.

"He can beat you in a number of ways," he observed. "I would rate him as the same type as Alabama's Pat Trammel."

The game will be televised by CBS starting at 2:15 p.m., EST, and is expected to draw a crowd of about 50,000.

The East, featuring All America backs Ernie Davis of Syracuse and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, is the favorite in the Shrine Game.

But the West line outweighs the East by about 20 pounds per man.

"I'm afraid," moaned East Coach Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame, "that instead of holes to plow through, we're liable to find nothing but crevices we'll have to try to crawl through."

A capacity crowd of 60,000 is expected to be on hand for the opening kickoff at 5 p.m., EST. NBC will televise the game.

Weather Could Decide

The North is the favorite to chalk up its fourth victory in a row in the Blue-Gray game, but the weather will be a factor. A cold wave hit Montgomery Thursday night and that could cause even more trouble for the South, which is banking on speed and maneuverability, along with the passing of Bobby Hunt of Auburn and Don Fuell of Mississippi Southern.

A frozen field would be a big advantage to the North, which outweighs the South in both the line and backfield. Dave Sarette of Syracuse will handle the North's passing.

The game will be televised by NBC, starting at 1:45 p.m., EST.

Wichita is the slight choice over Villanova in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex., mainly because of its wide-open, razzle-dazzle pro-style game. Quarterbacks Alex Zyskowski and Bill Stagnarone, both 19-year-old Juniors, are the big offensive threats of the Shockers, and Missouri Valley champions.

Villanova is primarily a defense outfit that held the opposition to 71.1 yards per game during the regular season. Halfback Larry Clueck and quarterbacks Richie Richman and Ted Aceto are the Wildcat offense leaders.

The game will be televised by ABC starting at 4 p.m., EST.

Tackle Shop Has Tourney Contest In Poughkeepsie

Winner by forfeit in their first game, Ray's Tackle Shop players of Kingston will play the Pine Plains Bombardiers tonight in the semi-finals at Lincoln Center in Poughkeepsie. The Tackle Shop-Bombardier game will begin at 8 o'clock. The Neighborhood Service Organization will play the Westchester All-Stars in the second tilt.

The Bombardiers feature Bill Smith, former St. Peter's College star, who was with the N. Y. Knicks early this season. He had 27 points in the club's opening victory over Fishkill.

Coach Ward Dunham will bring several local stars to the contest, including Ronnie Scheffel, Joe Klonowski, Chick Boice, Marty Kaye and others. It promises to be a good attraction.

Winners of tonight's games will meet Saturday for the championship.

Parents of Davis To Get New Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first $5,000 of Ernie Davis' bonus will pay off the mortgage on the home of Ernie's mother, Mrs. Marie Radford of Elmira, N.Y.

Davis, Syracuse star and the first Negro winner of the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding football player, accepted a $15,000 bonus check Thursday on signing a $65,000 three-year contract with the Cleveland Browns. It was the highest contract ever announced for a National Football League rookie.

At the signing ceremony, Arthur B. Modell, the Cleveland club's board chairman, declared, "we know Ernie is going to make it, and make it real big."

Davis is equally confident that he would succeed in NFL competition.

"As a Heisman Trophy winner I believe I am one of the best, and I want to play with the best," Davis said. "A football player has pride."

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ,...

by MURRAY

There was a report running through the South that Bowden Wyatt would become athletic director at Tennessee . . . as Gen. Bob Neyland retires . . . with Murray Warmath, an old Vol, coming down from Minnesota to do the coaching. . . . Otherwise, what was Warmath doing in Knoxville on a hurry-up trip in early December?

A guy asked effusive Dick Lynch, the New York Giants' corner back, what makes Jimmy Brown of Cleveland so tough to stop. . . . Lynch cracked, "If you put a saddle on him, I'd put my money on him, too." . . .

Y. A. Tittle-ates: "The Giants are like no club I've ever seen. They let you set your own pace. You even take care of your own bags on trips. That's all I did for a couple of weeks—wonder where my bag was. You're on your own. They treat you like adults. I like it—you can't criticize a trapper who's got the skins on the wall." . . .

In the season finale, when Coach Allie Sherman ordered the players not to look at the scoreboard to check the Philadelphia Eagles' game, Tittle shrugged, "That's like not looking at a rattler at your feet." . . .

Al Derogatis, the super scout of the Giants (he sold them on Sam Huff over Bruce Bosley of West Virginia because he saw the way the Mountaineers responded to Huff on a bus trip), frowns on the no-cut contracts, though New York has eight now. . . . "I turned one down when it was offered to me," said the former Duke All-America tackle, "because if you don't think you can make it, don't play . . . my family was on relief!" . . .

How Darrell Royal of Texas soothes the faculty and reconciles its members to the football program: he invites three different professors to sit on the Texas bench at all home games. . . .

Year's Review: The things we prefer to remember are a June prediction in this column that Houston's Lou Rymkus wouldn't last it out . . . an August report that Cholly Dressen was through at Milwaukee . . . the same month's assessment that the acquisition of Tittle and Del Shofner meant title contention for the Giants . . . that Roy Sievers would go to the Phillies (he did) . . . that Ernie Davis would win the Heisman Award—in September yet . . . and a pre-Series report that Mickey Mantle's hip was in bad shape after drug injections. . . .

Things we'd like to forget: a prediction there'd be a college football betting scandal—there wasn't . . . that Roman Gabriel might swing to baseball—he signed with the Los Angeles Rams . . . that Marv Breeding of all the Baltimore Oriole sophs probably wouldn't slump—he did . . . that Del Webb and Dan Topping were on the splits—you'd never know it. . . .

Sandy Stephens, Minnesota's All-America quarterback, drafted by Cleveland, wants to remain a signal caller in pro ranks, despite his running ability and dubious reports on his passing. . . . Coach Paul Brown might go along with him on the basis that Sandy didn't get enough passing practice in college to sharpen his wing. . . . Forty Niner slotback R. C. Owens, who played out his option, is fingering a better than $20,000 per bid from Canada. . . .

You'll never see a more comprehensive championship game preview than that turned out by NFL publicist Jim Kensil—26 pages worth . . . which revealed that the first title game in 1933 between the Chicago Bears and Giants featured Bronko Nagurski—as a passer! . . .

Odds'n'ends: Although he's qualified to teach school, New York Titan receiver Don Maynard will be plumbing back home in El Paso this winter—because he can make $4 an hour. . . . New drum-beater Bob Chandler of the Philadelphia Phillies has two sisters named Dorothy . . . that's right—one of them used to be Marjorie Chandler but changed her name to Dorothy Collins when she became a singer. . . . Three months before the season, Steve Van Buren, one-time Philadelphia fullback, was telling people that Sonny Jurgensen, who's gotten some all-pro acclaim, was a better quarterback than Norm Van Brocklin. . . .

Between you'n'me, with the legalities cleared for a TV package of all NFL games, and CBS in line to get it, one team owner threatens to jam the plan . . . insists he wants to sign with NBC as a loner. . . .

Wildcats Have Weight Advantage Over Wichita

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Villanova has the weight advantage and a strong defense for Saturday's Sun Bowl football game against Wichita's tricky Shockers.

It will be the 27th renewal of the bowl game when the Missouri Valley Conference champion Shockers (8-2) take on one of the East's better independents in Villanova (7-2).

Kickoff for the nationally televised (ABC) match will be at 4 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time).

Coach Alex Bell's Philadelphia-based Wildcats will have a 17-18 pound per man advantage over Wichita.

Villanova's forte is a stiff defense which permitted opponents only 173.2 yards total offense a game this season and limited them to 71.1 yards per game on the ground.

Wichita, which always came up with something new for each opponent, is playing its final game under Coach Hank Foldberg.

A pair of pro-type quarterbacks run Foldberg's pro-type offense which puts the emphasis on passing.

Chris Gallo Is Invitational Classic Loop Leader With 711

Chris Gallo, who has emerged from an early season slump, continued his superlative bowling with a 711 triple last night in the Invitational Classic League. The Garraghan Oil anchorman, one of the top area keglers, rapped games of 233, 243 and 235 for his total.

The Invitational Classic produced 11 triples of 600 or better as the bowlers ended the old year with some hefty hitting.

Those hitting above 600 were Vern Van Dusen 197-211-213-621, Tim Schussler 202-233-618, Joe Micozzi 199-236-178-613, Lou Pulcastro 205-209-193-607, Randy Kelder 171-226-235-632, John Ferraro 188-215-209-612, George Glaser 223-209-170-602, Vince Carpino 186-223-224-633,, Ray Hendricks 212-209-194-615, Jack Ferraro 235-206-210-651, Angie Ferraro 215-184-211-610.

The IBM DeWitt League produced a pair of 600s with Ray Borg slamming 200-209-199-608 and Jack Mountford, a 158 average kegler, getting 225-200-175 for 600 on the nose, a career first.

Ned Samrany shot 194-236-187-617 and veteran Harold Broskie scored 209-189-210-608 in the Mixed Foursome League. Bob Hasbrouck rapped 600 in Mannie's Barber Shop League with games of 216, 190 and 194.

The Hercules League recorded a trio of 600s as Joe Barrett scored 224-166-236-626, James Kennedy 211-173-232-616 and Vince Clearwater 180-216-197-600.

Vern VanDusen made it a pair of them as he shot 224-181-212-617 to go with his 621 in the Invitational Classic.

Gophers Picked in Rose Bowl

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota over UCLA: Minnesota's Golden Gophers lost considerable prestige as they went down to a 17-7 defeat in the Rose Bowl against Washington a year ago. They are banking on Sandy Stephens to return the luster to their crown at the expense of UCLA on New Year's Day.

Texas over Mississippi: The Rebels from the Southeastern Conference poured it on against Texas in the 1958 Sugar Bowl, winning by 39-7. Not only do the Longhorns have good memories but they also have Jimmy Saxton and Mike Cotton when they meet Monday in the Cotton Bowl.

Georgia Tech over Penn State: The Georgia swifties will get loose often enough to overcome Penn State's power in Saturday's Gator Bowl showpiece.

Alabama over Arkansas: Alabama has permitted each of its 10 previous rivals this season only 2.2 points a game. It also has Pat Trammell and Mike Fracchia. Arkansas counters with Lance Alworth in Monday's Sugar Bowl show.

Louisiana State over Colorado: LSU beat Mississippi and also crushed Tulane, 62-0. Colorado had to struggle for most of its points during the season and will have to do the same thing in Monday's Orange Bowl affair.

East over West: No matter who loses or wins this Saturday's game in San Francisco, the real winners will be crippled kids in the Shrine Hospital.

Blue over Gray: A fourth straight victory for the northern stars in Montgomery's Saturday attraction.

Wichita over Villanova: The Kansans' attack too much for Villanova in Saturday's Sun Bowl.

Middle Tennessee over Lamar Tech: In the Tangerine Bowl Saturday.

Rec League Has Two Games Set For Monday Night

Two games are slated in the Kingston Rec Basketball league on New Years night as action continues after a week layoff. Byrne Chevies will play Trailways Cafeteria in the 7 o'clock opener and then Adolphs of Red Hook will collide with Ray's Tackle Shop of Kingston in the nightcap.

With two weeks of play completed, indications are that a good race will take place with all five clubs having some top notch stars.

Chicago, Tapers Win ABL Contests

Victories by the Chicago Majors and Washington Tapers have tightened up the Eastern Division race of the American Basketball League.

The third-place Majors defeated the pace-setting Pittsburgh Rens 127-105 and the fourth-place Tapers turned back the runnerup Cleveland Pipers 123-106 Thursday night in Eastern action.

Chicago moved to within 3½ games of first place and Washington climbed to within 4½ games of the top. Cleveland remained one game off the pace.

In the Western Division the front-running Kansas City Steers downed the Hawaii Chiefs 121-93 while the second-place Los Angeles Jets bowed to the San Francisco Saints 104-103.

Green Bay Running Featured Against Passing of Giants

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay has the runners. New York has the passers. That is the story in the nutshell of the National Football League championship game to be played Sunday on the frozen steppes of northern Wisconsin.

The team with the best snow tires may be the winner. It was 15 below Thursday and finally warmed up to zero. It was supposed to climb to the dizzy height of 10 above today with some snow flurries. The weather bureau guardedly looks for a warming trend by Sunday. Maybe the mid 20s.

A Firm Turf

The City Stadium field is covered with a layer of straw and a tarpaulin. Vince Lombardi, Green Bay coach, said the grass is green and the turf firm underneath the cover.

Lombardi thinks a firm field on which regular football cleats can be used will help his team. He feels a frozen or slippery turf would help the Giants because it would make it more difficult to cover their pass receivers.

The Packers attack is built around fullback Jim Taylor, still bothered by a sore back, and Paul Hornung, the league's leading scorer who was able to get away from the Army for a full week of practice.

Allie Sherman, in his rookie year as Giants' head coach, has developed an interesting offense to go with the Giants famed "11 hangmen" defense. The passing of Y.A. Tittle or Charlie Conerly to Del Shofner, Kyle Rote, Joe Walton and Alex Webster is the main threat.

Joel Wells, a rookie with experience in Canada, teams up with fullback Webster in the Giants running game with rookie Bob Gaiters an occasional threat.

Masked Goalie Aids Red Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A masked man up for his third National Hockey League trial in four years gave the Detroit Red Wings a 2-2 tie with Chicago in the National Hockey League's only action Thursday night.

Claude LaForge brought Detroit the equalizer near the mid-point of the second period when he slapped in a pass from Bruce MacGregor.

LaForge wears a mask to protest his right cheekbone, broken Dec. 5 in an American Hockey League game while he was playing for the Hershey Bears.

ND Field Goal Is Voted Oddity Of Sports Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rarity to rank with Cornell's famous "fifth down" against Dartmouth and Roy Riegels' wrong way run in the Rose Bowl was voted the college football oddity of 1961 today in the Annual Associated Press year-end poll.

Notre Dame's game-winning field goal against Syracuse on Nov. 18 at South Bend after time had run out was acclaimed the outstanding oddity in a landslide —by 125 of the 151 sports experts who participated in the balloting.

The decisive Notre Dame kick was set up when Syracuse was charged with roughing on a missed field goal by Joe Perkowski as the final seconds ticked off. Syracuse was handed a 15-yard penalty and Perkowski tried again, hitting this time from 41 yards out for a 17-15 Notre Dame victory.

matter of Fact

When the marathon runner arrives at the Olympic Games carrying a flaming torch, it signals the start of the Olympics. The modern marathon race was revived for the 1896 Olympic Games. It commemorates the historic endurance of Pheidippides, who in 490 B.C. ran from the plains of Marathon to Athens, a distance of 22 miles and 1,470 yards, to tell of the triumph of the Greeks over the Persians.

Miami County Has New Scare—Snow, But It Wasn't

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Weather Bureau forecasters were deluged with callers reporting snow in several sections of Dade (Miami) County Thursday. Finally two weathermen went out to check although the temperature was in the mid-50s.

No snow.

"It was just large clouds of fine ash from dumps, blown by brisk winds through cold, moisture-filled air," the bureau said. "The ash absorbed water and melted on contact but it wasn't snow'

Retiring From Bank

George C. Bode

After January 1, patrons for the Kingston Trust Company's Central Branch will miss the pleasant smile of George C. Bode, assistant treasurer, who is retiring after more than 40 years in the banking field.

In 1962 and henceforth it will be woodworking and gardening for the cheery, witty fellow who lives at 80 Moore Street with Mrs. Bode, the former Louise S. Studt.

A host of friends wish him happiness in his retirement, continued good luck with his peonies and roses, and plenty of wood for his workshop.

Prior to going into banking, Mr. Bode was employed by the Coykendall enterprises in the "big building" at 22 Ferry Street.

Several years later he went with the First National Bank of Rondout in 1920. He served as customer's bookkeeper and teller, under the late Louis Beeres, cashier, until the bank's voluntary liquidation in 1943.

After that he joined the Central Branch of Kingston Trust Company, and in 1950 was named an assistant treasurer.

Stratton's Candidacy

Editor, The Freeman:

On the front page of yesterday's Freeman, there appeared rather prominently an A. P. newstory, announcing that Samuel S. Stratton had announced his candidacy for Governor on the Democratic ticket.

There also was printed in the same story a diatribe against Stratton by the Republican State Chairman, Judson Morhouse. "Stratton is a slick, glib, political pitch man . . . a nimble demagogue who doubletalks . . . a hawker of half-truths . . ."

History books tell us that Washington and Lincoln were also so slandered by their own contemporaries. Why it is necessary, prudent, or even politically wise in this day and age for the leader of one political party to thus characterize an announced candidate of another political party is beyond me to understand. If the Chairman of my party would thus speak about a candidate of the Republican party, I would want to hide my head in shame.

I have known Samuel Stratton for many years. He and I debated the issues of the day with Mayor Stang and Mrs. Allen at the Washington School some years ago. He did not then act the part of "demagogue" nor has he since in his public appearances or in his work in Congress. On the contrary, he has been a conscientious member of the House of Representatives who represented his constituents so well that they sent him back for a second term by an overwhelming majority.

One of the great problems of our day is that able, intelligent citizens do not seek, nor will they accept, public office. One of the main reasons is the understandable desire of a man to spare his family the poison pen technique of the Judson Morhouses!

If Samuel Stratton has failed his constituents in some respect, it is Mr. Morhouse's duty, as oppos

Florida Chilled By 40s Readings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Zero and freezing weather enveloped most of the eastern half of the nation today.

Temperatures edged to near zero in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee. Freezing weather knifed to near the Gulf Coast and readings dropped into the 40s in extreme southern Florida.

Some relief from the biting cold in the Midwest was indicated but no immediate, general break in the late December cold spell appeared.

Cloudy skies and snow flurries in the arctic air across the Midwest kept temperatures from hitting the far below zero marks reported Thursday morning. However, they were near zero and a little below in many areas.

The Weather Bureau reported the warming trend will spread across the central part of the country but forecast frost or freezing temperatures into southern Florida by tonight.

Ellenville Man Held for Break At Drug Store

A 25 year old Ellenville man is being held in $2,000 bail today on a charge of burglary third degree in connection with a Christmas Eve break at Miller & Levine Drug Store on Market Street in Ellenville.

According to Chief Abe Rand of the Ellenville police Harold May of 103 Canal Street was arrested Thursday night by New York City Port of Authority police on a warrant issued by Ellenville police. He was taken before Ellenville Police Justice Frank Decker early today and ordered held for an examination on Tuesday, Jan. 2. He was committed to Ulster County Jail when he couldn't raise $2,000 bail.

The drug store was entered through a rear window on Christmas Eve and some $70 in cash, cameras, films and cosmetics were stolen.

Investigating the case were Chief Rand, Assistant Chief Arthur Mantone of the Ellenville Department and Investigator Charles Teelon of the Ellenville State Police Barracks.

Hercules Official Retiring

James Samuel Sorrels, assistant manager of Hercules Powder Company's Joplin, Mo., explosives sales office since 1947, will retire Jan. 1, 1962, under the provisions of the company's pension plan. Sorrels joined Hercules in March, 1928, as a salesman in Fort Smith, Ark., for the Explosives Department under the Joplin branch office. In 1935 he was named special representative for the Joplin office, with headquarters in Joplin, and he was appointed assistant manager there in 1947.

11 Airlines Get Approval to Hike Fares 3 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized the nation's 11 major airlines to increase fares by 3 per cent on a temporary basis—an increase that would cost air travelers an estimated $54 million a year.

But it told the airlines that higher rates alone would not solve their financial problems. "The industry's economic problems must be attacked on a broad front of which load factor improvement is the cornerstone," it said.

The board also urged the carriers to study cost-cutting proposals, including charging passengers for alcoholic drinks, and to give the "closest scrutiny" to special fares—such as family rates—or discounts now available.

The CAB approved the higher rates Thursday.

The carriers have said they expect to lose about $30 million this year.

It was assumed that all 11 trunk airlines would adopt the full 3 per cent increase but first they must give 30 days notice.

Any increases would expire after six months.

Hatfield Urges Wagner Speak Up On Dock Cargo

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The chairman of the legislative committee on New York City docks says he was "shocked to learn that federal policies have caused the diversion" of government shipments to other coastal ports.

Sen. Ernest I. Hatfield of Poughkeepsie said Thursday Mayor Robert F. Wagner should demand of President Kennedy that cargoes, such as armed services material and grain for underprivileged nations, not be diverted from New York because of rail differentials, policy determinations or more aggressive action by competing ports.

Hatfield, a Republican, said there is a lack of coordinated effort by the Port of New York Authority and the city department of Marine and Aviation. The Port Authority has reported a loss of over 8 per cent in general cargo since 1960, he said.

Haluska Gets Key Post

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. John J. Haluska, the fiery Democrat who played a key role in one of the 1961 Legislature's stormiest controversies, will head the General Assembly's important Local Government Commission in 1962 and 1963.

The Cambria County lawmaker was elected to the key post Thursday, replacing Republican Sen. George B. Stevenson of Lock Haven.

The election practically doubles Haluska's power on capitol hill since he already serves as chairman of the Senate's Committee on Local Government.

New, Higher Interest Rate Makes Saving More Attractive

There's a Happy New Year ahead for all New York State savers.

New, higher interest-dividend rates authorized by the State Banking Board mean depositors at New York State Mutual Savings Banks can earn even more generous returns on their deposits.

Kingston Savings Bank, always among the first to act on behalf of its depositors in electing to give them the maximum benefits permitted, anticipates paying a total rate of 4% a year for the quarterly period beginning January 1, 1962. This total rate consists of 3¾% regular interest-dividend on all savings, and ¼% special extra dividend on every dollar on deposit one year or longer.

Other Kingston Savings Bank extras still apply: Your money goes to work immediately—that is, interest-dividends are allowed from date of deposit. In addition, there are bonus days each month. For example, money deposited by January 15 earns interest-dividends from January 1.

IMPORTANT

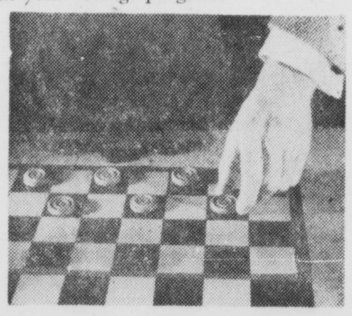

Interest rates on your savings generally will be higher in 1962. But, depending upon the type of bank or financial institution in which you have your savings, there are certain variations. Some of these sound pretty good, but must be analyzed carefully. We think it is important for you to know:

At Kingston Savings Bank

- The 4% rate applies to every dollar on deposit one year or longer, not just to multiples of $100 or to $500 minimum.
- It applies automatically to all or any part of your savings when it has been on deposit with us for one year. This includes the money you deposited one year ago and left with us. This automatic computation entitles you to the maximum rate — no certificates to buy, no installments to meet.
- The basic rate for money on deposit less than two years is 3¾%. Some banks do not mention their basic rate for "new" money.
- You can add or withdraw money in any amount over $1 at any time, and still receive interest-dividends on the remaining balance. No need to deal in "round numbers" or multiples of $100. This is what we mean by Immediate Availability.
- Your money is safe and insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U. S. Government.
- Interest-Dividends are compounded and credited four times a year.

Whatever the benefits, however, you cannot gain from them unless you take the first step. Resolve now to save — open an account or add to your present account at Kingston Savings Bank. There is no better time than the present to begin your savings program.

Hearings Coming on School Aid

To Talk Increase Of $96.5 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Diefendorf Committee will seek the opinion of taxpayers, educators and others on a plan for a $96.5-million annual increase in state aid to education and a complete change in methods of distributing the funds.

The preliminary recommendations were drafted by the committee staff. The committee itself has yet to act before submitting its proposals to the 1962 Legislature.

Wouldn't Pass

Committee recommendations for permitting districts to levy sales taxes or property surtaxes on a regional basis would have little chance of passage if sent to the Legislature.

Charles H. Diefendorf of Buffalo, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on (Public) School Financing, said in releasing the staff report Thursday night that the committee planned "at least one public hearing where public reaction to the proposal may be aired."

He set no date.

It is most likely that the committee will be deluged with complaints that the recommendations are woefully inadequate and extravagantly wasteful.

To Weight Report

The official report submitted by the committee to the Legislature will be weighed for its political effects in the home areas of lawmakers, and, probably, revised upward before finally adopted.

The staff recommended a new formula under which state aid to districts would range from $200 to $450 per pupil depending on how that district's ratio of taxable real estate per pupil compared with the state average of $26,600 of full valuation per pupil.

Would Help Build

The state also would help pay, the cost of building schools.

The staff proposed that school districts be authorized to unite on a county-wide basis or in larger, multi-county units to levy 1 per cent sales taxes for schools or to set a surtax of $2.50 per $1,000 of valuation on top of existing school taxes.

The funds would be distributed to districts according to their enrollments. In this way, richer districts would help poorer ones in their areas.

Laid on Real Estate

At present, school taxes levied on real estate provide almost all of the $1 billion local share of the $1.8 billion now spent annually in the state on public education through high school. The state pays the $800 million with revenues from personal income and other taxes.

Under the present, foundation formula established more than 25 years ago, the state and local districts share a fixed cost of $389 a year per pupil in grades 1 through 6. The amount is higher for those in grades 7 through 12, lower for kindergarten.

The plan would take effect next September and, for the transition, each district would be guaranteed at least 5 per cent more aid than it now is receiving.

Fire Victims Are Supplied, Coming To City Residence

The Duffy family of ten, burned out of their Riffon home Wednesday afternoon have a place to live in Kingston, thanks to an offer by a Kingston attorney, Robert M. Ortale.

Mrs. John Duffy told the Freeman this morning that she, her husband and eight children, ranging in age from one year to 16, will move shortly into a house at 22 East Chestnut Street. She said she and her husband had accepted the Ortale offer after conferring with him Thursday night.

She commented today "Everybody has been just wonderful," when queried about donations. She said gifts of food, clothing and money had been received in sufficient quantities to tide the family over. However, she did say they have a furniture problem since practically all theirs was ruined in the blaze.

The Duffys, father, mother Eileen 16, Ralph 14, Kathleen 12, Michael 11, Mary Anne 7, John 5, Maureen 4 and Susan, aged one have been keeping temporary quarters at the Riffon Firehouse since the fire which wrecked their 11-room home. They plan to move to their new home as soon as they can obtain furnishings.

Duffy is employed as a truck driver for Forst Packing Company, Inc., 113 Abeel Street.

Laos Talks Collapse, New Try Is Indicated

VINTIANE, Laos (AP) — Another attempt to convene a meeting of Laos' three political princes to form a coalition government collapsed today.

Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, left Vienfiane for his rebel stronghold in the Plaine des Jarres, but a spokesman said new attempts would be made to hold a princely conference at a later date.

Talks Held Vital

"It has to be done," the Pathet Lao spokesman told newsmen.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, designated to head the proposed unity government, gave no indication whether he would also leave or whether he would remain and try to negotiate with Prince Boun Oum, the head of the conservative, pro-Western royal government in Vientiane.

Souphanouvong decided to return to the Plaine des Jarres after Boun Oum for the third day refused to sit down with the other two princes for joint talks on allocation of the posts in a neutralist coalition government.

The three Laotian princes dined amicably together Thursday night. Souvanna said then the atmosphere was "excellent" at the party but he reported no progress toward opening of negotiations.

Communists Favor Geneva

Soviet and Polish diplomats suggested privately that the next meeting be held in Geneva, where the rival princes would be under the direct influence of the 14 nations which are negotiating to prevent resumption of open warfare in Laos between Boun Oum's Western-backed army and the Communist-supported forces of Souphanouvong and of Souvanna Phouma.

Souvanna and Souphanouvong arrived in Vientiane Wednesday for their first meeting in two months with Boun Oum to discuss allocation of the posts in the coalition government all had agreed Souvanna would head. But Boun Oum gave the two other princes the brush-off, accused Souvanna of not being truly neutral and demanded government posts for his faction which the other two were certain to refuse.

West Envoys Appealed

Western diplomats were appaled by the unexpected turn, but Souvanna took a conciliatory tone Thursday. And Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, a staunch anti-Communist who is considered the backbone of Boun Oum's government, arranged Thursday night's dinner party.

The U.S. Embassy was believed to have brought considerable pressure on Boun Oum to get him to the dinner. But afterward Souvanna would only say that the rancor was "subsiding" and that "at least there is more hope than on the first day."

Wilson Widow Dies at 89 in Washington, D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the President who shaped the League of Nations, has died at the stately brick town house where she cared for her stricken husband until his death in 1924. She was 89.

The former First Lady, in failing health for more than a month, died Thursday night on the 105th anniversary of her husband's birth.

Stricken Thanksgiving Night

She was stricken with a respiratory ailment Thanksgiving night, and never regained her strength, her physician said. He said she also had suffered from a heart ailment for years.

Her condition worsened Thursday, then became critical during the afternoon. She died of "hypertensive heart disease with congestive failure," the doctor said.

Two nieces, Mrs. James Powell of New York and Mrs. John Moeling of Chicago, were at her bedside when death came at 10:45 p.m.

Mrs. Wilson married the President Dec. 18, 1915, when he was serving his first term. She was with him constantly after that, screened his callers and studied his papers after he suffered a stroke in 1919, and nursed him during his last years at the S Street house. The home was a gift from the President to Mrs. Wilson.

She was to have dedicated the new Woodrow Wilson bridge that crosses the Potomac River south of Washington, at ceremonies Thursday. Instead, Francis B. Sayre Jr., son-in-law of Wilson, unveiled the dedication plaque.

President Kennedy hailed Wilson on the anniversary of his birth as "shaper of the first working plan for international cooperation among all peoples of the world."

Stratton Assails Rocky's 'Papa Knows Best' Record

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller has "a persistent record of contempt and disdain for the views and the feelings of plain, down-to-earth, ordinary people," says Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Speaking Thursday night at a Monroe County Democratic committee dinner, Stratton said that "on issue after issue—tax boosts, home fallout shelters, New York City schools and Congressional reapportionment — Mr. Rockefeller has repeatedly taken the position that he knows better what the people of New York State should have than they do themselves."

Stratton, making his first major address since announcing his candidacy Tuesday, said important legislation had been handled on a "papa knows best basis" during Rockefeller's three years as governor.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, the unofficial Democratic party head in the state, was scheduled to attend the dinner, but a statewide snowstorm and negotiations to prevent a transit strike kept him in New York City.

Reading his prepared speech to the dinner by telephone, Wagner said:

"In 1962, Gov. Rockefeller is not going to be able to run against Carmine DeSapio and the Tammany tiger. We have eliminated that convenient opponent for him. As far as New York City is concerned, Gov. Rockefeller will have to run on his record..."

Wagner did not mention Stratton in his speech.

Also attending the dinner were Postmaster General Edward Day and the two men most prominently mentioned as possible successors to Michael Prendergast as state party chairman, former Monroe County Chairman William N. Posner and Nassau County party chief John F. English.

Prendergast, DeSapio and other members of the old party leadership were not present.

NAMED — Michael Struelens, above, a former Belgian civil servant, was named in Philadelphia by Carl T. Rowan as a pro-Katanga propagandist. Rowan, deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs, declared Struelens spent at least $140,000 this year spreading the propaganda, operating out of New York. (AP Wirephoto)

Po'keepsie Man Leaps Off Bridge, Body Is Missing

A man identified as Charles P. Guastella, 36, of 697 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, a cab driver, committed suicide about 7:30 a. m. today by leaping off the Mid-Hudson Bridge, according to the Dutchess County Sheriff's office.

Several witnesses saw the man place his coat on the railing and then leap into the icy waters of the Hudson River. No trace of his body has been found.

Had Pistol in Coat

In the pocket of the coat were a .32 calibre pistol, the man's wallet and several rambling notes, one of which said he had planned to use the pistol but didn't know how so he jumped off the bridge.

Schwenk Names Klein Executive Assistant

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk today announced the appointment of William C. Klein as his executive assistant. Schwenk noted that this will be a newly created post resulting from the elimination of the position of executive secretary to the mayor.

"There is a tremendous range between the duties of a secretary and the varied responsibilities of an executive assistant," Schwenk pointed out, "that cannot be handled effectively by an executive secretary. This gap in the efficiency of the mayor's office," he explained, "will be bridged through the employment of a regular, full-time secretary at lower cost, and the part-time services of a qualified executive assistant."

"I am confident," Schwenk declared, "that Bill Klein, who has been a valued aide in recent months, will be of considerable assistance to me in achieving the goals for Kingston which I set forth during the election campaign."

Klein is a former New York newspaperman and public relations executive who established his own public relations firm here in June of 1960. A financial news reporter with the New York Journal of Commerce, and editor with General Features Corporation, he entered the public relations field in 1954, and served as account executive for major national corporate and governmental organizations such as Chesebrough-Pond's, Johnson & Johnson, American Fidelity & Casualty Co., and the New Jersey Turnpike Au- (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Area Storm, Icy Roads Tie Travel

No One Is Hurt In Minor Mishaps

Wet snow and freezing rain through most of Thursday and a temperature drop to the teens early today created hazardous driving conditions in Ulster County and the Hudson Valley.

Area law enforcement agencies reported several minor traffic mishaps, mainly due to skidding on slippery pavement. Of those reported only one person was injured.

Readings Dip

Thursday's precipitation tapered off to snow flurries in the early evening and temperature readings dropped into the teens.

The official Kingston reading at the City Engineer's Office early this morning was 13 above.

Lowest unofficial readings during the morning at other check points were: Woodstock 6; Tillson 7; Saugerties and Blue Mountain Reservoir 12.

An official low at Poughkeepsie was 2 above.

Treated and Released

In local highway mishaps, Robert Houst, 16, of Woodstock was treated and released at Kingston Hospital following an accident Thursday afternoon on Boice Road near Route 28.

Kingston state police reported Houst proceeding south on Boice Road in the Town of Hurley, about three-fourths of a mile off Route 28, rounded a left turn, skidded on the wet pavement and struck a tree head-on along the shoulder of the highway.

Troopers Thomas J. Crowley and W. E. Wiedemann reported Houst suffered contusions and abrasions of the nose and complained of chest pains. The mishap occurred at 3:30 p. m.

In an earlier mishap reported by Troopers Crowley and Wiedemann, no one was injured when a van truck of Greco Brothers, Glasco was in collision with a garbage truck in the Town of Ulster.

Car-Truck Collide

Troopers said the Greco vehicle operated by Watson Hall, 25, of Mt. Marion Park, was following an Edgar Elliott garbage truck operated by Pierce Barley, 51, of Lincoln Park Place, along Route 9W. The garbage truck proceeding north attempted to make a left turn into Katrine Lane. Hall attempting to pass was in collision with the left rear of the garbage truck, troopers reported.

No one was reported injured Thursday in two minor mishaps in the Village of Saugerties reported by Police Chief Arthur W. Richter and Patrolman John Washburn.

Marilyn Ruth Nickerson, 17, of Katsbaan, driving her father's 1958 sedan was proceeding south on West Bridge Street, near the intersection of Partition Street. She applied her brakes when she noticed an approaching truck and the car skidded into the left rear fender, bumper and body of a parked car owned by Louis Hoyt Weeks of Quarryville, forc- (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

Farm Program Geared For 60s JFK's Goal; Would Boost Income

Abundance Of Nation Vital Part

Proposals to Be In Union Message

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy is reported ready to launch a new farm program, "modernized for the 1960s" and aimed at increasing farm income.

He went over the details in a three-hour session late Thursday with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and key advisers at the vacation White House.

Has JFK'S Approval

Freeman said the program now has the "general approval" of the President, who will announce it in a special agriculture message to Congress.

And, he added, it also will be included in Kennedy's State of the Union Message, which is being ironed out in daily sessions with White House advisers.

Freeman made a flying visit from snowy Washington to Palm Beach to tackle farm problems with Kennedy.

As he boarded an Air Force jet plane to return home Thursday night, the secretary of agriculture reported the new farm program "will make use of our abundance and will strengthen farm incomes."

It will seek "an over-all balance to make use of our abundance," he told reporters.

Keep Advisers Busy

Kennedy was keeping his advisers busy here as he mixed work on a variety of reports to Congress with relaxation and visits to his ailing father in the hospital.

The chairman of Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, Dr. Walter W. Heller, sat in on the conferences. Heller came to Palm Beach Tuesday with the President's special counsel Theodore Sorensen and other advisers.

Additional work on the State of the Union Message remains to be completed. Kennedy will deliver his review of the nation's condition—foreign and domestic—at a joint session sometime after Congress reconvenes on Jan. 10. The timetable for his various reports, however, is undecided.

Progress in CR Field

The President was conducting other routine business as well and getting daily intelligence briefings.

He also received a year-end report from his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, that said "important progress" had been made in the field of civil rights since the Kennedy administration took office last Jan. 20.

To Aid Youths, Unskilled

Vocational Training Expansion Proposed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Board of Regents hopes to expand vocational education in the state during the next 10 years to train youths and unskilled adults for jobs in industry.

Prospects appeared good for approval by the State Legislature of the $120 million program. Gov. Rockefeller announced recently that the state planned job-training for unskilled persons on relief rolls.

286,000 for Enrollment

Approximately 286,000 high school pupils, youths who have left school and unskilled adults would be enrolled in the program, the Regents said. The money would be spent for equipment, new buildings and the overhauling of existing facilities.

The plan was one of several in the Regents' 1962 program, submitted Thursday for consideration by the Legislature, which convenes Jan. 3.

The Requests

The Regents, governing body of all education in the state, also asked the Legislature for:

1. More freedom for the State University from regulations that hamper its expansion program.

2. A budget allotment to the State University, of $260 million which has requested for new buildings and operation of facilities in the fiscal year beginning April 1.

3. An increase in the top annual payments under Regents' scholarships from $750 to $1,200 to help students meet higher tuition costs at colleges. The minimum award, given students from higher-income families, would be cut from $250 to $150.

4. Inclusion of student nurses in the scholar - incentive program, which provides grants of up to $300 a year for college students.

Contract Averts Transit Strike In N.Y. Jan. 1

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transport Workers Union and the Transit Authority agreed Thursday night on a new two-year contract, averting a strike against city-owned subway and bus lines.

The pact, which will cost the city about $36 million, does not include a main TWU demand—a four-day, 32-hour work week.

The settlement was announced by Mayor Robert F. Wagner. TWU negotiators accepted the terms outright, eliminating any need for the contract to be ratified by the membership.

Under the pact, 38,900 city bus and subway employes will receive 22 cents an hour in wage increases—12 cents this January and 10 cents starting Jan. 1, 1963. Present wages average $2.70 an hour. The agreement continues the five-day, 40-hour work week.

Outlook Bright for 1962, Chamber Manager Predicts

The future of the Hudson Valley, especially the Kingston area, looks very bright according to Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. "In general the outlook for 1962 is bright," Kurdt said, "but adjustments to new situations will create some new problems and will cause some individual hardships. The extent, degree and location of growth and development, as well as the hardships and deterioration, will depend upon how aggressively citizens and governing bodies of individual cities, towns and villages plan and cooperate to provide the requirements of the motor car age."

Kurdt pointed out that the gradual completion of an excellent network of area highways and bridges, as well as the navigation improvements made in the Hudson River and the Rondout Creek, make Kingston the hub of a growing and expanding region. "These developments," he said, "make it imperative to consider many of the basic problems, such as water supply, transportation facilities, and recreational facilities on a regional basis."

In this brief statement made as 1961 draws to a close, Kurdt also stated that industry expands and new industries are attracted to communities where the people are proud of their industries (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

11 Are Injured As Bus Hits Span To Avoid Skidder

Eleven persons were injured, two seriously, Thursday afternoon when a Short Line bus rammed into a bridge abutment on Route 17M in Middletown trying to avoid hitting a skidding automobile.

According to troopers from the Middletown state police barracks, an automobile driven by Adolph Cozeno, 68, of Pine Bush skidded in slush and wound up sideways on the bridge, about 2,000 feet north of Route 302. The Short Line bus operated by Robert Hurd, 35, of Congers, N. Y., with 16 passengers aboard came along and in an effort to avoid the car, the bus struck it a glancing blow and hit the abutment, state police reported.

Hurd was taken to Horton Memorial Hospital, Middletown, with a possible concussion of the brain. Mary White, 44, of Jamaica, was removed to the hospital with a possible fracture of the spine, suffered when the impact hurled her from the rear seat, down the bus aisle.

Hurd was discharged from the hospital this morning. The White woman's condition was reported as good.

Three of the passengers received first aid treatment at the hospital and were released, the remainder said they would see their own physicians.

Investigating the accident were Troopers Albert Dorer and Lee Thomas.

Progress Noted In Rights Field

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Kennedy administration said today that "important progress" was made in the field of civil rights in its year of office.

But it didn't claim all the credit for itself.

In public school desegregation in particular, the administration said, "credit for lack of violence and disorder which has marked these kind of events in the past, rests primarily with local and state officials."

Year-End Review

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in a year-end review of Justice Department activities in civil rights, stressed the department's policy of seeking effective guarantees and action from local officials and civic leaders without court action.

The report, released for publication today, said this had been done without publicity.

The attorney general's report, filed with President Kennedy, said "informal conversations have been conducted wherever our investigations have disclosed evidences of civil rights violations."

The attorney general reviewed developments in the fields of voting, education, transportation and public school desegregation.

Voting: When the Kennedy administration took office legal action had been taken in six Southern counties against denial of the right to register and vote without distinction on account of race.

One of these cases has been settled and two others have been processed to judgments.

In three other cases successful trials have been completed.

14 New Cases Filed

Additionally, he said, 14 new cases charging discrimination in the registration processes have been filed this year, and active investigation or negotiation with local officials are being made in connection with registration processes in 61 other counties.

Employment: The Presidential Commission on Equal Job Opportunity headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has met with "tremendous success."

The commission's goal, he said, is to end discrimination in plants holding government contracts and in federal employment.

Transportation: The department has made substantial progress toward eliminating discrimination in all three major modes of public interstate transportation—bus, air and rail.

The sending of more than 600 U.S. marshals to Montgomery, Ala., when "Freedom Rides" resulted in disorders last spring, "averted major bloodshed," he said, and made it unnecessary to take further action when a similar tense situation developed in Mississippi a few days later.

Schools: An increasing number of children went to school under desegregated — and peaceful — conditions in the South. He called this "evidence of responsive affirmative action taken by an increasing number of officials and civic leaders." He commented that department officials had worked informally with officials in cities involved in desegregation cases to bring about peaceful school desegregation.

"I can report to you," the attorney general concluded, "that the law enforcement officials and civic leaders in the vast majority of the communities have met their obligations. I am confident, therefore, that this year's progress will continue, and that it will be carried forward with the effort and approval of the vast majority of the American people."

Denies Aid Charges

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The Union Miniere du Haut Katanga denied today allegations by U.S. and U.N. officials that it gave military assistance to the Katanga secession and challenged anyone to give evidence to support the accusations.

A communique released by headquarters of the vast African mining complex in Brussels said: "Mahmoud Khiari, director of the U.N. civil operations in the Congo, has charged Union Miniere with serious accusations in an interview with the Jeune Afrique magazine in Tunis.

"The U.S. State Department, through G. Mennen Williams and Carl T. Rowan, has also made statements concerning the political and military activities of the Union Miniere.

"The Union Miniere, which has already denied similar accusations made previously, faced with continuous attacks, once more denies in the strongest way that it indulged in political, military or propaganda activities, and namely that it supplied arms or made bombs or any other war equipment."

Barten Still Serious

Raymond Barten, 40, of Dogwood Lane, Lake Katrine, who according to state police stabbed himself several times in the diaphram Thursday morning, was reported still in serious condition today at Kingston Hospital. BCI Senior Investigator Edward Shannon said Barten, according to his wife was despondent over personal matters. Barten stabbed himself several times with a bread knife while he sat in the kitchen of his home.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

Captain Jeremiah Relyea, one of many Town of Esopus residents who rendered valuable service to the Union cause during the Civil War, was born July 8, 1837, one of seven children of James and Liddie Ann Freer. He first worked on sailing vessels, and in 1864 was employed on the Steamer Delaware which was in use as a general flagship by the Federal Government and captured the Von Shea, a blockade runner. He also served as master on the General Hunter. Both boats operated between St. Augustine and Fortress Monroe. Captain Relyea later was employed on steamers for the Knickerbocker Ice Co. He was married on his 21st birthday to Martha Van Keuren and he and his family were members of the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

Just before Christmas in 1880, J. J. Krom who served in the Union Army with an Ulster County regiment, wrote local friends that he was planning to leave the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers for St. Augustine, Florida, where he expected to take a position at the Magnolia Hotel as assistant steward. Krom further says: "We buried one of the veterans of the Old Twentieth on the 14th of November,—Frank Bridger of Captain Snyder's Company C. Most everyone knew him as 'Frank Butcher.' I find we have one man' who belonged to the Harris Light Cavalry, Alexander Highland."

Two printed items from Kingston under date of May 31, 1883: The Colored Veterans Corps, led by Messrs Harley and Kiersted, presented a fine appearance on Sunday night when they attended in a body the Zion Church to listen to the sermon of the Rev. J. R. Smith on Why We Love Our Patriot Dead. (Veteran Kiersted presumably was the same man who was custodian of the Kingston Academy building at Albany and Clinton Avenues, half a century and more ago.)

Also: "Through the exertions of the officers of Pratt Post No. 127, Grand Army of the Republic, headstones have been procured for nearly every soldier interred in the colored burying ground. On May 15, the post made up a detail of ten comrades to assist the pupils of Schools Nos. 1 and 15 in strewing flowers over the graves of these veterans." (Who among O. T.'s readers can furnish more information about Harley and Kiersted?)

Marriages in Ulster County were fairly frequent during the year 1864. Among the bridegrooms were many veterans who had received their discharge from the service, as well a the great number of still active soldiers who came home on furlough from time to time and took unto themselves a wife, the while. Any of the Readers find an ancestor among the following:

April 20—At Second Reformed Church, Village of Kingston, William T. Van Buren to Mary A. Souser, both of Kingston.

April 7—At the parsonage in Hurley, by the Rev. B. C. Lippincott, Festus Stokes to Hannah M. Sheeley, both of Marbletown.

April 13—George E. Barnes to Catherine Stedinger, both of Ellenville.

April 13—At home of bride's father, by the Rev. Mr. Van Vleck, L. R. Fowler, principal of Ellenville High School, to Lamira Whitaker of Kerhonkson.

Interesting to many residents of the county, Rondout people especially, was the following news item of January 24, 1864: The Veteran 102nd New York State Volunteers has arrived at New York City. A part of this fighting regiment was recruited from the 'Von Beck Rifles' of Rondout whose Captain Arthur Cavanaugh died of wounds received at the Battle of Cedar Mountain. The 102nd has been in nine important battles. The local Boys in Blue will be heartily welcomed by their many friends."

January 28, 1864: the following soldiers of local regiments have died in the enemy hospital at Richmond, Va. — S. C. Rosencrans, Co. C, 120th; Thomas Doyle and Thomas Crooks, both Co. F, Twentieth Regiment.

April, 1864 — A news dispatch reveals that the 'Sword Contest' at the great Metropolitan Fair which closed the 21st Inst., resulted in a lead of 14,782 votes for Gen. U. S. Grant over Gen. George B. McClellan. Receipts from the fair totalled over $1 million. No feature of the fair was more attractive than the 'Knickerbocker Kitchen' which was largely fitted up with antiques by Kingston residents. There was a painting of the grandmother of Mrs. Henry Sharpe, mother of our Col. George H. Sharpe, done at the age of 12 years. Mrs. A. Bruyn Hasbrouck plied the needle to the old-style calico be quilt, while Mrs. H. Sharpe did the honors at the small spinning wheel. — C. A. W.

recommended regional research libraries.

6. An appropriation of $1.35 million for educational television in schools during the next fiscal year.

7. A total of $250,000 for school programs to improve the reading ability and $50,000 to improve physical-fitness programs.

Details of Proposals

Details of the two major proposals:

Vocational training—New equipment and new curricula would be provided for industrial and technical education in New York City, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Yonkers, the state's largest cities. Existing facilities would be modernized to provide training for an estimated enrollment of 60,000 high school pupils and 75,000 school drop-outs and adults.

Vocational schools in smaller cities would be expanded and, in some areas, new ones would be built. The estimated enrollment would include 31,000 high school pupils and 40,000 who have left school.

Such programs probably would be justified, the State Education Department said, at places including Niagara Falls, Poughkeepsie, Rome, Schenectady, Troy, Utica, Watertown, Albany, Binghamton, Dunkirk, Elmira, Jamestown, Kingston, Olean, Batavia, Corning and Lockport.

In rural areas, training centers would be established to serve students within a radius of approximately 20 miles.

Counties designated tentatively for such centers were Schoharie, Cattaraugus, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Lewis, Livingston, Sullivan, Yates, Schuyler, Madison, Chenango, Columbia, Rensselaer, Greene, Oswego, Orleans and Wyoming.

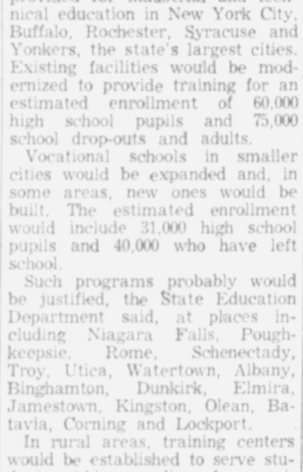

State University — The Regents said that the State University's expansion program was being slowed by procedural requirements. The aim of the program is to double facilities by 1970.

The board did not give details, but apparently referred to controls exercised over the State University by the Budget Department, Public Works Department and Division of Standards.

The Regents' basic request appeared to be that the University be given more freedom to do its own building and buying.

Pomeroy Let Go By Garcia, Told To Leave Manila

MANILA (AP) — William Pomeroy of Rochester, N.Y., convicted of leading Communist Huk rebels and sentenced to life imprisonment, has been pardoned by President Carlos P. Garcia and ordered deported, a source in the president's office said today.

Pomeroy was sent to prison in 1952 on charges of rebellion compounded with murder, arson, robbery and kidnaping.

The Board of Pardons recommended a conditional pardon with deportation provided Pomeroy shouldered the expense of his transportation to the United States and never returned to the Philippines.

Pomeroy fought in U.S. forces in the liberation of the Philippines from Japan in World War II. He returned after the war as a student and, island authorities charged, became a Communist propagandist and Huk leader.

He married a Filipino woman, the former Celia Mariano. She was imprisoned on similar charges.

Manila newspapers said both the Pomeroys were being pardoned, but a spokesman for the legal division of the presidential office said he had received nothing from Garcia concerning Mrs. Pomeroy.

40 Debs Come Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Forty debutantes were presented Thursday night at the seventh annual International Debutante Ball.

Flags of the United States, 12 of its states and 14 foreign countries—all represented by the debutantes—were shown in the grand ballroom of the Astor Hotel.

Diplomats from many nations attended.

Escorts of the debutantes were cadets from West Point, midshipmen from Annapolis and cadets from the Air Force Academy.

Outlook Bright

and which have well balanced community development. The necessary facilities for growth and development must be provided. There is great need for additional facilities, but basically, Kurdt said, "We can be extremely proud of such assets as fine educational facilities, including the coming establishment of a Community College; excellent health and hospital service and facilities, a wide variety of year-round recreational and cultural opportunities, strong religious institutions, excellent highways, excellent water supplies, fine shopping facilities and many others."

Better highways and the trend toward suburban living, during the past decade, intensify the problems facing cities, but "fortunately," Kurdt concluded, "We now have a comprehensive development plan for Kingston, prepared by professionals, to guide the decisions made during 1962 and for years to come."

THE DRESS PAID OFF—Mrs. Mary Bell Turner wore a black dress, black coat and white jewelry to sign for her jobless benefits at the State Employment Security office in Nashville, Tenn. She was dropped from the jobless benefit rolls because she was dressed in blue jeans when she appeared to collect her unemployment check. A ruling says persons must be suitably attired when claiming jobless benefits. (AP Wirephoto)

Capital Building Evacuated Again By Bomb Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second day in a row, a bomb threat caused evacuation today of the Immigration and Naturalization Service building in downtown Washington.

An anonymous caller telephoned police that a bomb would be set off in the building at 10 a.m. Thirty-five minutes after this deadline, police were still searching the building without finding any trace of explosives.

The 350 employes were dismissed from the building, but officials said they would be recalled at 12:30 p.m. if no bomb was found.

A similar telephone call, by a man with a Spanish accent, was received by police Thursday, causing immigration officials to dismiss employes for the day at 11:15 a.m.

That caller told police he planned to blow up the building because "You will not admit my brother."

Police said today's threat apparently came from the same caller, who said he was going to try again because he failed Thursday.

Wilson Widow

a vain attempt to beat down Senate opposition to U.S. participation in the League of Nations, undertook a whistle-stop campaign across the nation.

But he had to give up because of nervous exhaustion. He suffered the stroke on his return to the White House.

Thus began what critics called "Mrs. Wilson's regency. She called it "my stewardship."

"I studied every paper sent from the different secretaries or senators and tried to digest and present in tabloid form the things that, despite my vigilance, had to go to the President," she wrote in a book entitled "My Memoir."

Explains About Decisions

But she added: "I, myself, never made a single decision regarding the disposition of public affairs. The only decision that was mine was what was important and what was not, and the very important decision of when to present matters to my husband."

Wilson was a widower—his first wife died in 1914—and Mrs. Wilson a widow when they met in 1915. Her first husband was Norman Galt, proprietor of a famous Washington jewelry store. Galt died in 1908.

Linked to Pocahontas

She was born Edith Bolling, Oct. 15, 1872, in Wytheville, Va., of one of the South's old families. One of her ancestors was said to have been Pocahontas, the Indian princess who married John Rolfe.

After Wilson's death, she lived surrounded by mementoes, including a grandfather clock he prized and a special elevator installed for his use after Wilson was crippled by the stroke.

But she continued to live an active life. She sought to carry on the Wilsonian peace ideals, attended Democratic conventions, and other party meetings and had interests from charitable work to sewing.

She had no children, but Wilson's grandchildren by his first wife called her "Granny Edith."

Mrs. Wilson's sister, Gertrude Galt, who had lived with her for 10 years, died earlier this year.

She leaves Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Moeling, three other nieces, Mrs. John Goodloe of Chester, Va. Mrs. Harry R. Fowler of Washington and Barbara Bolling Fuller of Washington; and a nephew, Sterling Bolling of Washington.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT — A currently pending question in U.S.-British relations is Christmas Island in the Pacific. Both nations claim the 222-square-mile atoll. The island was the site of the first British hydrogen bomb explosion in 1957 (photo, left). The United States would like to use the island for its own nuclear explosions should it resume atmospheric testing. Christmas Island is twice as far from Tokyo as Bikini, location of previous U.S. H-bombs which Japan protested as posing a fallout danger to fishermen.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—This, the last working day of the year for most persons, finds the majority of Americans ending a topsy-turvy year on the upbeat.

You can celebrate the passing of this often trying and crisis-ridden year with thankfulness that, as a whole, it ended a lot better than it began.

Business Brisker

Business was brisker in most lines, although not in all. Personal pocketbooks collectively were fatter, thanks in the main to more persons at work, some at higher wage scales and many at longer work weeks.

Stock prices indexes end the year near record highs, although the markets saw some dizzy speculative whirls followed by some hard falls. And Wall Street ends 1961 with its practices under probe both of government agencies and of the exchanges themselves.

It was a big year for the securities market—in trading volume, in personnel shakeups, in meteoric rise and fall of newcomers, in threats of more regulations to come.

Best Yule Ever

This was the biggest Christmas ever. A record number of presents, and more expensive ones, were given—to be enjoyed or exchanged. The record consumer outlay makes a lot of merchants and manufacturers happy. And your bills won't arrive till next week.

Business has some headaches to nurse—along with any the individual businessmen may have New Year's morning.

This was the year of the big price-fixing suits. The biggest antitrust penalties were the $2 million in fines against 29 electrical equipment makers and the jail sentences against some of their executives. The headache lingers on in a host of damage suits filed by their customers.

There were other clashes of business and government in 1961. And many businessmen aren't too sure they believe the administration's assurances that it most certainly isn't antibusiness.

Tariff Battle Looms

As 1961 ends Americans are choosing up sides for one of the biggest tariff battles in years. The President wants more power to cut tariffs as a way to bargain in America's contest with trading blocs around the world, especially the fast growing one in Western Europe. Many U.S. businessmen want more tariff protection, not less, in warding off the flow of foreign goods.

And many industries have their own domestic problems. Examples, the airlines and railroads, which are sharing very little in the general prosperity at year end.

But for most the 1961 New Year's Eve is a lot happier than was the 1961 New Year's day.

Industrial production climbed to a record in the final months of the year. Steel mills report an influx of orders that keeps them a lot busier than in the first half of the year.

A sharp rise in new car sales puts both the dealers and the makers squarely in the ranks of the optimists again. It's also good news for a lot of auto workers, who will be working longer weeks at higher wage scales.

Construction workers, as a whole, should be happy, along with building firms and the many companies that turn out building materials and furnishings.

The Commerce Department estimates the value of new construction put in place in 1961 at a new record of $57.5 billion. This would be 3 per cent above last year, and would top the previous record in 1959 by 2 per cent.

The biggest gainer was public construction, up 7 per cent over 1960. Home building was declining at year's end, but not as much as usual in the bad weather season.

And the average factor worker, whoever he may be, should be in a mood to celebrate. The Labor Department says his takehome pay was the highest in history in November, while the cost of living was slipping a trifle.

So—and in spite of all the exceptions to the generally more prosperous times—

Blames Thruway Interests For Expressway Slowdown

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Works Department has slowed construction of Route 81, the North-South Expressway, because of pressure from financial interests connected with the Thruway, Sen. Janet Hill Gordon, R-Chenango, charges.

Mrs. Gordon said Thursday the prospect that the Expressway, which will extend from Binghamton to Alexandria Bay, would drain traffic from the Thruway apparently was "at the heart of (the)...slowdown."

"I feel that outside pressures, particularly the financial interest behind the Thruway, have been brought to bear on the (Public Works) department to slow down ...construction of this vital artery," the senator said.

Mrs. Gordon, who commented in a speech at a meeting of the Penn-Can committee, did not elaborate on what she referred to as "the financial interest behind the Thruway." The highway originally was called the "Penn-Can" because it was designed to stretch from the Pennsylvania line to the Canadian border.

Persons traveling from New York City to Central New York would be able to leave the Thruway at Harriman, Orange County, and drive toll-free over Route 17 to Route 81, when the latter was completed, Mrs. Gordon said.

Less than 20 miles of the 85-mile stretch of Route 81 between Syracuse and Binghamton is either completed or under contract, she said.

X-RAY ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Next month a reconvening Congress plans to take up a major Kennedy proposal providing new training for the nation's sizable cluster of lingering jobless.

The measure is founded on the assumption, widely but not universally held by economists in and out of government, that "structural dislocations" afflict a big part of the 6 per cent of the U.S. labor force which is unemployed.

These dislocations include evidently permanent declines in use of manpower in farming, mining, transportation and many kinds of industrial output. Frequently they involve sweeping introduction of automated machinery.

The process outmodes the specialized skills of many, and further depreciates the employment prospects of the less skilled, including large numbers of young people and Negroes.

Ewan Clague, head of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, now adds his voice to those who say wide-scale job training programs are the only way to make a dent in persistent high "structural" unemployment.

He agrees with others who think two economic recessions in the 1956-61 period reflect big cyclical swings in general demand. But he argues that evidence in the 15 years from World War II's end supports the notion that lasting dislocations play a key role in the unemployment picture.

Over that long span, an average of 200,000 workers a year have left farming, some to join the unemployed. Between 1948 and 1956, through boom and recession, joblessness in goods-making industries rose from 4.1 to 5 per cent. For manual workers, the unemployment rate climbed from 3.5 to 4.4 per cent.

While this was going on, the rate in the growing service trades actually dropped. Among white collar workers it held steady.

Clague finds further proof in the marked upward trend in long-term unemployment, usually thought of as linked more with dislocation than short-range sags in demand. Nearly all the rise in unemployment from 1948 to 1956 came among those out of work five weeks or more—and much of it among those idle more than 15 weeks.

All these trends have continued in accelerated style since 1956, though the recessions of 1957-58 and 1960-61 have interlaced cyclical factors with the structural elements.

Many can agree with Clague that measures to spur the economy generally are likely to affect the hard-core jobless "only if workers are in the right place with the right skills to fill the job being created."

But this is a tremendous order. And it is yet to be demonstrated, either in existing area redevelopment effort or through the proposed general retraining plan, that the hurdles, of custom, inertia, psychological resistance to change, and home and family burdens can be cleared as they must be to aid the economically displaced.

Several cases of injury are reported as a result of over-indulgence in the Twist. Too much of a good swing, no doubt.

A PUSH FOR SAFETY

The people are ahead of the lawmakers in advocating, and wanting to implement, traffic safety. Proof of this appears in a recent poll, the results of which should encourage legislatures to act.

Among other things, the public favors making safety belts mandatory, not merely optional, equipment. Safety belts reduce highway fatalities by preventing the occupants of the car from being thrown to the pavement during an accident. The public also thinks that a person should pass a physical examination before being issued a driver's license, and that subsequent examinations should be given at regular times.

With more and more cars on the road, safety promotion is mandatory. It is the solemn obligation of legislatures not to procrastinate further. These survey findings should push them into action.

THE ACQUISITIONS

American industry was built by individuals investing their savings in enterprises, nurturing them, occasionally combining with other enterprises, expanding out of earnings, taking out limited profits and putting savings and reserves back into the business. It was a private enterprise, designed to provide a profit but conducted prudently to guard against a risk turning into a failure.

This is the capitalist system. It is often called the profit and loss system. Its essential is that the enterprise is privately-owned and originally was owned by those who managed it; latterly widely owned by individuals unrelated to management. Its growth depended upon the character, sincerity and ability of those who owned the enterprise. Ownership and management were identical. The final responsibility rested in ownership. However, as the corporation developed and as management began to assume the responsibility of ownership, the nature of industrial management changed.

Ownership became diverse and diffuse. Paid employes, assumed increasing authority, sometimes in disregard of the law, weakening initiative and absorbing parts of the profits by excessive wages, expenses, and other devices to entrench themselves in power.

In recent years, management has often neglected the principal function of the business which is to earn a profit for the owners, by burying earnings and other increments in what are called acquisitions which is the increase of an enterprise's value by purchasing other enterprises by the exchange of stock. It is often difficult to ascertain why Company B, obviously profitable, sells itself to another company, sometimes less profitable than Company B.

Often an acquisition is really an exchange of power within an enterprise without disclosing the shift of control. Sometimes the acquisition includes prosperous and unprofitable enterprises, the expectation being that by the acquisition the unprofitable enterprise will be buried. Sometimes, all these combinations are managed for a tax advantage, the management of the two companies taking advantage of the ownership which only reads of the astonishinng rise of prospective annual income.

The emphasis on management is unsound and gives strength to those who should be subordinate employes. The emphasis on management has grown beyond reason and tolerance. Management only is legally responsible for the affairs of a company to the extent that it serves on the Board of Directors which represents ownership.

The trick devised here is the appointment of an Executive Committee which usually consists of senior officers of management who meet between Directors' meetings and act for them. The Executive Committee often usurps the authority of the Board of Directors but none of its responsibilities. Theoretically, the Executive Committee meets because it is smaller and more mobile than the Board of Directors and can put over devices which the Board would resist, but which a Board can never ratify because steps have been taken and commitments undertaken from which withdrawal would be costly and, in fact, inappropriate. Thus management uses the Executive Committee to turn a Board of Directors into drones or into a crony Board.

Thus, the Executive Committee hurls a report on the table which should take many hours to study. Somebody moves that the report be approved as read; the fact however is that the report is approved unread, unstudied, unscrutinized. The result is hurried and unjustified action.

The cause for much of this is bigness—the lust for bigness, the show-offness of bigness. The worthiness of an enterprie is to be measured by its profits not by its so-called size or growth. Profits prove competent management and prudent operations.

When management absorbs too great a share of the earnings in disregard of the interests of ownership and the reserves of the enterprise, the business is badly managed. Those engaged in acquisitions have to be watched closely because this word, acquisitions, is a blanket for all sorts of queer practices, including the shifting of the control-power of an enterprise without regard to the protection of ownership. In fact, ownership may find itself out of control without knowing what has happened for some time. The reason for this is that in a company with a large and diffuse ownership, management can move swiftly to concentrate power through small devices and when the Board wakes up to what has been done, it dares not disclose the trick lest it embarrass itself by admitting inefficiency and neglect.

All this is to be watched closely if business is not to be hamstrung in the United States.

Healthy Skin Will Repay Attention You Give It

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There are, you'll recall three skin layers: the epidermis or bloodless, nerveless bark or rind of the dermis or true skin and the subcutaneous tissue on which the dermis rests and into which it descends in places.

This covering is a very efficient organ if given half a chance. It is constantly shedding worn parts and replacing them with new. It furnishes its own cooling system, moistens and lubricates itself and regulates itself to suit outside conditions such as wintry weather, hot spells, rainy seasons or periods of drought.

Despite its great efficiency, there are ways you can assist with skin care. And many things you can do to protect your skin from injuries sometimes caused by outside conditions but sometimes self-inflicted.

Bathe or shower daily to help get rid of shed epidermis. Use a simple, nonmedicated, nonscented soap. If you are soap-sensitive, use a sudsing detergent. With a rough towel or a stiff brush, scrub hairy and hard-to-get-at places (between fingers and toes, under arms and in crotch). If you shower, exercise the blood vessels of dermis and epidermis by taking a cold wash-off. And, whether you do or don't take that wash-off, give your vessels a good work-out by a vigorous toweling.

If you become perspired during the course of your daily activities, repeat bath or shower. On hygienic grounds, I favor the latter.

Be sure to dry thoroughly between fingers and toes, under arms, and in the crotch area and the ear canals. The growth of fungi (ringworm) and other invading micro-organisms (staphylococci, streptococi etc.) is favored by a diet of moisture and macerated cells. In addition, any collection of macerated cells may be productive of itching and offensive odor.

If you tend to sweat excessively in these critical areas, prevent accumulations with a nonmedicated, nonscented talcum powder, or a dress shield. Or a nonmedicated, nonscented lubricant such as a cream of albolene or a preparation of dimethicone (one whose label says its main ingredient is oil of silicon).

Do not interfere with the normal functions of your skin. When you use an antiperspirant, for example, you are depriving the skin area of a required secretion. And, if you use the antiperspirant because you've been persuaded that sweat has an offensive odor, you've allowed yourself to be grievously misled. For the offensive odor, if it exists, is due to the mixture of nonoffensive sweat with dirt or grime or a collection of macerated hairs and shed cells that might have been eliminated with a bit of soap and water.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Just before Christmas, Uncle Sugar played Santa Claus and dished out over $300 million to several international bad boys in an apparent effort to make them be good:

To President Tito's Yugoslavia, 500,000 tons of wheat and 50,000 tons of edible oils valued at over $50 million.

To Chairman Wladyslaw Gomulka's Poland, $44 million worth of agricultural commodities, including transportation.

THESE LATEST DEALS with Yugoslavia and Poland give them only half of what they asked for. So to that extent, Uncle Santa Claus held back a little and didn't empty the bag.

But to President Kwame Nkrumah's Ghana will go U. S. loans totaling $133 million for half the cost of the Volta River water power and aluminum plant project.

Tito and Nkrumah claim to be neutralists, or "unaligned," as they prefer to be called. Gomulka will never be anything but an all-out captive Communist in a Russian satellite state.

But the thought seems to be that all three of these countries can be wooed if not wowed away from their leaders by United States surpluses in their bad years.

Last April the United States led Yugoslavia have $64 million worth of surplus crops. In July 1960, the U. S. let Poland have $130 million these "purchases" in local currency, but 75 per cent is loaned back for investment.

The Ghana loans will be repayable in 30 years.

Total United States aid to the three countries from July 1, 1945 through June 30, 1961 has been $2.8 billion to Yugoslavia, $514 million to Poland and $6.6 million to Ghana.

THE QUESTION RAISED is whether this is good business and good diplomacy to boot. To the extent that food loans keep people from going hungry, they are humanitarian and in keeping with the Food for Peace Program, intended to build good will.

To the extent that the food loans help the United States get rid of surplus unmarketable crop surpluses, storage costs in this country are reduced. But there is unquestionably an element of subsidy here for which the U. S. taxpayer foots the bill.

As for winning political allies, these three latest deals are of questionable value. Neither Yugoslavia nor Poland nor Ghana has given any support to the United States at the U. N. or in any other international dealings. Tito and Nkrumah were of no help at the conference of unaligned countries in Belgrade earlier this year.

And yet, officials of the State Department, Agency for International Development, World bank, Export-Import bank and International Development Assn. argue that sound loans and grants to these neutral countries can do good.

THOUGH DISSENTS WILL be loud at mention of the names, Nasser of United Arab Republic and Nehru of India are pointed to as prime examples, in spite of all the headaches they have caused. The U. S. has given over $3 billion in aid to India and $486 million to the UAR since the end of World War 2.

The argument seems to be that if no help had been given them, they would have fallen completely into the hands of the Communists and things would be a lot worst than they are.

Nasser started out that way after the late John Foster Dulles turned down Egypt's request for financing the Aswan dam. Russia picked up the tab for that with a $100 million credit. Nasser subsequently took $788 million in Red bloc arms aid.

But in the three years since then Nasser has learned how difficult it is to do business with the Communists. Food shortages, a disastrous cotton crop this year and withdrawal of Syria from the UAR have made Nasser much more interested in getting help from the United States and western Europe.

What India's take-over of Goa and other Portuguese colonies in India will do to Nehru's unpopularity in the West is increase it. But westerners working in India now consider it the hope of the future for South and Southeast Asia. Let India go down the drain and the whole continent would be lost.

Today in World Affairs

A Hitler-Nehru Parallel Seen—Excuse for Grab

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Nehru is puzzled—he still professes not to understand why Premier Khrushchev applauds him for his grab of Goa while the United States and Great Britain denounce what he did. Yet he tells a press conference in New Delhi:

"Nothing in the 14 years of independence has excited and thrilled the people in India as the liberation of Goa. There is no doubt in my mind of the full justification for use of force against Portugal."

But the Indian leader admits that he doesn't like the fact that most of the Afro-Asian nations "rejoice" while many western nations are critical of the Indian conquest of Goa. He added: "I don't like this division of opinion between white and black."

But the Indian Prime Minister shouldn't be surprised. He may go on wondering about world reaction, but he doesn't explain why he himself "rejoices" that his policy has had the warm approval of Nikita Khrushchev. For the Indian leader telegraphed the Soviet Premier as follows:

"The government of India is glad to note that the Soviet government has understood the motives and ideas determing our actions and is deeply moved by its sympathy and support."

The Soviet Premier is the leading exponent of the doctrine that might makes right and has been telling the world that agreements about allied rights in Berlin are obsolete even though signed only a decade and a half ago. It is precisely this doctrine—that history can be changed at will and past understandings can be arbitrarily erased—which is basic in Communist philosophy.

A Parrellel

Indeed, the same attitude was characteristic of the Nazi era in Europe as Adolf Hitler cried out that the Sudetenland was German and that Austria was German and that both areas must therefore be included in the Nazi empire.

It seems strange to be equating a mild-mannered man like Nehru with the fanatical Hitler, but the reasoning each offered in defense of the conquest of neighboring territory happens to be almost identical. The Indian government argues its right to annex what is next door. This misguided doctrine has brought on many a conflict in world history. The idea that a powerful government may annex neighboring territory by force of arms is old-fashioned and obsolete. Today the free world extols the principle of the right of peoples to determine their own destiny.

It would not, for example, have caused a ripple in the stream of world happenings if the people of Goa had decided, by vote in a pleciscite, to set up their own government or to join India. But for the government of India, which has inveighed against imperialism a long time, suddenly to use the tactics of the imperialists is a shock to the peoples of the world who in recent years have been sympathizing with the efforts of colonies to break away from their rulers.

It is reassuring to find that the government of the United States didn't keep aloof from what was about to happen in Goa. American Ambassador Galbraith at New Delhi pleaded with the Indian government to agree to a six-month moratorium rather than permit an invasion.

The Timing

Prime Minister Nehru, however, said it was almost physically impossible to reverse the process and argued that the invasion had been twice postponed already. The fact is that this conversation with the ambassador took place on the evening of Dec. 17, and yet at midnight of the same day the Prime Minister himself ordered the invasion of Goa. It hasn't been explained why he couldn't have held up that final order if he had really wished to postpone the whole action.

But the Indian Prime Minister evidently wanted in advance a complete submission by Portugal as the price even of an informal negotiation with that country. This is reminiscent of what some dictatorships have usually demanded. Great Britain tried desperately to avert World War II by urging Hitler to wait while parleys over Poland could be held, but the Nazi dictator said he couldn't wait and ordered the attack anyway.

It seems tragic that with all the machinery of mediation being utilized from time to time—as, for instance, in the Congo by the UN—no means was found by other nations to save India from the stigma of aggression, and particularly to save Prime Minister Nehru from the doubtful distinction now being accorded him as the unmoral "man of the year."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The controversy over the patriotic John Birch Society has now taken the line of all previous ventures in patriotism by dogged modern loyalists. The society will be defeated and forgotten in about one more year. The opposition relies on clamor against patriotism as a hypocritical and fraudulent sentiment used as a mask for Fascism and Hitlerian ruthlessness against "minorities." Conspicuous "intellectual" lieutenants of the anti-Birch propaganda subscribe to the clearly expressed views of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes. Only recently, in the Harvard Law Review, Felix Frankfurter tried to rub off some nobility onto his own robes by referring to Holmes as "the great man." In that almost hysterical endorsement, Frankfurter clearly approved the most brutal and cynical American of the era of the Democratic Party.

Holmes held that no "minority" had any right even to life itself. He rejected all authority over men but physical power. Human life was no more sacred than the life of a sheep or pig or fish. This is the implication of the expressed adulation of Oliver Wendell Holmes, whose writings on these subjects excelled the same thoughts expressed by others only in the detail of a colloquial vulgarity.

Henry Mencken, the Baltimore livery-stable atheist, was better than Holmes. His flippancy was equally superficial, the only merit Holmes possessed on this basic subject. And Mencken turned it out year after year, almost unfailingly with a new smirk of impudence. Holmes had an advantage in that such expressions from an exalted mountebank enjoying the title of "mister justice," instead of "judge," imparted a pleasant shock to petty educators and simian writers. He had the further advantage of the ominous black robe which, by his own reasoning, gave him the power to keep men in awe and fear of him. Mencken went in mufti and hung around speakeasies.

The House of Representatives maintains a less imposing imposture than do the judges in referring, one member to another, as "the gentleman." There is no authorized definition of the term "gentleman" and if there were it would have to be fixed at about the ethical level of a television savant to accommodate the majority of any quorum of members of Congress.

Unfortunately for the patriotic movement, personified in this case by Major General Edwin A. Walker, a soldier of heroic renown and spotless honor, an obscure but resptable Boston citizen, Robert Welch, somehow took the leadership of the John Birch Society, named for a forgotten war hero who was put to death by Chinese Communists. As in other such mishaps, the leadership tended to embarrass and discredit the horde of individual patriots who wanted to enlist for political unity in civil affairs. Mr. Welch and some associates proposed the impeachment of Earl Warren and impugned President Eisenhower's patriotism. The worst objection to these drastic ideas was not that they were wrongful but grotesquely impractical. Warren can't be impeached, even if he deserves it. And any novice at public relations knows that Ike cannot be convicted of disloyalty. But this is politics and anyone so stupid as to try to impeach Warren and stick Eisenhower for treason disqualifies himself.

Welch made it easy for the current extension of the New Deal to try to sneer the Birch Society out of existence. General Walker himself is not thus easily drummed out, but he is marching in one place. However, a comparison between his career and, say, Frankfurter's, must redound to the advantage of patriotism.

Major Arch E. Roberts, the press relations officer for General Walker's late command in Germany, is now resigned to the same punishment that was visited on General Walker for teaching patriotism to his troops. Major Roberts clearly expects to be kicked out of active service. But he has gathered a mass of information about a repulsive "GI" publication which has been circulating as private enterprise in the Seventh Army in Germany. This dirty thing ventured to impugn General Walker's sanity because he taught patriotism in the 24th Division. In the end, Walker, not the Overseas Weekly, was punished.

Major Roberts, knowing he is expendable, has resumed the expose of an apparatus in New York called "The Society for the Prevention of World War III." This is the organ of the Morgenthau Plan. It has been dormant for a few years, but it has never expunged its true character. This society was instigated, finanaced and propagated in the city of New York.

But a new generation of Americans have grown up, ignorant of old disclosures. Such information was not easily digested even then. With a mighty force of guilty hypocrisy sniping every patriotic volunteer, the prospects of General Walker are darker than he ever faced in battle.

Fashion Trends Stitch An Economic Picture

BY FAYE HENLE

Beware! Milady's hemline is descending!

Are you aware that a fashion-economic theory exists? It was plotted some years ago by the H. W. Gossard Co., makers of foundation garments. With figures aplenty to substantiate the theory, the company showed that when business falters and the national income descends, skirts go down and waistlines tighten. When business is good and national income is up, skirts rise, waistlines loosen.

TAKING THEIR fahsion-economic theory back to 1900, the company reports that business was good and toe tips peeked out from under skirts. The 1907 business panic was accompanied by the "fishtail" skirt and long trains.

By 1915 business was good, legs began to appear. Down went skirts to the ankle in the post World War I recession of 1921 and up again in 1926 when boom days appeared.

Remember mama's long skirt and belt that banded her waistline in 1933, the deepest year of the depression? Skirts were raised as much as 15 inches in 1940, as prosperity returned. Harbinger of the 1949 recession was the "new look," which made its debut in 1947 with cinched waists and longer skirts. From 1958 to the present, hemlines crept up and waists were looser and sometimes nondescript.

And now there is the forecast of "slightly lower" hemlines for springtime '62.

HOW RELIABLE is the Gossard index of business conditions? On the basis of hindsight —and who doesn't' have 20-20 vision looking backwards?—excellent. Will newer predictions hold true? The Gossard people haven't made any forecast for 1962, but more conventional economists, students of the economy, have.

William F. Butler, vice president of New York's Chase Manhattan Bank, forecasts:

"1962 promises to be a year of good business and general prosperity."

He believes that business investment in new plants and equipment could be "substantially greater" than indicated by surveys of present plans for such investment. He believes government spending will spur the economy. Add to these a 6 per cent rise in consumer spending, and Butler sees a gross national product for next year of around $565 billion.

On the gloomier side Butler says: "Unemployment will be a bit higher than most people would like to see." And, in true economist fashion, he hedges that this forecast holds good only providing the international situation doesn't worsen.

MORE OPTIMISTIC (perhaps this will yank hemlines up by fall) is the University of Michigan's professor of business conditions, Paul W. McCracken.

He predicts a 9 per cent increase next year in our national output, aided by increased spending by business and government.

McCracken also spots current evidence that "consumers may let go of their income dollars at more traditional rates." He feels that your hesitancy in parting with your dollars has been one of the forces that has "stalemated the economic situation."

Polish Immigrant Can Stay, Ruling of U. S. Judge

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Jozef Gazdowicz, a 35-year-old immigrant who the Polish government sought to have extradited to Poland to face trial for several alleged crimes, including murder, can stay in the United States.

Federal District Judge Harold P. Burke ruled Thursday that the Polish government's extradition application did not meet two requirements of the extradition treaty between the United States and Poland and was based merely on suspicion.

No evidence of the crimes Gazdowicz allegedly committed was contained in the application, Burke said, and it was not rendered by a court, but by the public prosecutor in the Polish town where the crimes allegedly occurred.

The Polish government said Gazdowicz' brother, Jan, who is serving a 15-year prison term in Poland, testified at his trial that he and Jozef committed crimes of murder, attempted murder, burglary, robbery and assault in Poland between 1947 and 1952.

Jozef, who has been employed in a local basket factory since 1957 and said he fled Poland in 1953, denied the charges contained in the extradition application and said his brother's testimony was extracted under torture.

Jozef claimed he was the victim of political scheming. He said he worked as a marauder against the Polish communists for six years and also worked briefly with the anti-communist underground.

Congo Is Biding Time Until 3rd, Tension Is High

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo government and the U.N. Congo mission appeared today to be biding their time until Jan. 3 when President Moise Tshombe's Katanga Assembly is to meet to discuss future relations with the Leopoldville regime.

Military and political tension remained high in the Katanga secessionist capital of Elisabethville and was likely to remain so until Tshombe's politicians decide whether they will adhere to the agreement he made at Kitona on Dec. 21 to end secession.

Tshombe, whose authority as president of Katanga has seldom seemed in doubt, contends the agreement has to be ratified by his provincial Assembly.

The central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula regards the agreement as ironclad, but has made no move to press matters.

Six Katanga deputies, who took seats Thursday in the national Parliament in partial fulfillment of the compact, made no significant contribution to the debates. The nine remaining Katanga representatives had not reached Leopoldville.

The policy of waiting on the Katangans extended even to the Congo army unit the United Nations agreed to accept as part of its force. The Congolese appear to be having second thoughts about it. A 90-man advance unit was to have left for Kamina in north Katanga three days ago but has not moved.

Reports from Elisabethville said feelings between Katangans and U.N. personnel again were reaching the high pitch that preceded the outbreak of fighting on Dec. 5. Katangans were beginning to react against U.N. patrols, roadblocks and arrests.

A Swedish patrol killed two Katangan soldiers and took 14 prisoners Thursday when it was fired on unexpectedly, the U.N. spokesman said.

Say Plumbing Violation

Two men were booked Thursday for an alleged violation of a section of the General City Law pertaining to work normally done by licensed plumbers. They are Charles Butcher, 55, and Nathan Hoffman, 51, both of 154 Fair Street. It is charged that repair work invloved was on a "waste pipe line" at 73 and 75 Abruyn Street. City court hearing today was put over to Jan. 9 at 8 p. m. Attorney Hubert A. Richter appeared for Butcher and Thomas J. Plunket for Hoffman. Police said they were booked after an investigation by Plumbing Inspector Charles J. Kelly.

Ex-Convict Admits Torch Death of Retired Minister

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—A paroled convict, faced with results of a lie detector test, admitted tying up a 72-year-old retired minister and leaving him to die in a burning farm home, state police said today.

Lynn E. Houck, 28, acknowledged his part in the human-torch death of the Rev. Roy R. Decker because "he apparently knows how he fared on the lie detector test and just decided to tell us," said State Police Capt. James MacDonald.

Macwdonald said Houck claimed the fire in which the Methodist clergyman died Dec. 26 started accidentally when Houck plugged in an electric heater to keep Decker warm.

Houck denied the police theory that the killer set the fire after the victim had been doused with inflammable liquid.

Houck was quoted as saying he ran from the house when the fire started, leaving Decker unconscious with his hands tied behind his back, under a blanket on a bedroom floor.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Mixed prices prevailed as stock market trading drew near its end for 1961 early this afternoon. Trading was very heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .30 to 262.60 with industrials down .70, rails off .10 and utilities up .10.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule for most key stocks.

The market will be closed Monday for New Year's.

Disappointment with the failure of a strong yearend rally to materialize mingled with hopes and fears for market prospects in early 1962.

Saturday Rites To Be Held for 2 Killed Thursday

Funeral services for two Kingston High School boys killed in a automobile-tractor-trailer crash on the Thruway early Thursday morning will be held in St. Mary's Church on Saturday morning.

A high Mass of Requiem will be celebrated for Charles Edward Senor, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob J. Senor of 35 Grove Street at St. Mary's Church at 9:30 a. m.

A Solemn High Mass of Requiem will be held at 11 a. m. for Peter Fiore Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fiore Sr. of 71 Lindsley Avenue.

Both boys will be buried in St. Mary's Cemetery. Calling hours will be held tonight after 7 o'clock in the Frank H. Simpson Home, 411 Albany Avenue.

Meanwhile, the condition of Francis DiDona, 36, of Seneca Falls, operator of the tractor-trailer, involved in the collision, is reported as fair at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill. He was critical during Thursday, but hospital authorities said today his condition had improved to fair. He suffered a compound fracture of the arm, lacerations and abrasions, severe shock and severe scalp injuries.

According to state police of the Kingston Thruway Barracks, an automobile in which the two boys were returning to Kingston after attending a basketball game in Schenectady, had apparently run out of gas at the 106-mile mark on the southbound Thruway lane in Greene County. Sgt. W. E. Ebel reported that the tractor trailer rammed into the disabled vehicle, killing both boys. Both suffered skull fractures and Senor had a fractured neck. It took workers several hours to remove his body from the trunk of the wrecked vehicle where he had been found wedged, along with a smashed empty gasoline can. The Fiore boy's body was found lying in front of the automobile.

Other Bridge Fatality

It was just about one year ago, on Dec. 21, 1960 that the last bridge fatality occurred. On that date Rachel C. Perry, 18, of Poughkeepsie died in a plung into the river. David Amesse, 20, also of Poughkeepsie was held in connection with her death and on July 7, 1960 was sentenced to 7½-15 years in state prison on a first degree manslaughter charge.

Arab League to Withdraw If Britons Go to Kuwait

CAIRO (AP)—The Arab League warned Thursday night that it will withdraw its security forces from Kuwait if British troops return. But Britain's fears of an Iraqi move against the tiny oil sheikdom subsided after the British show of strength in the Middle East.

Sayed Nofal, deputy secretary-general of the Arab League, declared that the Arab nations would not permit their forces to carry out joint action with British forces in Kuwait under any circumstances. The league sent 2,500 troops to Kuwait last August to replace British units rushed there after Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem threatened to annex the sheikdom.

Nofal asserted that the dispatch this week by Britain of seven warships and air and troop reinforcements to the Middle East — where Britain feared new threats on Kuwait—had caused concern in Arab League circles.

He said the tiny sheikdom, that adjoins Iraq on the northern end of the Persian Gulf, did not ask the British to return and that Britain "does not have any territories in this area (which) allow her to order her troops to head to the Mideast and protect these territories."

Nofal contended that "the responsibility of the Arab states and the presence of the Arab security force in Kuwait is an expression of the league membership's solidarity with Kuwait and their obligation to defend its independence."

"It may all have been a false alarm," one British official in London conceded. "But governments, like fire brigades, find it better to be safe than sorry." The defense ministry ordered the alert on the basis of intelligence reports from the Middle East.

The British alert was prompted by urgent reports from intelligence agents and diplomats over the Christmas holiday that Kassem — emboldened by the U.N. failure to act against India's invasion of Goa—might soon try to make good his claim to Kuwait.

Traffic Deaths Decline 1 PC in First 11 Months

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths in the first 11 months this year totaled 34,370 compared to 34,700 for the similar period in 1960, a decrease of 1 per cent.

The National Safety Council, in announcing the death toll, said the accident death rate for every 100 million miles traveled during the 11 month period was 5.1, the lowest on record for any similar period. The 11-month rate for both 1960 and 1959 was 5.3.

Bank Stocks Show Fine '61 Record

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "How have the various stock groups acted in relation to each other this year? I have four bank stocks held in trust for me. Has this group done better than most of the others?" N. E.

A) Yes, bank stocks have been splendid performers this year. My staff has just completed a study of the relative action of 57 stock groups for the 11 months to December 1, and during this period banks were the seventh best performers, up nearly 50 per cent.

Topping the list was radio and television, as Zenith and Magnavox led their group to a 77 per cent gain. Food packing was second best and tobacco, finance, department stores and hosiery followed in that order.

After banks came office equipment, food chains, food packaging, proprietary drugs, cotton apparels and mail-order houses. Groups turning in relatively poor performances included aluminum, cement, farm equipment, air transport and printing and publishing.

Of the popular market averages, the Dow Utilities rose 33 per cent the Dow Industrials advanced 17 per cent, but the Dow Rails could manage only an 8 per cent showing. Of course, what has happened this year won't necessarily recur in 1962 .

Nevertheless,, I've found that the best share gains are made by investors who hold stocks of groups which are acting better than the market as a whole.

Q) "I have about $6,000 saved for my children's education. Their ages are 5, 4 and 1. I was thinking of buying them El Paso Natural Gas and Standard Oil of Ohio. Please advise." T. C.

A) El Paso Natural Gas and Standard Oil of Ohio are both sound stocks but I believe they are rather slow for the purpose you have in mind. Instead, I suggest that you choose more aggressive situations like Gerber Products (NYSE) and Northern Indiana Public Service (MSE), which should tend to grow with your children in the years ahead.

Area Storm . . .

ing the car into a utility pole, Chief Richter said.

Later in the morning, a Grand Union trailer truck was in collison with a car at the intersection of Malden Avenue (Route 9W) and Main Street. S. F. Crasnopolski, 47, of Cohoes was the driver of the truck.

Skids on Ice

Chief Richter reported W. F. Wettingfeld, 14, of Coxsackie, was proceeding south on Malden Avenue, applied his brakes at the intersection and skidded on the icy pavement into the tractor trailer which was proceeding north. The Wettingfeld car hit the front left fender and bumper of the truck, Richter said.

In a report of conditions throughout the state, the Associated Press said icy air and treacherous roads faced many New Yorkers setting out today to spend the New Year's weekend elsewhere, in the wake of a storm that plopped as much as a foot of snow on the state.

In Buffalo and its northern suburbs this morning, side streets were sealed by more than 6 inches of snow after overnight squalls off Lake Erie, and further squalls were forecast. Thruway traffic in the area was slowed, along with city traffic.

A foot of new snow was reported in the Boonville area of the western Adirondack foothills, and 8 inches at Sandy Creek in Oswego County and at Morrisville in Madison County. Rome had 6 inches, Albany and Troy 5, Oneonta and Utica 4. New snow elsewhere ranged mostly between 1 and 3 inches.

Cold Continues

The Weather Bureau predicted continued cold over the weekend in the eastern half of the state. Overnight low temperatures Thursday night ranged from 2 above at Poughkeepsie to 25 in New York City.

A slight warming Saturday was forecast for the western half.

Other overnight lows included: Glens Falls 5; Binghamton 6; Olean and Utica 7; Oneonta and Plattsburgh 9; Buffalo, Massena and Rome 10; Watertown and Rochester 13; Albany 14; Newburgh 16; Syracuse and Westhampton Beach 17.

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph R. Weiss has resigned from his $26,000-a-year job as deputy superintendent of schools in charge of construction and maintenance.

The Board of Education, which had given him the choice of resignation or dismissal, announced his decision Thursday. The resignation will protect his pension rights after almost 25 years of service.

Weiss, 57, was not charged with dishonesty. After a departmental trial he was found guilty of improper conduct.

In Used Cars

Lefkowitz Would Prohibit Mileage Chart Set Back

NEW YORK (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said today he will recommend to the Legislature that it enact a bill barring used car dealers from setting back speedometer mileage.

The measure, he said, will be one of the major items in the program he will recommend to the 1962 Legislature.

The bill, he said, would make the alteration of speedometer readings on a motorcycle or automobile "so as to mislead buyers both as to mileage and the fair value," a misdemeanor.

Other bills would:

Tighten the provisions of the penal law dealing with false advertising.

Require marking pre-packaged food with net weight, selling price per pound or unit and total selling price.

Prohibit life-time contracts, particularly those used by dance studios, health gymnasiums and other businesses offering services and training in physical and social skills;

Require the licensing of television repairmen.

Require that home appliances carry a label or other marking that shows the year of manufacture.

Persistent Deer

ILION, N.Y. (AP) — Where would a wild deer be most unlikely to go after the close of the hunting season? A firearms plant?

A deer walked through the open gate of the Remington Arms Co. plant here this week.

Among the men who chased the deer out to freedom was fireman Edward Snedeker. But while Snedeker was driving home, apparently the same deer, pursued by dogs, darted in front of his vehicle and was killed.

Very Helpful Clerks

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Police questioning two boys about a typewriter the pair stole asked whether removing the machine from the store had not been difficult.

Workers Come to Rescue

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—After burglars stole $60 from a cash box at a newsstand operated by a blind woman in the County Courthouse, other workers in the courthouse collected $100 to more than reimburse the woman, Miss Anne O'Neil.

CENTRAL HUDSON

What's behind the 4% headlines?

All of a sudden, many banks in town are advertising four percent on savings and time deposits held for one year or more.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT?

Interest rates at commercial banks are regulated by state and federal authorities. They put a top limit on the amount of interest that the banks may pay. Recently, they raised that limit, effective January 1, 1962.

So some of the banks are increasing the interest they pay on savings and time deposits.

AND SO ARE WE.

In three ways.

One: We'll pay 4% a year at the end of each quarter on savings deposits up to $25,000 that have been in your account one year or more.

Two: We'll pay 3½% a year at the end of each quarter on savings deposits that remain in your account less than one year. Interest will be paid on a savings deposit received during the first 10 calendar days of any calendar month from the first day of such calendar month.

Three: We'll pay 4% per annum on any time deposit having a maturity date 12 months or more after the date of deposit, and 3½% per annum on any time deposit having a maturity date less than 12 months and not less than 6 months after the date of deposit, without limitation on the amount of the deposit.

It's always our policy to give our customers the latest and the best.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Received a nice season's greeting card from Cornelius E. Keyser of 100 Grand Street. His card shows a covered bridge, which looks like our local one. He writes that this is the anniversary of the Mary Powell and he will send me some items about her.

Another nice card came from Mrs. Wilcox of New Paltz, who calls herself a "Senior Citizen." I think she once wrote me she is 90. Her cards and letters are always full of fun. She sends me items on the Dayline and other things. This time she sent an item from the Highland Mid-Hudson Post, in which Lorin E. Osterhoudt mentioned this column.

Tom Walsh brought one book, published in 1958 by the Stephen Daye Press. Book is called History of American Steam Navigation by Morrison, and has some 150 of its 600 pages just on the Hudson River with illustrations. Will tell more about this remarkabe book after I have a chance to look through it. Mr. Walsh also brought me two interesting framed prints, both by Vanderlyn, one of the Landing of Columbus and the other of a portrait of Washington. Also a collection of 11 booklets of "Souvenir of War with Spain" which also will take a little time to look through.

Met O. A. Goodsell doing his shopping in Rondout and we talked about the little 1858 Kingston-Rondout and Wiltwyck Directory he loaned me. It contains a complete coverage of the military departments such as the National Greys, Kingston, organized October, 1854. The Kingston Guards 40 Rank and File. Headquarters, Military Hall. In Rondout, the 20th Regiment New York State Militia, 8th Brigade, The Company F Infantry, 8th Brigade, 20th Regiment 58 Rank and File, Headquarters, Clinton Hall.

While I have the loan of this book, I will gladly give any information from it, after that the readers may contact Mr. Goodsell, who lives at 43 Crane Street.

I had better mention the other military companies in the 1858 book, in case the readers may wish to know.

There was Company H, 8th Brigade, 20th Regiment 25 Rank and File, with headquarters at the Clinton Hotel. G. F. Von Beck was the captain, Adam Metzger was his first lieutenant and John Henkel, the second. Then there was the Company E, 8th Brigade, 20th Regiment, 50 rank and file. Headquarters were at Washington Hall. John F. Derrenbacher was the captain, John Kline was the first lieutenant and J. Clear, second lieutenant.

Then they had the Independent Jefferson Dragoons, 20 rank and file. Headquarters were at Metzger's Hotel. Adam Metzger was the captain, Joseph Lachlinskee was the first lieutenant; John Weber, second lieutenant. Adam Metzger was also secretary and A. Breitenbacher was the treasurer.

In 1858, James Buchanan of Pennsylvania was president of the U. S. A. receiving a salary of $25,000. John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky was his vice president at $8,000. The following officials also received $8,000 salary in 1858. The secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of war, secretary of the navy and secretary of the interior, postmaster general and attorney general.

So few of the names remain before the public eye, as the years go by. John. A. King was governor of New York State at the time. I think that now with moving pictures, TV and photography so advanced we know our officials far better and are acquainted moreso with their voice and personality through TV and many newspaper and magazine pictures.

Strike Threatens Williamsport Bus Line January 1st

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Drivers and mechanics of the Edwards Lakes-to-Sea bus line moved today with preparations to strike at 12:01 a.m. New Year's day in a wage dispute.

William H. Edwards, president of the Edwards Motor Transit Co. which operates the line, said Thursday the firm's 71 drivers and 37 mechanics voted almost unanimously in favor of the walkout.

The workers are members of Local 1154 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, headed by Brian S. Peterman.

Edwards said the union is seeking a 17 per cent wage boost and increased fringe benefits for its drivers and a 12 per cent pay hike, a 10 per cent work hour reduction and added fringe benefits for the mechanics.

The company said its last offer called for a six per cent pay hike for both drivers and mechanics over a two-year period. Under present base pay scales, Edwards drivers earn an average of $5,800 a year while mechanics make about $4,800 a year, a company spokesnan said.

No new negotiation sessions have been scheduled.

Edwards buses haul passengers between New York City and Cleveland, Williamsport and Philadelphia, Elmira, N.Y., and Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Washington and Elmira and Sunbury. Company headquarters are in Williamsport.

Boy Is Cerebral Palsy Victim

Firemen Honor 13-Year-old With Full Life Membership

A 13-year-old Lyndhurst, Ohio boy, afflicted with cerebral palsy was recently honored with honorary life membership in an Ulster County volunteer fire company for his intensive interest in firemanics.

Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 at a recent meeting unanimously elected Gregory Gardner honorary life membership in the company. The boy's hobby is collecting insignia and badges of fire departments throughout the country.

Featured in Article

The hobby of young Gardner was brought to the attention of the local fire company by a feature article in the NFPA Firemen. The boy resides with his parents at 5030 South Barton Road, Lyndhurst, 24, Ohio.

The boy's father, Charles E. Gardner is assistant chief of the fire department at South Euclid, Ohio. The boy wears a brace on his right leg and only has the use of his left arm and hand. He didn't walk until he was six years old.

For a long time the boy has been interested in fire protection and law enforcement, and some time ago began collecting shoulder patches and badges of fire departments. Young Gardner reads the Firemen magazine and corresponds with various fire companies and departments, telling them of his hobby.

His mother, who helps him with correspondence said, "Words of thanks could never begin to compensate for the many, many hours of enjoyment he has received from the letters and patches, he gets through the mail.

In the magazine article she appealed to fire companies to help the boy with his collection.

Hurley Vols Respond

Hurley Vols sent the boy one of its shoulder patches and a department badge.

Mrs. Gardner in her letter of thanks for the gift said the items will be displayed in a glass case with others the boy has collected.

Paul E. McGuire, secretary of the Hurley company also notified Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association of the company's action and said that perhaps other companies in the county would be willing to correspond with Gregory.

FAILING TO RECOGNIZE SOMEONE

Q: What does one do when someone who apparently knows me but whose face I can't place, comes up to me and speaks to me? This happened to me the other day and for the life of me I could not think of who the person was and not until the next day did it dawn on me who she was. It was very embarrassing.

A: So many of us have bad memories for faces and have difficulty in recognizing all who speak to us, that a really thoughtful person will say, "I am Mary Smith" whenever she speaks to anyone she thinks may not recognize her. If, however, the unknown fails to do this all you can do is to keep your part of the conversation non-committal and hope that she will say something that will give you some hint of who she is.

Bride Dislikes Her Stepmother

Q: My parents are divorced and my father has remarried. I am very fond of my father and see him often but I have no use for his present wife. I am going to be married soon and would like my father to give me away. Must his wife be invited to the wedding and reception?

A: She must be invited to the church where she is seated in the third pew on your side of the church and a place is reserved beside her for your father to occupy after he has given you away. It is not necessary to invite her to the reception but then your father will not be able to come either as it would be an insult to his wife to appear at the reception without her.

Names on Place Cards

Q: My employer is giving a business dinner for 25 out-of-town salesmen, at his club. The men will be seated with place cards and I have been asked to make them out. Since the typewriter is used so generally today as a substitute for handwriting, may these cards be typewritten?

A: No, they must be written by hand.

Citrus Industry

The citrus industry has had many ups and downs since the turn of the century. So dependent is the industry's existence on the whims of winter weather and autumn hurricanes that the investment of money in enterprises connected with citrus fruits seem rather hazardous, according to Louise M. Kakargo, assistant Home Demonstration agent.

One area may build toward large expansion of production only to have its groves wiped out with one hard winter freeze, as in Texas a decade ago. This high risk and uncertainty tends to increase costs. The variation in production leads to fluctuation in prices. Fortunately for consumers, the citrus growing areas in the United States are situated in different parts of the continent, and it would be very unusual for all to be disastrously hit the same year.

Oranges — Though California and Texas expect to have fewer oranges this year, their reduced production is more than offset by the combined crops in Florida, Arizona and Louisiana.

Grapefruit—Supplies of grapefruit are expected to be greater. Florida is the largest producing state, and Texas is second.

Tangerines—They are on the market early this year, but the supply is short.

Tangelos — The tangelo crop, the baby among the citrus fruits, will be available from November to March.

Large stocks of frozen orange juice remain from the past season's heavy pack. With prospects for a large pack from the current crop, frozen orange juice concentrate will be abundant. Retail price may well decline.

We The Women

Beware! France Exports The Sloppy, Sleazy Look

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Now that the fad for wearing jeans low on the hips has about had its run with teen-age boys, fashion designers are trying to get the girls interested in a feminine version of the same sloppy style.

Called the "St. Tropez bikini pants" the feminine (if you can call it that) outfit has the pants cut low (not just worn low) and they depend on a skintight fit for anchorage. Unlike jeans, the St. Tropez pants are bell bottomed—giving them an even sloppier look if possible.

To be worn with the St. Tropez pants the designers have dreamed up a long-sleeved, high-necked shirt chopped off high enough to allow eight or ten inches of bare skin between shirt and pants.

Let's hope the St. Tropez pants don't catch on with our sweet young things—for if they do no telling what other crazy fads from St. Tropez will follow.

If you've ever sat at a sidewalk cafe in St. Tropez since Brigitte Bardot's crowd turned that little fishing village on the Riviera into a beatnik side show you know what an endless variety of weird costumes could come out of the place.

They are startling enough in a beatnik hangout—worn by girls who do nothing to their hair but let it grow and dye it strange colors, but just think how those Tropez outfits will look on high school girls and housewives, running around neighborhood shopping centers.

Paris has, from time to time, foisted some pretty unbecoming "new" looks on us. But heaven help us if we start following the "fashion" line as dreamed up by the stringy-haired beatniks of St. Tropez.

Insights into young people are in Ruth Millett's new booklet, "Tips on Teen-Agers." Mail 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y. (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sane Thought Tempers Anxiety Over Children

Whenever her son is late getting home from a date, Mrs. G. begins to worry. As she waits for the sound of his car in the drive, she feeds her anxiety with visions of all the possible disasters that could have befallen him — a holdup on a lonely road, sudden illness, a car crash.

When she seeks sympathy from Mr. G., she doesn't get it. Irritated by the fear he feels in her he mumbles, "Oh, for goodness sake, he's probably having a ham on rye somewhere." Then he turns over in bed to resume his interrupted sleep.

Nor when her tardy child makes his appearance half an hour later does the boy show her worry any sympathy. By this time it has increased to a point of such tearful reproach that it sparks resentment in him. Instead of saying, "I'm sorry, I should have phoned you," he says, "Oh, for crying out loud, Ma, let's wait till the morning."

The adolescent is impatient with excessive anxiety over his safety, suggesting as it does to him distrust of his ability to take care of himself. He will punish us for it by refusing us understanding and acceptance of our need for those relieving telephone calls.

Those of us who suffer from this kind of panic over absent children may be able to use these words from "May Man Prevail," a new book by psychoanalyst Erich Fromm: "Sane thinking means not only to think of possibilities which are easy to recognize but to think also of probabilities."

It is always POSSIBLE that a late child has been delayed by disaster. The son over whom we are so worried may indeed be lying broken under a wrecked car but in view of his driving skill and the relative infrequency of car accident compared with nonaccident, this disaster is not PROBABLE.

Constant worry over the unlimited POSSIBILITIES of danger to an absent child isolates us from others' sympathy. Though they are willing to comfort our fears of PROBABLE danger, they grow tired of trying to relieve fears of POSSIBLE ones.

Like Mr. G. and his son, they have learned that relieving us of fear of one possible danger will only result in our conjuring up another one. So they leave us alone with our unhealthy anxiety.

Our husband turns his back on it and our resentful child continues to somehow find himself always unable to make that sympathetic and reassuring telephone call.

As Dr. Fromm suggests, it is the obligation of sanity to register the difference between possible and probable dangers.

Vote Liz Taylor Box Office Champ

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Elizabeth Taylor will remember 1961 as a year of near tragedy and eventual triumph—a year in which she almost died, then won her first Academy Award, and finally was named box office champion of the movies.

Motion Picture Herald announced Thursday she was rated the No. 1 movie attraction in its 30th annual poll of exhibitors.

In order, here are the others in the top 10 for 1961: Rock Hudson, Doris Day, John Wayne, Cary Grant, Sandra Dee, Jerry Lewis, William Holden, Tony Curtis and Elvis Presley.

The film "Butterfield 8" brought Miss Taylor her Oscar and the box office honor.

Mrs. Kennedy May Not Go to India

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The illness of her father-in-law may cause Mrs. John F. Kennedy to postpone her January trip to India and Pakistan, the White House says.

Pierre Salinger, press secretary, said the President and the First Lady are to make a decision on her journey within the next few days.

Salinger sidestepped questions as to whether India's invasion of Portuguese Goa might be a factor in the decision, saying, "I'm not commenting."

He said, however, that the health of the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, 73, will definitely be a factor.

The elder Kennedy suffered a stroke Dec. 19 and then contracted a mild case of pneumonia.

Mrs. Kennedy planned to go to India and Pakistan sometime in January. No itinerary or specific plans had been announced, beyond a date to attend India's Republic Day celebration in New Delhi Jan. 26.

Storms 'Ice' Britain

LONDON (AP)—Snow, sleet and freezing rain brought widespread transportation chaos in the British Isles today.

The Royal Automobile Club described the nation's highway system as "a vast skating rink" with 120,000 miles of road covered with ice.

In Scotland and eastern England there was heavy snowfall as well, with drifts up to eight feet deep around Glasgow and Aberdeen.

Ex-Wife Slaps Marlon

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Emerging from a stormy child custody hearing, Anna Kashfi smacked her ex-husband, Marlon Brando, across the face Thursday.

MRS. JOHN F. WADLIN

WALTER R. SEAMAN

The Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, at its last board of directors meeting, elected Walter R. Seamon, former president of the Highland Savings and Loan Association, and Mrs. John F. Mr. Seaman became president of the Highland Savings and Loan Association in 1954, having been a director of the association for the past 20 years. He has been active for a great number of years in Highland and throughout Ulster County. Hopes Mania Ends in '62

Twist Is Obscene To Ginger Rogers

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Resist the twist, urges Ginger Rogers, who hopes the dance mania will ring out with the old year.

Such a prospect is not likely, but at least Ginger can raise her voice in dissent. And who is better qualified? Wasn't she the pretty half of the most successful dance team of all time?

Strong Protest

She puts her protest pretty strongly: "The twist is ungraceful, vulgar and exhibitionism personified. I think it's terrible."

There are those who agree with her, but they are in the minority. The rest of the nation has gone twist-nutty. Three feature films on the craze are flooding the theaters. The ailing night club industry has taken a twist for the better and is staging a comeback with the new dance.

"I think it's a scandal," Ginger reiterates. "It is the most obscene dance I've ever seen, worse than the shimmy ever was. If people realized how bad they looked while doing the twist, they would not do it."

Ginger said she was introduced to the twist on the golf course, of all places. She met a friend who said her 20-year-old son had been out until 6 a.m. doing the dance, which employs maximum movement of the hips and minimum of the feet.

With Dinah Tonight

"She demonstrated it for me and I was astonished!" Ginger said. "I was embarrassed for all of us — my husband (William Marshall), a girl friend and the three young caddies. And for the woman, too, because she didn't realize how obscene she looked."

Ginger will be dancing tonight, not the twist, but a soft shoe with Dinah Shore and George Burns on Dinah's NBC outing. She is often asked about a reunion with her famed partner Fred Astaire.

"I'd like nothing better," she said. "My husband was talking about it recently and said he was going to discuss it with Fred.

"But then I read an item that Fred Astaire would not discuss three things in interviews: His age, Ginger Rogers, Barrie Chase. So I told my husband that maybe it wasn't such a good idea."

Long Suit Is Not Established

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In this hand from the 1931 match, I have purposely omitted names. South played his two no-trump contract very well and made it, but really good defense would have beaten him.

East won the first trick with the queen of hearts and returned the suit. South held off till the third lead. Then he led a small diamond from dummy. This was won by his queen after East played low. A diamond return to the ace disclosed the bad break in that suit and South led dummy's ten of spades. East played the king. South won with the ace and led the jack which West took with the queen.

Now West cashed the last two hearts and shifted to the eight of clubs. Dummy played the nine. East the ten, and South the ace. South cashed the nine of spades and East was squeezed. He had to unguard the queen of clubs in order to retain a high diamond and South made the last two tricks with dummy's king and jack of clubs.

Where did the defense go wrong? The fault was West's. He should have let the jack of spades hold. Then when he did get the lead he would be able to take enough tricks to set the hand.

Quits Lottery Control

NEW YORK (AP)—David Rogers of Brooklyn has resigned from the State Lottery Control Commission, saying the amount of work involved is too great for the pay.

Members of the commission are paid $58.22 a day while on the job. The chairman, a full-time official, receives $19,500 a year.

Rogers' term would have run to March 1, 1965. Rogers, a member of the Liberal Party, was one of the original members appointed to the nine-member commission in 1958 by Democratic former Gov. W. Averell Harriman.

In parts of northern New England and eastern Canada the world's increasingly warmer weather has killed birch trees and spruce and balsam have suffered.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— We'll soon start on a brave new year. And what's in store for television viewers in 1962?

Probably not much that is very different from 1961, but this dreamer wishes it would be the year when:

The reporter-type heroes of "Follow the Sun" and "Target: the Corrupters" sit down at a typewriter and actually pound out a story.

Toody and Muldoon of "Car 54, Where Are You?" are taken out of their prowl car and returned to pounding a beat.

The housewife picks the pile of laundry washed by Brand X as the whitest.

Chet Huntley forgets to chuckle and say "Good night, David," at the end of the broadcast.

Perry Mason gets hailed before the bar association for suborning a witness.

Bob Hope and company do a sketch without breaking up at some inside joke.

A child who was one of the losers in the toothpaste test explains that, although he got a lot of cavities, the paste he used tasted great.

Well, one can dream, can't one?

Howard K. Smith has finally alighted, with mike and typewriter, at ABC as a member of vice president Jim Hagerty's expanding news staff. Smith, who quit CBS recently in a dispute over his freedom to comment, will soon start a weekly half-hour program of news and analysis on Wednesday nights, 7:30-8 (Eastern Standard Time).

Recommended week-end viewing: Tonight — "Dinah Shore Show," NBC, 9:30-10:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—with guests Ginger Rogers, Nat King Cole and George Burns.

Saturday—Blue and Gray All Star Football game, NBC, 1:40-conclusion — from Montgomery, Ala.

Sunday — National Football League championship, Green Bay Packers vs. New York Giants, NBC, 1:45-conclusion; "Meet the Press," NBC, 6-6:30—Allen Dulles former director of the CIA, guest; "Highways of Melody," NBC, 10-11—with Jane Morgan and Gordon MacRae; New Year's Eve shows, CBS and NBC, 11:15-12:15—with music by, respectively, Guy Lombardo and Xavier Cugat.

Monday—Tournament of Roses parade, CBS and NBC, 11:30 a.m.-1:45 p.m.; Orange Bowl football game, ABC, 12:40-conclusion; Cotton Bowl football game, CBS, 1:45-conclusion; Sugar Bowl football game, NBC, 1:45-conclusion; Rose Bowl football game, NBC, 1:45-conclusion.

Six College Cage Tourneys To Crown Champions Tonight

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Six major tournament champions will be crowned tonight, the forerunners of a solid score of kings who will have survived college basketball's 1961 edition of holiday madness by late Saturday night.

It's Temple vs. Miami (Fla.) in the Hurricane classic at Miami; Houston vs. Bowling Green in the All-College at Oklahoma City; Florida vs. Virginia Tech in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; Texas Western vs. New Mexico in the Sun Carnival at El Paso, Tex.; Santa Clara vs. St. Mary's (Calif.) in the West Coast Athletic Conference tourney at San Francisco.

A major college unbeaten list that hovered at 10 only four days ago has been chopped to five—with only Ohio State, Villanova, Mississippi State, DePaul and Seton Hall left. The first four all are involved in tough tournament action the next 36 hours and by Sunday Seton Hall, which didn't have a tournament commitment, could be the only one left.

Suffers First Loss

Third-ranked Duquesne and touted Dayton suffered the first losses of the season Thursday night—the Dukes falling before rugged Villanova by a whopping 75-53 in the semifinals of the Quaker City tournament at Philadelphia. Dayton was whipped by Wisconsin, 105-93 in a semifinal game of the Holiday Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Top-ranked Ohio State, the only other unbeaten in action, pushed its new winning streak to nine—turning back UCLA 105-84 in the semifinals of the Los Angeles classic. Southern California's fourth-ranked Trojans will challenge the mighty Bucks in the final Saturday night. The Trojans (9-1) advanced with an impressive 85-65 whipping of Utah in the other semifinal.

Mississippi State (7-0) risks its record in the Sugar Bowl tonight against Maryland in a doubleheader also matching Louisville and LSU. DePaul (6-0) goes against St. Bonaventure in part of a Motor City doubleheader that also pits Detroit against winless Syracuse.

In the Poinsetta, it's Arkansas vs. Clemson and Georgia Tech vs Furman; in the Evansville Holiday, it's host Evansville against Yale and Pitt against Tennessee; and in the Richmond Invitational, host Richmond against Georgetown (D.D.) and VMI against George Washington.

Other developments Thursday night:

Bearcats Advance

Holiday Festival at New York—Cincinnati, the favorite, beat LaSalle 64-56 and will play Wisconsin, upset winner over Dayton, in Saturday's final.

Gator at Jacksonville—Florida edged Navy 68-63 and Virginia Tech made up a 17-point deficit for a 79-78 upset of Vanderbilt. Final tonight: .

Big Eight at Kansas City—Oklahoma edged Kansas 61-60 and Iowa State downed Colorado 62-52 to join Wednesday winners Kansas State and Missouri in tonight's semifinals.

Far West at Portland — Idaho whipped Portland 61-50 and Oregon toppled Michigan State 71-59; joining Wednesday winners Oregon State and Washington State in semis.

All-College at Oklahoma City—Bowling Green surprised Wichita, only team to beat Cincinnati so far, 69-68 to reach tonight's final against Houston. Houston beat Utah State 51-46.

Gulf South at Shreveport—Hamline beat Northwestern Louisiana 73-66 and defending champ South Carolina edged Memphis State 79-78; joining Mississippi Southern and Centenary in semis.

Sun Carnival at El Paso — New Mexico beat New Mexico State 80-76 in double overtime to reach tonight's final against Texas Western, 70-46 conqueror of Baylor.

Quaker City at Philadelphia — Viallanova, now 10-0 after upset of Duquesne, plays Iowa in Saturday final. Hawks beat Penn, 72-64.

Tourney Finals Set; KHS Hosts Pleasant

Kingston High cagers will seek revenge against a tough Mont Pleasant of Schenectady team at the Kate Walton Field House and finals of two tournaments are slated at various sites tonight.

Saugerties will aim for a third straight championship in its own invitation tourney when the Sawyers host Albany Academy at the SHS gym. The feature tilt will begin at 8:30 after a consolation contest between Middletown and Cairo.

Roosevelt of Hyde Park and Valley Central will lock horns for the New Paltz Central School champinship after a preliminary tilt between New Paltz and Red Hook for third place.

Kingston, which was beaten, 67-44, by Mont Pleasant on Wednesday night, should find it equally difficult to beat the upstaters here. The Raiders have a formidable starting five and showed good height and great speed in their first meeting. John Falvey will not see action for the Maroon but he's expected to suit up next week against Our Lady of Lourdes. The jayvee tilt is slated to begin at 6:30 and the Pleasant junior varsity is favored to take its seventh straight verdict.

Upstate Roundup

Bonnies to Play DePaul In Motor City Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A clash tonight between St. Bonaventure and unbeaten DePaul in the Motor City basketball tournament in Detroit tops a heavy holiday schedule for Upstate teams.

Sixteen teams are competing in nine tournaments.

Cornell will meet Drake in the finals of the Queen City invitational Saturday night at Buffalo. St. Joseph's of Philadelphia faces Canisius in the consolation game.

The Big Red downed host Canisius, 75-62, and Drake whipped St. Joseph's, 78-55, in opening round games Thursday night.

Niagara lost to Wyoming, 69-59, in the Quaker City tournament at Philadelphia.

Rochester edged Colby, 88-86, in the Down-East Classic at Bangor, Maine.

Colgate was walloped by Loyola, 93-54, in the Illinois Holiday Tournament at Chicago.

The University of Buffalo bowed to Assumption, 59-42, in the Springfield, Mass., Invitational.

Siena Scores

Siena downed Rensselaer Poly, 36-29, and Alfred edged Albany State, 61-60, in the Capital City Round-Robin at Albany.

St. Lawrence rallied to defeat Kenyon, 65-62, and Union whipped Hamilton, 83-67, in the Union College Holiday tournament at Schenectady.

In the Rochester Invitational Tech Tournament, Illinois Tech ripped Rochester Tech, 101-68.

Broome Tech, the host, shaded St. Leo of Florida, 55-53, and Erie Tech edged Okolona of Mississippi, 68-66, in overtime, in the Broome Tech Christmas tournament at Binghamton.

Cornell, which lost its first game of the season this week to Bradley, went ahead in the first half and staved off a late drive by Canisius.

Gerry Szachara of Cornell and Tom Chester of Canisius were high-scorers with 16 each.

Niagara pulled to within two points of Wyoming early in the second half at Philadelphia but the winners pulled away to a 16-point spread midway in the half.

Tonight's schedule includes:

Motor City—St. Bonaventure vs DePaul, Syracuse vs Detroit.

Union Holiday Tourney — Union vs Kenyon, St. Lawrence vs Hamilton.

Broome Tech Christmas Tournament — Broome Tech vs Erie Tech (final).

Pine Bush Wins 1st Tilt, 57-42, Over M-W Club

Pine Bush cagers won their first game of the season, 57-42, in the consolation game of the Monroe-Woodbury cage tournament last night. The host school was the victim.

Cornwall won the title with a victory over Wallkill but the score wasn't called in to this newspaper.

Syracuse Bows Without Schayes

Dolph Schayes is sitting on the sidelines, but he is still proving his value to the Syracuse Nationals of the National Basketball Association, because without him, the Nats are in bad shape.

Schayes suffered fractures on cheekbone and nose in a game against Philadelphia and will be out a week.

He didn't play Sunday night and the Los Angeles Lakers whipped the Nats, 119-111. Thursday night in Syracuse, the same Lakers polished off the Nats again, 121-114.

THE JACKPOT

Starts Tonight

Weekend of Top Grid Activity Seen With Many Bowl Contests

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The annual post-season college football hoopla resumes tonight with the Tangerine Bowl, picks up momentum Saturday in a card featuring the Gator Bowl and East-West games and will be climaxed on New Year's Day with the big four — The Rose, Cotton, Sugar and Orange Bowls.

The Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., will pit Middle Tennessee (7-3) of the Ohio Valley Conference against Lamar Tech (7-2-1) of the Lone Star Conference.

The Gator Bowl, sending Georgia Tech (7-3) against Penn State (7-3) at Jacksonville, Fla., headlines Saturday's games. Also on tap are the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco, the Blue-Gray contest in Montgomery, Ala., and the Sun Bowl, in El Paso, Texas pitting Wichita (8-2) against Villanova (7-2).

Minnesota (7-2) will take on UCLA (7-3) in the Rose Bowl. The Cotton Bowl will present Mississippi (9-1) against Texas (9-1). The Sugar Bowl will have Alabama (10-0) and Arkansas (8-2) while the Orange Bowl will send Louisiana State (9-1) against Colorado (9-1).

Engineers Favored

The Gator Bowl lists Georgia Tech as a 3-point favorite, the Engineers are a defense-minded outfit and their big problem will be stop Penn State's Galen Hall.

Nittany Lions' Coach Rip Engle hinted that Hall would be doing a lot of throwing against the Engineers. Georgia Tech Coach Bobby Dodd admitted that he was mighty impressed with Hall.

"He can beat you in a number of ways," he observed. "I would rate him as the same type as Alabama's Pat Trammel."

The game will be televised by CBS starting at 2:15 p.m., EST, and is expected to draw a crowd of about 50,000.

The East, featuring All America backs Ernie Davis of Syracuse and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, is the favorite in the Shrine Game.

But the West line outweighs the East by about 20 pounds per man.

"I'm afraid," moaned East Coach Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame, "that instead of holes to plow through, we're liable to find nothing but crevices we'll have to try to crawl through."

A capacity crowd of 60,000 is expected to be on hand for the opening kickoff at 5 p.m., EST. NBC will televise the game.

Weather Could Decide

The North is the favorite to chalk up its fourth victory in a row in the Blue-Gray game, but the weather will be a factor. A cold wave hit Montgomery Thursday night and that could cause even more trouble for the South, which is banking on speed and maneuverability, along with the passing of Bobby Hunt of Auburn and Don Fuell of Mississippi Southern.

A frozen field would be a big advantage to the North, which outweighs the South in both the line and backfield. Dave Sarette of Syracuse will handle the North's passing.

The game will be televised by NBC, starting at 1:45 p.m., EST.

Wichita is the slight choice over Villanova in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex., mainly because of its wide-open, razzle-dazzle pro-style game. Quarterbacks Alex Zyskowski and Bill Stagnarone, both 19-year-old Juniors, are the big offensive threats of the Shockers, and Missouri Valley champions.

Villanova is primarily a defense outfit that held the opposition to 71.1 yards per game during the regular season. Halfback Larry Clueck and quarterbacks Richie Richman and Ted Aceto are the Wildcat offense leaders.

The game will be televised by ABC starting at 4 p.m., EST.

Tackle Shop Has Tourney Contest In Poughkeepsie

Winner by forfeit in their first game, Ray's Tackle Shop players of Kingston will play the Pine Plains Bombardiers tonight in the semi-finals at Lincoln Center in Poughkeepsie. The Tackle Shop-Bombardier game will begin at 8 o'clock. The Neighborhood Service Organization will play the Westchester All-Stars in the second tilt.

The Bombardiers feature Bill Smith, former St. Peter's College star, who was with the N. Y. Knicks early this season. He had 27 points in the club's opening victory over Fishkill.

Coach Ward Dunham will bring several local stars to the contest, including Ronnie Scheffel, Joe Klonowski, Chick Boice, Marty Kaye and others. It promises to be a good attraction.

Winners of tonight's games will meet Saturday for the championship.

Parents of Davis To Get New Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first $5,000 of Ernie Davis' bonus will pay off the mortgage on the home of Ernie's mother, Mrs. Marie Radford of Elmira, N.Y.

Davis, Syracuse star and the first Negro winner of the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding football player, accepted a $15,000 bonus check Thursday on signing a $65,000 three-year contract with the Cleveland Browns. It was the highest contract ever announced for a National Football League rookie.

At the signing ceremony, Arthur B. Modell, the Cleveland club's board chairman, declared, "we know Ernie is going to make it, and make it real big."

Davis is equally confident that he would succeed in NFL competition.

"As a Heisman Trophy winner I believe I am one of the best, and I want to play with the best," Davis said. "A football player has pride."

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ,... by TURRAY

There was a report running through the South that Bowden Wyatt would become athletic director at Tennessee . . . as Gen. Bob Neyland retires . . . with Murray Warmath, an old Vol, coming down from Minnesota to do the coaching. . . . Otherwise, what was Warmath doing in Knoxville on a hurry-up trip in early December?

A guy asked effusive Dick Lynch, the New York Giants' corner back, what makes Jimmy Brown of Cleveland so tough to stop. . . . Lynch cracked, "If you put a saddle on him, I'd put my money on him, too." . . .

Y. A. Tittle-ates: "The Giants are like no club I've ever seen. They let you set your own pace. You even take care of your own bags on trips. That's all I did for a couple of weeks—wonder where my bag was. You're on your own. They treat you like adults. I like it—you can't criticize a trapper who's got the skins on the wall." . . .

In the season finale, when Coach Allie Sherman ordered the players not to look at the scoreboard to check the Philadelphia Eagles' game, Tittle shrugged, "That's like not looking at a rattler at your feet." . . .

Al Derogatis, the super scout of the Giants (he sold them on Sam Huff over Bruce Bosley of West Virginia because he saw the way the Mountaineers responded to Huff on a bus trip), frowns on the no-cut contracts, though New York has eight now. . . . "I turned one down when it was offered to me," said the former Duke All-America tackle, "because if you don't think you can make it, don't play . . . my family was on relief!" . . .

How Darrell Royal of Texas soothes the faculty and reconciles its members to the football program: he invites three different professors to sit on the Texas bench at all home games. . . .

Year's Review: The things we prefer to remember are a June prediction in this column that Houston's Lou Rymkus wouldn't last it out . . . an August report that Cholly Dressen was through at Milwaukee . . . the same month's assessment that the acquisition of Tittle and Del Shofner meant title contention for the Giants . . . that Roy Sievers would go to the Phillies (he did) . . . that Ernie Davis would win the Heisman Award—in September yet . . . and a pre-Series report that Mickey Mantle's hip was in bad shape after drug injections. . . .

Things we'd like to forget: a prediction there'd be a college football betting scandal—there wasn't . . . that Roman Gabriel might swing to baseball—he signed with the Los Angeles Rams . . . that Marv Breeding of all the Baltimore Oriole sophs probably wouldn't slump—he did . . . that Del Webb and Dan Topping were on the splits—you'd never know it. . . .

Sandy Stephens, Minnesota's All-America quarterback, drafted by Cleveland, wants to remain a signal caller in pro ranks, despite his running ability and dubious reports on his passing. . . . Coach Paul Brown might go along with him on the basis that Sandy didn't get enough passing practice in college to sharpen his wing. . . . Forty Niner slotback R. C. Owens, who played out his option, is fingering a better than $20,000 per bid from Canada. . . .

You'll never see a more comprehensive championship game preview than that turned out by NFL publicist Jim Kensil—36 pages worth . . . which revealed that the first title game in 1933 between the Chicago Bears and Giants featured Bronko Nagurski—as a passer! . . .

Odds'n'ends: Although he's qualified to teach school, New York Titan receiver Don Maynard will be plumbing back home in El Paso this winter—because he can make $4 an hour. . . . New drum-beater Bob Chandler of the Philadelphia Phillies has two sisters named Dorothy . . . that's right—one of them used to be Marjorie Chandler but changed her name to Dorothy Collins when she became a singer. . . . Three months before the season, Steve Van Buren, one-time Philadelphia fullback, was telling people that Sonny Jurgensen, who's gotten some all-pro acclaim, was a better quarterback than Norm Van Brocklin. . . .

Between you'n'me, with the legalities cleared for a TV package of all NFL games, and CBS in line to get it, one team owner threatens to jam the plan . . . insists he wants to sign with NBC as a loner. . . .

Wildcats Have Weight Advantage Over Wichita

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Villanova has the weight advantage and a strong defense for Saturday's Sun Bowl football game against Wichita's tricky Shockers.

It will be the 27th renewal of the bowl game when the Missouri Valley Conference champion Shockers (8-2) take on one of the East's better independents in Villanova (7-2).

Kickoff for the nationally televised (ABC) match will be at 4 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time).

Coach Alex Bell's Philadelphia-based Wildcats will have a 17-18 pound per man advantage over Wichita.

Villanova's forte is a stiff defense which permitted opponents only 173.2 yards total offense a game this season and limited them to 71.1 yards per game on the ground.

Wichita, which always came up with something new for each opponent, is playing its final game under Coach Hank Foldberg.

A pair of pro-type quarterbacks run Foldberg's pro-type offense which puts the emphasis on passing.

Gophers Picked in Rose Bowl

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota over UCLA: Minnesota's Golden Gophers lost considerable prestige as they went down to a 17-7 defeat in the Rose Bowl against Washington a year ago. They are banking on Sandy Stephens to return the luster to their crown at the expense of UCLA on New Year's Day.

Texas over Mississippi: The Rebels from the Southeastern Conference poured it on against Texas in the 1958 Sugar Bowl, winning by 39-7. Not only do the Longhorns have good memories but they also have Jimmy Saxton and Mike Cotton when they meet Monday in the Cotton Bowl.

Georgia Tech over Penn State: The Georgia swifties will get loose often enough to overcome Penn State's power in Saturday's Gator Bowl showpiece.

Alabama over Arkansas: Alabama has permitted each of its 10 previous rivals this season only 2.2 points a game. It also has Pat Trammell and Mike Fracchia. Arkansas counters with Lance Alworth in Monday's Sugar Bowl show.

Louisiana State over Colorado: LSU beat Mississippi and also crushed Tulane, 62-0. Colorado had to struggle for most of its points during the season and will have to do the same thing in Monday's Orange Bowl affair.

East over West: No matter who loses or wins this Saturday's game in San Francisco, the real winners will be crippled kids in the Shrine Hospital.

Blue over Gray: A fourth straight victory for the northern stars in Montgomery's Saturday attraction.

Wichita over Villanova: The Kansans' attack too much for Villanova in Saturday's Sun Bowl.

Middle Tennessee over Lamar Tech: In the Tangerine Bowl Saturday.

Matter of Fact

When the marathon runner arrives at the Olympic Games carrying a flaming torch, it signals the start of the Olympics. The modern marathon race was revived for the 1896 Olympic Games. It commemorates the historic endurance of Pheidippides, who in 490 B.C. ran from the plains of Marathon to Athens, a distance of 22 miles and 1,470 yards, to tell of the triumph of the Greeks over the Persians.

Rec League Has Two Games Set For Monday Night

Two games are slated in the Kingston Rec Basketball league on New Years night as action continues after a week layoff. Byrne Chevies will play Trailways Cafeteria in the 7 o'clock opener and then Adolphs of Red Hook will collide with Ray's Tackle Shop of Kingston in the nightcap.

With two weeks of play completed, indications are that a good race will take place with all five clubs having some top notch stars.

Chicago, Tapers Win ABL Contests

Victories by the Chicago Majors and Washington Tapers have tightened up the Eastern Division race of the American Basketball League.

The third-place Majors defeated the pace-setting Pittsburgh Rens 127-105 and the fourth-place Tapers turned back the runnerup Cleveland Pipers 123-106 Thursday night in Eastern action.

Chicago moved to within 3½ games of first place and Washington climbed to within 4½ games of the top. Cleveland remained one game off the pace.

In the Western Division the front-running Kansas City Steers downed the Hawaii Chiefs 121-93 while the second-place Los Angeles Jets bowed to the San Francisco Saints 104-103.

Green Bay Running Featured Against Passing of Giants

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay has the runners. New York has the passers. That is the story in the nutshell of the National Football League championship game to be played Sunday on the frozen steppes of northern Wisconsin.

The team with the best snow tires may be the winner. It was 15 below Thursday and finally warmed up to zero. It was supposed to climb to the dizzy height of 10 above today with some snow flurries. The weather bureau guardedly looks for a warming trend by Sunday. Maybe the mid 20s.

A Firm Turf

The City Stadium field is covered with a layer of straw and a tarpaulin. Vince Lombardi, Green Bay coach, said the grass is green and the turf firm underneath the cover.

Lombardi thinks a firm field on which regular football cleats can be used will help his team. He feels a frozen or slippery turf would help the Giants because it would make it more difficult to cover their pass receivers.

The Packers attack is built around fullback Jim Taylor, still bothered by a sore back, and Paul Hornung, the league's leading scorer who was able to get away from the Army for a full week of practice.

Allie Sherman, in his rookie year as Giants' head coach, has developed an interesting offense to go with the Giants famed "11 hangmen" defense. The passing of Y.A. Tittle or Charlie Conerly to Del Shofner, Kyle Rote, Joe Walton and Alex Webster is the main threat.

Joel Wells, a rookie with experience in Canada, teams up with fullback Webster in the Giants running game with rookie Bob Gaiters an occasional threat.

Masked Goalie Aids Red Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A masked man up for his third National Hockey League trial in four years gave the Detroit Red Wings a 2-2 tie with Chicago in the National Hockey League's only action Thursday night.

Claude LaForge brought Detroit the equalizer near the mid-point of the second period when he slapped in a pass from Bruce MacGregor.

LaForge wears a mask to protect his right cheekbone, broken Dec. 5 in an American Hockey League game while he was playing for the Hershey Bears.

ND Field Goal Is Voted Oddity Of Sports Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rarity to rank with Cornell's famous "fifth down" against Dartmouth and Roy Riegels' wrong way run in the Rose Bowl was voted the college football oddity of 1961 today in the Annual Associated Press year-end poll.

Notre Dame's game-winning field goal against Syracuse on Nov. 18 at South Bend after time had run out was acclaimed the outstanding oddity in a landslide —by 125 of the 151 sports experts who participated in the balloting.

The decisive Notre Dame kick was set up when Syracuse was charged with roughing on a missed field goal by Joe Perkowski as the final seconds ticked off. Syracuse was handed a 15-yard penalty and Perkowski tried again, hitting this time from 41 yards out for a 17-15 Notre Dame victory.

Miami County Has New Scare—Snow, But It Wasn't

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Weather Bureau forecasters were deluged with callers reporting snow in several sections of Dade (Miami) County Thursday. Finally two weathermen went out to check although the temperature was in the mid-50s.

No snow.

"It was just large clouds of fine ash from dumps, blown by brisk winds through cold, moisture-filled air," the bureau said. "The ash absorbed water and melted on contact but it wasn't snow."

Retiring From Bank

George C. Bode

After January 1, patrons for the Kingston Trust Company's Central Branch will miss the pleasant smile of George C. Bode, assistant treasurer, who is retiring after more than 40 years in the banking field.

In 1962 and henceforth it will be woodworking and gardening for the cheery, witty fellow who lives at 80 Moore Street with Mrs. Bode, the former Louise S. Studt.

A host of friends wish him happiness in his retirement, continued good luck with his peonies and roses, and plenty of wood for his workshop.

Prior to going into banking, Mr. Bode was employed by the Coykendall enterprises in the "big building" at 22 Ferry Street.

Several years later he went with the First National Bank of Rondout in 1920. He served as customer's bookkeeper and teller, under the late Louis Beeres, cashier, until the bank's voluntary liquidation in 1943.

After that he joined the Central Branch of Kingston Trust Company, and in 1950 was named an assistant treasurer.

Stratton's Candidacy

Editor, The Freeman:

On the front page of yesterday's Freeman, there appeared rather prominently an A. P. newstory, announcing that Samuel S. Stratton had announced his candidacy for Governor on the Democratic ticket.

There also was printed in the same story a diatribe against Stratton by the Republican State Chairman, Judson Morhouse. "Stratton is a slick, glib, political pitch man . . . a nimble demagogue who doubletalks . . . a hawker of half-truths . . ."

History books tell us that Washington and Lincoln were also so slandered by their own contemporaries. Why it is necessary, prudent, or even politically wise in this day and age for the leader of one political party to thus characterize an announced candidate of another political party is beyond me to understand. If the Chairman of my party would thus speak about a candidate of the Republican party, I would want to hide my head in shame.

I have known Samuel Stratton for many years. He and I debated the issues of the day with Mayor Stang and Mrs. Allen at the Washington School some years ago. He did not then act the part of "demagogue" nor has he since in his public appearances or in his work in Congress. On the contrary, he has been a conscientious member of the House of Representatives who represented his constituents so well that they sent him back for a second term by an overwhelming majority.

One of the great problems of our day is that able, intelligent citizens do not seek, nor will they accept, public office. One of the main reasons is the understandable desire of a man to spare his family the poison pen technique of the Judson Morhouses!

If Samuel Stratton has failed his constituents in some respect, it is Mr. Morhouse's duty, as opposition leader, to tell the world about it in a factual chapter and verse manner.

To use, however, the intemperate language quoted above is a disgrace to the party which Mr. Morhouse professes to represent.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN KELLAR

Florida Chilled By 40s Readings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Zero and freezing weather enveloped most of the eastern half of the nation today.

Temperatures edged to near zero in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee. Freezing weather knifed to near the Gulf Coast and readings dropped into the 40s in extreme southern Florida.

Some relief from the biting cold in the Midwest was indicated but no immediate, general break in the late December cold spell appeared.

Cloudy skies and snow flurries in the arctic air across the Midwest kept temperatures from hitting the far below zero marks reported Thursday morning. However, they were near zero and a little below in many areas.

The Weather Bureau reported the warming trend will spread across the central part of the country but forecast frost or freezing temperatures into southern Florida by tonight.

Ellenville Man Held for Break At Drug Store

A 25 year old Ellenville man is being held in $2,000 bail today on a charge of burglary third degree in connection with a Christmas Eve break at Miller & Levine Drug Store on Market Street in Ellenville.

According to Chief Abe Rand of the Ellenville police Harold May of 103 Canal Street was arrested Thursday night by New York City Port of Authority police on a warrant issued by Ellenville police. He was taken before Ellenville Police Justice Frank Decker early today and ordered held for an examination on Tuesday, Jan. 2. He was committed to Ulster County Jail when he couldn't raise $2,000 bail.

The drug store was entered through a rear window on Christmas Eve and some $70 in cash, cameras, films and cosmetics were stolen.

Investigating the case were Chief Rand, Assistant Chie. Arthur Mantone of the Ellenville Department and Investigator Charles Teelon of the Ellenville State Police Barracks.

Hercules Official Retiring

James Samuel Sorrels, assistant manager of Hercules Powder Company's Joplin, Mo., explosives sales office since 1947, will retire Jan. 1, 1962, under the provisions of the company's pension plan. Sorrels joined Hercules in March, 1928, as a salesman in Fort Smith, Ark., for the Explosives Department under the Joplin branch office. In 1935 he was named special representative for the Joplin office, with headquarters in Joplin, and he was appointed assistant manager there in 1947.

11 Airlines Get Approval to Hike Fares 3 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized the nation's 11 major airlines to increase fares by 3 per cent on a temporary basis—an increase that would cost air travelers an estimated $54 million a year.

But it told the airlines that higher rates alone would not solve their financial problems. "The industry's economic problems must be attacked on a broad front of which load factor improvement is the cornerstone," it said.

The board also urged the carriers to study cost-cutting proposals, including charging passengers for alcoholic drinks, and to give the "closest scrutiny" to special fares—such as family rates—or discounts now available.

The CAB approved the higher rates Thursday.

The carriers have said they expect to lose about $30 million this year.

It was assumed that all 11 trunk airlines would adopt the full 3 per cent increase but first they must give 30 days notice.

Any increases would expire after six months.

Hatfield Urges Wagner Speak Up On Dock Cargo

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The chairman of the legislative committee on New York City docks says he was "shocked to learn that federal policies have caused the diversion" of government shipments to other coastal ports.

Sen. Ernest I. Hatfield of Poughkeepsie said Thursday Mayor Robert F. Wagner should demand of President Kennedy that cargoes, such as armed services material and grain for underprivileged nations, not be diverted from New York because of rail differentials, policy determinations or more aggressive action by competing ports.

Hatfield, a Republican, said there is a lack of coordinated effort by the Port of New York Authority and the city department of Marine and Aviation. The Port Authority has reported a loss of over 8 per cent in general cargo since 1960, he said.

Haluska Gets Key Post

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. John J. Haluska, the fiery Democrat who played a key role in one of the 1961 Legislature's stormiest controversies, will head the General Assembly's important Local Government Commission in 1962 and 1963.

The Cambria County lawmaker was elected to the key post Thursday, replacing Republican Sen. George B. Stevenson of Lock Haven.

The election practically doubles Haluska's power on capitol hill since he already serves as chairman of the Senate's Committee on Local Government.

We've but one thought on this one day, this one hour . . . to wish all of you everything good in '62. We hope to serve you, all year through!

New, Higher Interest Rate Makes Saving More Attractive

There's a Happy New Year ahead for all New York State savers.

New, higher interest-dividend rates authorized by the State Banking Board mean depositors at New York State Mutual Savings Banks can earn even more generous returns on their deposits.

Kingston Savings Bank, always among the first to act on behalf of its depositors in electing to give them the maximum benefits permitted, anticipates paying a total rate of 4% a year for the quarterly period beginning January 1, 1962. This total rate consists of 3¼% regular interest-dividend on all savings, and ¼% special extra dividend on every dollar on deposit one year or longer.

Other Kingston Savings Bank extras still apply: Your money goes to work immediately—that is, interest-dividends are allowed from date of deposit. In addition, there are bonus days each month. For example, money deposited by January 15 earns interest-dividends from January 1.

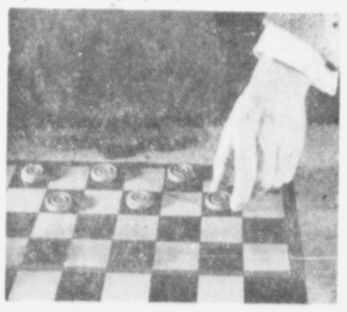

IMPORTANT

Interest rates on your savings generally will be higher in 1962. But, depending upon the type of bank or financial institution in which you have your savings, there are certain variations. Some of these sound pretty good, but must be analyzed carefully. We think it is important for you to know:

At Kingston Savings Bank

- The 4% rate applies to every dollar on deposit one year or longer, not just to multiples of $100 or to $500 minimum.
- It applies automatically to all or any part of your savings when it has been on deposit with us for one year. This includes the money you deposited one year ago and left with us. This automatic computation entitles you to the maximum rate — no certificates to buy, no installments to meet.
- The basic rate for money on deposit less than two years is 3¼%. Some banks do not mention their basic rate for "new" money.
- You can add or withdraw money in any amount over $1 at any time, and still receive interest-dividends on the remaining balance. No need to deal in "round numbers" or multiples of $100. This is what we mean by Immediate Availability.
- Your money is safe and insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U. S. Government.
- Interest-Dividends are compounded and credited four times a year.

Whatever the benefits, however, you cannot gain from them unless you take the first step. Resolve now to save — open an account or add to your present account at Kingston Savings Bank. There is no better time than the present to begin your savings program.
